

Edison and most babies think four hours' sleep per night is enough for any man.

PROGRESSIVES MUST UNITE IN THE NEW PARTY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—That the seating of the Taft delegates from Washington by the republican national committee won thousands of votes in that state for Col. Roosevelt and makes certain a progressive victory in the coming state and national elections was the prediction here today of Senator PoinDEXTER of Washington in a straight-from-the-shoulder interview with the United Press.

"All the progressives," PoinDEXTER said, "have agreed that separate tickets, national and state, must be in the field, and that there must be no fusion. There is nothing in common between the reactionary crowd which, with the aid of the Taft campaign committee and the national committee at Chicago, committed political rape on the state and hari-kari on themselves when they succeeded in seating the Taft delegates. These elements are irreconcilable.

"Since the will of the people has been so ignored, the progressives have no alternative but to organize anew.

"The sham nomination of Taft has greatly increased progressive sentiment in Washington. Thousands of democrats will vote the progressive national and state tickets, because the Tories still control democracy."

NONE BUT STANDPATTERS TO BE LEFT ON OLD TICKET

Candidates Who Have Already Withdrawn from Standpat Ticket.

Robert T. Hodge, for governor.
John C. Lawrence, for commissioner of South district.
Cortez Teas, for lieutenant governor.
L. W. Bryan, for congressman-at-large.
John E. Ballaine, for congressman-at-large.
J. A. Falconer, for congressman-at-large.
Dan Landon, for congressman from First district.
E. A. McLean, for congressman from First district.
Albert E. Joab, for congressman from Second district.
John Stringer, for sheriff.
Bert Thompson, for sheriff.
A. E. Puller, for engineer.
John A. Best, for justice of the peace.
Howard O. Durk, for justice of the peace.
Hugo Kelley, for commissioner of South district.
C. F. Garrison, for commissioner of North district.
Robert Mala, for commissioner of North district.
William E. Sikes, for commissioner of North district.
Dr. Walter T. Christensen, for representative of 42nd district.
Ernest A. Klenze, for representative of 41st district.
Paul W. House, for representative of 41st district.
L. L. Sorenson, for wreckmaster.

The above list is but a partial one of the wholesale defections from the republican party.

From top to bottom, from governor down to wreckmaster, progressives are leaving the republican primaries. In every county in the state, in every office in the county, progressives are withdrawing. Those who have already formally withdrawn their candidacies by written declaration filed with the secretary of state or with the respective county auditors in the state. Others will issue their formal notice of withdrawal before the week is over.

The old standpat ticket will be stripped to the bone. It will not have a complete ticket to present to the voters. Many of the standpatters will have some lone standpatter to represent the whole republican primary contest.

Billings and Hay.

In the race for governor, for example, all interest in the republican primaries will be lost, as puffy Gov. Hay and "Josh" Billings will be the only ones left. "Josh" Hodge and John C. Lawrence have already withdrawn from the republican primaries, and Otto A. Case is expected to follow suit.

In the race for congress in this district, Standpatter Humphrey will have the field to himself. Beg pardon, we forgot. David Perry may be left too. Rice is the man who got 95 votes in the recently contested last spring out of a total of some 42,000 votes.

Henry A. McLean, progressive candidate for congress in this district, this morning issued a formal statement that he has withdrawn from the republican primaries, and Dan Landon, the other progressive, has also withdrawn.

In the race for congressman-at-large, three of the most formidable candidates have already withdrawn, and others are expected to follow suit before the week is over. Those who have withdrawn are J. W. Ryan, Bremerton; John A. Ballaine, Seattle, and J. A. Falconer, Everett. Congressman Warburton, in Tacoma, will undoubtedly withdraw as soon as he returns from Washington, D. C. A. E. Joab, of Tacoma, candidate for congress, has already withdrawn.

In Spokane both N. W. Durham and F. Goodrich, progressive candidates for congress, are expected hourly to issue their statement of withdrawal.

L. L. Sorenson, the only candidate for wreckmaster on any ticket in this country, has also withdrawn from the old party and has joined the progressive party.

The republican party in both state and county will have a "hobnob" ticket only—that is, candidates for some of the offices only. The new party, the progressive party, on the other hand, will be complete from top to bottom.

Edgar C. Snyder, who returned from Spokane this morning, predicts that county progressive tickets as well as a complete state ticket will be in the field in every county.

These are sad days for the near-progressives. Realizing that they haven't a chance in the old standpat party primaries, and afraid to take the plunge into the new party, they are in almost as dismal a situation as the standpatters themselves.

Indications are that practically all of the standpat nominations will go by default. There will be no opposition to Standpatter Hay, and none to speak of to Standpatter Humphrey. There won't be any opposition to County Commissioner Hamilton in the south district, nor to a dozen other of these choice standpatters. They will get their nominations on the Taft ticket all right, but what will happen to them when they face the progressive candidates on the Roosevelt ticket in November?

