

FURIOUS BATTLE RAGING

SEMELIN, Hungary, Nov. 9.—Reports of a furious battle along the Tschatja fortifications, with the Bulgars repeatedly charging Nasim Pasha's Turkish defenders, were received here today in dispatches from Bulgarian sources. Asiatic troops, the dispatch said, were reinforcing the Turks.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 9.—Mrs. W. K. Liggett, club woman, blind for years, upon recovering her sight, was thoroughly shocked by women's styles. She said their clothes are "indecent."

THE STAR'S SPECIAL PICTURE MAP SHOWING WHOLE REMARKABLE SCENE OF THE BALKAN WAR

In this picture map Artist Brown has stationed himself, figuratively, with his back to Asia, surveying his oncoming, victorious enemies. This topographical or "picture" map of a great news event covering a great expanse of territory such as the Balkan war does, is an entirely new feature in daily newspaper illustration. Such a map conveys to the human eye instantly an understanding of places and events noted in the news dispatches, while the ordinary, or geography map, when printed in the newspaper, means little or nothing. How many of us really understand, although we read the name every day, what "the Bosphorus" means? A glance at this picture map shows that the great metropolis of Constantinople is really two cities; that the Bosphorus, a short strait and not a river, divides it in half. How many of us have the famous Dardanelles placed accurately in our minds? This picture map places it instantly.

FATHER RETURNS HIS SON TO PENITENTIARY

(By United Press Leased Wire)
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—"Well, warden, here's the boy back again. His mammy and I would rather see him here in jail than to have him break his promised word with the state. He forgot his bringin' up, when he didn't remember what he said he would do. His mammy and I want you to know that we didn't raise him up that way."
With this simple explanation of the stern sense of justice that prompted his act, D. W. Lamb, a weather-beaten old rancher of Shasta county, delivered to Warden Hoyle at San Quentin prison his 21-year-old son, Frank, who had broken his parole.
There was just a suspicion of moisture in the father's keen grey eyes as he shook the boy's hand in parting at the big grated door of the prison. The set of his chin relaxed a little.
"Well, son," he said, slowly, "be a good boy while you're here. Do what's right and when you get out come back to the ranch. We'll be awaitin' for you."
And then to the warden: "Sort of look after Frank. He's only a boy after all, and a good boy, for all he's done. They ought to teach him a lesson. We tried hard to bring him up right, but he went a little wild."
Frank Lamb's story, however, is not so simple. He was taken in 1906 to serve a seven-year term for grand larceny. The parole machinery was invoked and he was released on probation in 1907, with instructions not to leave the state and to make reports to the authorities at stated intervals in obeying the parole regulations. Then the trait which his father characterized as "a little wild" reasserted itself and he took to the road. A short time ago, tired of a wanderer's life, he drifted back to the home ranch.
"Come on, boy, we're going back to jail," said the father. "First sit down and eat a hearty meal—just like you used to when you were a little feller, and then we'll go."
"I don't hold anything against the old man for bringin' me back here," said the boy to Warden Hoyle.

HIS TASTE FOR LOVELY PINK SOCKS LED TO HIS ARREST

Bewailed W. C. DeLaye, 21-year-old telegraph operator in the city jail, with two burglaries charged up to him, his confession recorded and the stolen goods recovered: "It's about the little things in life that count, and," he added regretfully, "also discount. To think that after half a dozen neat little hauls I should now be surrounded by iron bars and hemmed in by evidence, and all because of my monomania on the subject of pink socks. It's hard luck."
Several weeks ago the Stimson home on Minor av. was robbed of over $3,000 worth of jewelry. Thursday night the maid at the home of Virgil Bogue, on the same street, was forced to show a young man over the house that he might better help himself to about the same amount of jewelry. In her alarm she fled, and the only thing she remembered was that he wore lovely pink socks.
The police were notified and Detectives Phillips and Byrne put on the job and detailed to investigate the premises. Finding nothing, they left the house and stopped at Third av. and Seneca st. to light their pipes. As they did so a young man walked by and stopped a few feet ahead to roll up his trousers.
Phillips nudged Byrne and pointed to the young man. "Pink socks," he whispered, "lovely pink socks, let's follow him." They did so, following him to a pawn shop and found him "soaking" a $250 gold watch.
They took him to police headquarters, questioned him, got a few damaging admissions from him, and later Captain of Detectives Tennant obtained a complete confession from him. The stolen goods were recovered from his lodging house on Boren av., and now he awaits trial.
DeLaye is young, and possessed of the hopefulness of youth. While bewailing the fact that a little thing like the desire for pink socks should put him in the set of the law, he is nevertheless philosophical. "At any rate," he said, "I won't be troubled with pink socks for a while. They don't wear them at Monroe."