That will be the saddest time for the standpatters.

SHOWING UP FINE HAND OF S. E. COMPANY

Demonstration for Car Line Extension Not Up to Specifications, but Lively Discussion Entailed.

"We will call the Seattle Electric company's bluff," said Councilman Wardall, of the franchise committee of the city council, this morning. "I do not believe the company wants to make any extensions or improvements of service at this time."

Wardall was talking to the Car Line Extension league, and it may be that, when he called the street car company's bluff, he called the league's bluff also. For the league, or the leaders of it, are not generally credited with being the staunch champions of the people or the unrelenting foe of Jake Furth that its leaders claim it to be.

The meeting this morning of the league and franchise committee, announced before the event as an impressive demonstration at which 1,000 outraged citizens would demand car line extensions, was not up to specifications. Sixteen leaguers were present. Secretary Edwin S. Douglas says it was the weather.

The league asked the council to pass an ordinance granting extensions of the franchise to contain a provision that, if the traction company accepts such franchise, it will not affect, in case the city should take over the property of the company, any existing franchises.

Wardall, in the absence of the other two members of the franchise committee, could not give the leaguers a definite answer.

"I will say, though," he said, "that the council is always willing to grant franchises containing the charter amendment giving the city the right to buy at the physical valuation. If the company will ask for such a franchise, it will undoubtedly be granted. But I don't believe the company will ask for it."

He told the leaguers to ask the company if it wanted a franchise with the charter amendment, and if it does, he said he would introduce a resolution at the council meeting Monday.

With that the leaguers had to be satisfied. A number of municipal ownership advocates were present and the ordinance was the result in the traction controversy.

NAT GOODWIN BADLY HURT IN BOAT ACCIDENT

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16.—Suffering from painful injuries, Nat Goodwin, actor and marital expert, lies today at his home at Santa Monica. He was caught beneath a heavy skiff that overturned in the surf at Rocky Point, 40 miles north of Santa Monica, and battered into unconsciousness. It is expected he will fully recover in a few days.

Goodwin and Miss Marjorie Moreland, leading woman in his last New York company and to whom it has been reported many times that the actor is engaged, were en route up the coast to inspect a piece of beach property when Goodwin and the captain of the launch attempted to row ashore.

COUPLE KILLED ON HONEYMOON

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Humphrey Owen Jones, F. R. S., Fellow of Clare college, Cambridge, a noted scientist, and his bride were killed while on their honeymoon in the Alps, according to advices received here today.

Prof. Jones and wife were attempting an ascent of Aiguille de Peteret, one of the peaks of Mont Blanc, and were picked up dead, on the rocks. Mrs. Jones was a niece of the bishop of St. Asaph.

MAN RUN DOWN

Fred Howell, employed by the American Messenger Co., while riding a motorcycle south on 2nd avenue, ran down a man by the name of Smith at 2nd avenue and Seneca street about 1 o'clock this afternoon. Howell was driving slowly and hit the man as he was coming around a street car. Smith was taken to the city hospital unconscious, but his injuries are not thought to be serious. Howell was not held by the police.

JUST A DAWG

Ornery, mangy, no-count outcast, he must die. But good dogs, valuable dogs, dogs having two-legged dogs, may live, even though the dog-catchers get them. Dog-Catcher Gregg and Assistant Jim demonstrate the art of snaring canines.

"STUFFED HIM UNCEMORONIOUSLY INTO THE CAGE" BY FRED L. BOALT.

He was just a dawg. An ornery, sneakin', furtive, pointless, worthless no-count dawg. A shameless, treacherous, marauding, mangy, flea-bitten dawg. An enemy of society—two-legged and four-legged.

Nemesis, in the persons of Henry Gregg, chief dog catcher, and Assistant Jim, approached in a chariot run by gasoline. Behind the seat was a wire cage. Jim had in his hand a short wire lasso technically known as a thungumabob.

The dawg was gnawing a bone in the road. He wore no collar such as a city ordinance, "in such cases made and provided," says all respectable dogs must wear—a collar with a license tag attached.

"Git him, Jim!" commanded Henry Gregg.

Jim dropped from the machine and the game was on.

Dawg pretended not to notice Jim. Jim pretended not to notice dawg. Dawg gnawed bone. Jim, an artist at the trade of catching dogs, snatched here, there, every where but in the actual direction of the prey.

He sauntered slouchingly, whistling a little tune. Dawg's eyes never left him. By degrees Jim drew close. Dawg's muscles tensed in readiness for flight. Dawg's lip drew back in a snarling grin. Dawg's tail wagged in mock friendliness.

"Good dawg!" said Jim.