PLATOON VOTE

After the city council had canvassed the vote on the two bills, it was found that it stood 14-10 for and 18,520 against. Mayor Cotterill issued the required proclamation stating that the system had been approved and would go into effect April 2, 1913.

ALL OF TAFT'S OFFICE HOLDERS TO BE RECALLED

Congress convenes next month, and Clinton W. Howard's name will again go before the senate for ratification. He was named federal judge, as successor to Judge Hanford during the recess of congress and after the senate had failed to confirm his appointment.
Of course, President Taft will again urge his name for ratification, but it is certain that the senate will again fail to confirm Howard's appointment, and that President-elect Wilson will have the real appointment of a new judge. This will also be true in the case of the federal district attorneyship, which is now being held by Beverly Collier.
These are only two of the offices which will be removed from the hands of the old gang. The influence in politics which the various postmasters in the state have wielded will suffer greatly. George F. Russell, of Seattle, originally appointed by Samuel H. Pile, will give way to a new man. Customs Collector Hopkins will also lose his job. So will Ellis De Bruler, chief of the immigration department. S. Marshall Jacoby's job is also rather shaky, as is also that of U. S. Naturalization Examiner John Speed Smith.
Last of Old Machine. Of course, there are all kinds of assistants for this and that, who will be pried loose of their jobs, and some of them have held for 15 to 16 years and more, and have heretofore been united in the same purpose of perpetuating each other's jobs from one term to another.
The recent election has at least broken up the republican machine in this state, so that it will be a shadow of its Aberdeen self four years hence.

STRONG CASE AGAINST NAVY YARD CLERK READY FOR JURY TODAY

Avel Johnson, J. F. Neiman, of the Standard Furniture Co., James Henry and Andrew W. Black were the principal witnesses examined yesterday in the trial of Edwin F. Meyer, charged with defrauding the government. The case will be ready for the jury late this afternoon.
Johnson said that he built a dough trough for the government at the navy yard, where Meyer was employed as chief clerk in the head storekeeper's office, that did not come up to specifications, but that Meyer was persuaded to accept it. He said the government paid $75 for it when it cost $25 to make it.
Neiman testified that Wheeler bought a refrigerator from him at the Standard Furniture Co. that had been rejected by Meyer, Henry and Black, and that he had supplied another order at $10 cents.

CHEHALIS BABY IS BURNED TO DEATH

WORLD'S MATRIMONIAL RECORD

PRETORIA, Africa, Nov. 9.—It is believed here that the world's legitimate matrimonial record is held by Mrs. Theila M. De Beer, aged 78, living in Pretoria. First married at the age of 18, she recently became a widow for the tenth time. She is the mother and step-mother of 49 children, and the grandmother of 270.

WILL CALL IT TILIKUM PLACE

The triangle at Fifth av. and Yesler way, which, after Wednesday, will have a figure of Chief Seattle, will hereafter be known as Tilikum Place, the park board yesterday, acting on the request of the Tilikums of Ellitsa and the endorsement of Mayor Cotterill, having voted to officially designate it as such. The board also considered plans for the aquarium at Alki beach. The plans submitted call for three buildings and a recreation pier. Temporary restles were ordered on the Lake Washington shore line at Hudson st. and Orcas st.

MADLINE ASTOR SON'S GUARDIAN

(By United Press Leased Wire)
NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Mrs. Madeline Talmadge Force Astor, widow of Col. John Jacob Astor, was today appointed guardian of her son, John Jacob Astor IV, by Surrogate Fowler, on her own petition.
Mrs. Astor was appointed general guardian until the child is 14 years of age, and is allowed $10,000 for its support and education for the next three years. This is to come from a trust fund of $2,000,000 created under the will of Col. Astor.

IDAHO RESULT

(By United Press Leased Wire)
BOISE, Ida., Nov. 9.—Unless President Taft in the complete returns can show gains enough to overcome the lead of 574 votes now held by President-elect Wilson in incomplete returns from 25 out of the 27 counties in the state, Idaho will go to Wilson. Latest returns swept away all of Taft's first advantage. The total vote to the present is Wilson 28,663, Taft 28,083.
Oneida county gave Paines, for governor, 3,046, and Hawley, democrat, 1,492, practically insuring the election of the first named.

N. P. BLOCKED

(By United Press Leased Wire)
CHEHALIS, Nov. 9.—All travel has been blocked for the night on the Northern Pacific main line by a big slide near Little Falls. Immense deposits of earth have come down, and a steam shovel must be secured from Portland before the track can be opened.

TRUCKMAN 10 YEARS AGO, HE MAIL-ORDERED SELF TO CONGRESS

FRANK O. LINDQUIST AND HIS LITTLE DAUGHTER

GREENVILLE, Mich., Nov. 9.—The man who buys a pair of shoes has the right to know whether or not he is buying paper. The "pure food" laws ought to be amended to include "pure" shoes, too. If it is wrong to label butterine as butter and whisky as patent medicine, it is also wrong to call shoddy "all wool" and imitation leather shoes "calfskin."
These, in brief, were the planks of Congressman-Elect Frank Lindquist's platform.
Possibly it hadn't been for a "bawling out" that Lindquist got when he was a truck driver ten years ago, he would not have just completed the only original mail-order campaign.
With $40 in his pocket, a wife and two children, Lindquist moved to Greenville. With his $40 and his nerve, he built up a great mail-order business out of a little two-by-four notion store. On each of the 10,000 letters which he sent out daily during the campaign was his one argument setting forth the desirability of trading with the "Man from Michigan," as he calls himself, and another elucidating the value of a clothes and shoes inspection and labeling law.
Falling to get a congressman to introduce a bill forcing manufacturers to stamp their goods, showing what the stuff is made of, he announced himself a congressional candidate without the support of a newspaper or a machine. He wrote 192,000 letters to the 3,200 voters in his district, and thousands of answers piled in.
"Go to it," they read, "we're with you."
And Lindquist "went to it." On Tuesday he was elected to congress from the Eleventh district, and he is now confident that the Lindquist pure fabric-and-leather bill will be the first bill introduced in the next congress.

PHONE CO. SEEKS INJUNCTION

Setting up the 14th amendment of the constitution, which prohibits the taking of property without due process of law, and also the constitutional provision forbidding the impairing of contractual obligation, the Pacific Telephone company has filed a complaint asking that the city be enjoined from taking over the property of the Independent Telephone company, in accordance with the ordinance recently passed. The ordinance required that the

BIGGEST CROP OF CORN IN HISTORY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The greatest crop of corn ever grown in the world is the feature of the most remarkable agricultural year in the history of the country. The November crop report of the federal department of agriculture, issued today, shows a corn crop of 3,169,137,000 bushels, 281,921,000 bushels more than the biggest crop of corn ever grown. On November 1 it was worth to farmers $1,550,776,000.
The farm value of the crops of corn, hay, wheat, oats, potatoes, the growing crops of cotton and the crops of tobacco, rice and apples, the aggregate value will amount well beyond $5,000,000,000.

45 SALOONS ARE CLOSED BY DRY VOTE

The "dry" vote in King county, outside of the incorporated towns and cities, will put 45 saloons out of business. The county is required under the terms of the local option law to refund 90 per cent of the license for the unexpired term to the saloon men. The license for country saloons is $300 annually.

TRAVELING MEN TO BANQUET

Chamber of Commerce is preparing for the grand reunion of the members of the organization, to be held this evening at the Press club under the auspices of the Seattle council No. 83, United Commercial Travelers of America. There will be served a buffet lunch consisting of 30 articles of food, which will be Washington made goods exclusively. All the speeches will deal with the problem of the upbuilding of Seattle's business, and the important part that the traveling man can play in that undertaking will be emphasized.

FINE CONCERT

A small but appreciative audience greeted Judson W. Mather, new organist at the Plymouth Congregational church at the reception and concert given for him last night at the church. Prof. Judson comes to Seattle with a good reputation as an organist, earned by several years' work in Spokane, and his performance last night justified it. He possesses technical skill to a large degree and also appreciation and the ability to interpret and convey the meaning of the pieces to his hearers. It was the first of a series of concerts to be given.

"Jones got so excited at the football game he hugged a young lady sitting next to him, a perfect stranger."
"Did she object?"
"No, but the newspapers printed the story, and the next day there were 5000 girls at the game."