"Woof!" said dawg, and leaped away.

More maneuvering. Jim appeared to forget dawg. He fell into a study as brown as his skin. Dawg went back to the bone. With a cunning which he must have inherited from his forest ancestors centuries ago, Jim slid his feet over the pavement an inch at a time. By and by there were but six feet between them. Dawg's ears pricked and he said "Woof!" but he clung to the bone.

"The Thungumabob Whistled."

Jim leaped. The thungumabob whistled. Dawg galvanized into furious action—too late!

Struggling and yelping, he fought to free himself of the thungumabob, which only tightened its hold. So he attacked Jim. Jim met the attack by dropping to his knees and turning his back, thus giving dawg only costally to chew. In another instant Jim's big brown hand had dawg by the scruff of the neck, and was stuffing him unceremoniously into the wire cage. The game was ended.

"Woof!" said dawg, and leaped away.

More maneuvering. Jim appeared to forget dawg. He fell into a study as brown as his skin. Dawg went back to the bone. With a cunning which he must have inherited from his forest ancestors centuries ago, Jim slid his feet over the pavement an inch at a time. By and by there were but six feet between them. Dawg's ears pricked and he said "Woof!" but he clung to the bone.

"The Thungumabob Whistled."

Jim leaped. The thungumabob whistled. Dawg galvanized into furious action—too late!

Struggling and yelping, he fought to free himself of the thungumabob, which only tightened its hold. So he attacked Jim. Jim met the attack by dropping to his knees and turning his back, thus giving dawg only costally to chew. In another instant Jim's big brown hand had dawg by the scruff of the neck, and was stuffing him unceremoniously into the wire cage. The game was ended.

STEAMER SIOUX SINKS THE CAMANA

Then Seattle Boat Runs Down Big Launch—Accident at Everett Dock This Morning.

A mistake in signals sent the big steamer Sioux, of the Inland Navigation Co., crashing into the steamship Camana, of the Inland Navigation Co., at the dock in Everett at 11 o'clock this morning, sinking her.

The Sioux struck the Camana between the stern and the middle, tearing a hole in her side, and showing her on to the launch Inland Flyer, wrecking the latter boat also. No one was on the Camana except the crew. They quickly got to shore in lifeboats, and the steamer rapidly filled and sank. The Sioux proceeded on her way to Everett.

The Sioux is a well-known Sound boat. She makes the run from Seattle to Everett, Anacortes and Bellingham. She was docking this morning when the accident occurred.

The Camana was 225 feet long. She did a freight and passenger business between Seattle and upper Sound ports.

SHE IS A GIRL AGAIN NOW

DENVER, Aug. 16.—With a girl's farewell to her companions who have been in the matron's quarters of the city jail for the last three days, pretty Ethel Hull, who was arrested a few nights ago masquerading in boy's clothing and attempting to "beat" her way from Denver to Cheyenne, left the city jail this morning attired in her girl's clothing.

With a loving pat she left her boy's clothes in the care of the jail matron, but declares that she will get others and carry out her intentions of being a boy and "beat it" about the country like any other boy.

The police authorities telegraphed to Cheyenne for her clothing, and it arrived early this morning. Dressed in a pretty blue dress that reached only to her ankles, her reddish brown hair concealed by a peach basket hat and her heavy boy's shoes exchanged for a pair of girl's shoes, the girl, who claims that she is over 21 years old and is the mother of a baby, said goodbye to the matron.

"I will dress again in boy's clothing and will 'beat' my way about the country with Fred. The first thing that I intend doing is to have a barber cut this hair so that it looks nice. I made an awful botch of it," she said.

Fred, her sweetheart, met her at the entrance to the city jail and the two walked down the street arm in arm.

ALL STORM RECORDS FOR AUG. BEATEN

The rainstorm of Wednesday night that brought the precipitation for the first 15 days of the month to 1.23 inches, almost three times that of the average for the whole month, instead of the average of 0.41 inches, was only one of the many records that the month of August has set.

Yesterday afternoon it rained, last night it rained and this morning it rained. These activities have resulted in a total of 67 inches being recorded at the local weather observatory, and the forecast for tomorrow is rain (what's the use? Bring on the bathing suits.) The total rainfall for the sixteen days of August is 1.90. This would indicate that the record for the month will be broken. The greatest rainfall for August was 2.50 in 1899.

Tells Why He Quits Standpat Party

Henry A. McLean, candidate for congressman in this district, in withdrawing from the standpat ticket, where he was compelled to file before the formation of the progressive party, issued the following statement today:

Political parties should be either progressive or conservative. This is the natural division. The republican party, in its origin the party of progress, has become dominated completely by those in control of the great financial and industrial interests of the country.

Since the civil war tremendous progress has been made industrially and socially, calling for great changes in our political institutions to secure human rights and social progress. That they may block progress in the welfare of all the people, and prevent legislation deemed necessary by the masses, the reactionary forces have taken possession of both the old political parties.

When the progressive fight was within the republican party I filed as a candidate for congress in the First district. Now that a new organization has been formed, I have withdrawn, and will be a candidate on the progressive ticket.

CALLS DARROW 'DR. JEKYLL AND MR. HYDE' IN TRIAL

In Contrast to Darrow's Brilliant Oratory, Prosecutor Winds Up Famous Case With Cold Statement of Evidence—Case to Jury Probably This Evening.

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16.—"It is utterly folly, gentlemen," began District Attorney John D. Fredericks in resuming today his argument, the last for the state, in the Darrow trial. "It is utterly folly to believe that any other person than the attorneys who had the handling of the money, committed these bribes. Nobody else would be wasting time and money bribing jurors that might not be accepted when they appeared in court."

Fredericks confined himself strictly to the evidence and witnesses who testified in the trial, attempting no flights of oratory.

"I don't believe that all these witnesses, newspaper men and others, who have said Franklin told them Darrow was innocent, I think Darrow was innocent were perjured. That was Franklin's whole attitude, protecting Darrow, shielding the man who gave him the money. I don't say Franklin told Darrow everything the money and Darrow furnished the money and Franklin the brains and ingenuity."

"Watt, Steinman and Pirotte of Venice didn't speak the truth when they said Franklin, after appearing before the grand jury, told them Darrow was innocent. I think Frank E. Wolfe didn't speak the truth. I believe Hawley didn't speak the truth."

Wolfe and Hawley were the principal witnesses in the Darrow trial. Speaking of Le Compe Davis, associate counsel for the McNamara, Fredericks declared that he was not protecting Davis, as charged by Darrow, but if the local man was guilty of anything he would prosecute him, even if he were his own brother.

"When Darrow was on the witness stand he appeared to be speaking the truth," Fredericks continued. "But you cannot believe his testimony."

"Don't you suppose Behm went back to Darrow and told him what happened before the grand jury? Now there was a legal side to this Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. About August 9, about the same time as the Behm incident, Darrow hired Franklin to investigate jury venue."

YAKIMA ENTHUSIASTIC FOR NEW PROGRESSIVE PARTY

"We as business men of North Yakima endorse with many others the state and county progressive primaries in September.

John W. Hutchings, Robert Rundstrum, president of the Yakima Commercial Club, Darnes-Wood in Co., William W. Draper, Emporium Co., per R. W. Holmes, Patrick Mullin, Bitter and Bothwick, John W. Vesel & Co., Dean Clothing Co., Yakima Hardware Co., Charles Heath, H. M. Gilbert."

This telegram was received this morning by Wm. Hunt, North Yakima's representative to the state conference of progressives, which will be held here Saturday for the purpose of formulating the exact plans for carrying out the preferential primary plan in every county in the state. North Yakima progressives are enthusiastically for primaries, and they are the first to have ratified the action of the committee which has issued the progressive party call.

They held a meeting Wednesday night, which was addressed by N. W. Durham and Frank Goodwin, candidates for congress in the third district, and at that time unanimously declared for the progressive party. Both Durham and Good-

CHARGE AGAINST PETER JENSEN

TACOMA, Aug. 16.—Peter Jensen, state senator from the Fernhill district, Tacoma, was today charged with misappropriation of $1,180 belonging to the state board of pharmacy, of which Jensen was formerly secretary. A warrant, sworn to by James Lee, present secretary of the board, charges that Jensen appropriated the amount missing between June 2, 1909, and November 30, 1911. Jensen will appear at the sheriff's office this afternoon.

WEATHER FORECAST

★ Showers tonight or Saturday; brisk south to west winds. Temperature at noon, ★ 54.

Five Acres Fine Potato Land $35, $1 Cash Stump Puller for Sale

Four-Room Cottage, $10 Down, $10 Month

These are samples of the splendid offerings to be found in tonight's Classified Columns. There are many more as good or better. 5 acres of potato land offers a good income to some person, and the price and terms make it a most attractive buy. Good acreage will soon be a rare article, and chances such as many offered in tonight's Star should not be overlooked. Many classes of merchandise will be found for sale in the Classified Columns tonight. There are many prospective buyers. One advertiser wants to buy a piano, and will pay cash for it. There are many good opportunities to buy and sell in tonight's Star.

40,000 Paid Copies of The Star Go Into As Many Homes Each Evening

"BE IT EVER SO HUMBLE"—"THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME."

AMAZING MAN
"He's one of our most successful financiers."
"That so? I didn't know he was rich."
"He isn't. But he's supporting a family of five on twelve dollars a week."—Detroit Free Press.