

Buckwheat Cakes

Raised without Yeast
When they are just right, the old-fashioned yeast-raised buckwheat cakes are just what you need. But it takes a skillful hand to get them just right, and many housewives do not want to be bothered with a bowl of batter standing around all the time. Made after this recipe, buckwheat cakes are as good as any you ever ate and much superior to those made with self-rising flour.

K C Buckwheat Cakes

By Mrs. Janet McKennie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine.
1 cup buckwheat flour; 1/2 cup sugar; 1 level teaspoon K C Baking Powder; 1/2 cup cold water; 1/2 teaspoon salt.
Sift together, three times, the flour, sugar, salt and baking powder; stir the water in all once and bake on a hot, well oiled griddle. Buckwheat flour calls for a generous amount of baking powder. Part milk may be used to mix the cakes but water gives them a good result.

A delicious "spread" for griddle cakes is made by creaming together about twice as much lard (either comb or strained) as sugar. Work it up with a fork to about a consistency of hard sauer.

Readers of this paper may obtain "The Cook's Book" containing this and 89 other delicious recipes free by sending the colored card attached in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder to the James Mfg. Co., Chicago. Send for "The Cook's Book" today.

A SQUARE DEAL IN DENTISTRY

What the Success of a Dentist Depends on
By EDWIN J. BROWN,
713 First Ave., Union Block.
When I bought the Brown Dental Office in the Union block 713 First Ave. on July 15, 1901, there were more than three dentists in Seattle who did not say that Brown would not last three months. The fact advertising offices then, were knocking other dentists out of business to deny the public to their noble shops to be cleaned, pulled and drilled (for their money).
The more honest and better class of dental practitioners contended that "high class dental work could not be done for the price of a cheap" and they were correct, unless I could get a large amount of work to do. The rule had been for their patients like a fox after chickens (the smart and get the money).
GIVING A SQUARE DEAL, PAYS.
I made up my mind to live in Seattle the remainder of my life and every person in the face—friend and foe alike. I knew I was not as smart as some dentists, and I did not figure only on making money. I wanted to be successful, of course, and cannot understand how I did it. I knew that a square deal in dentistry could be successful unless he gave everybody a square deal. I knew that hundreds of people wanted dental work who could not pay high prices, and they never would come back unless they got good work and a square deal.
THE SECRET OF MY SUCCESS.
I attended to my own business. My prices were and are right, and my work was and is right. My honest work and service kept my patients with me, until today I require twelve dental assistants, seven lady assistants, sixteen operating rooms, three extracting rooms and special hospital room, special reception room for ladies and a special waiting room for gentlemen and a special waiting room for each sex.
I got my prices as low as the world and my work is as good as you can get in the world. Because all materials are the best and workmanship is unexcelled, and this is the secret of my success, my dentist could do it if he would and did do it, and the fact that I am here in Seattle I have the best private dental practice in the world is the proof of my service to the people and I shall continue to do in the future as I have done in the past, give a square deal in dentistry and guarantee my work.

DUKE, DUCHESS AND PRINCE TO SEE HELEN GOULD WED; SHE'LL MAKE 1,000 HAPPY

By United Press Leased Wire.
TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Jan. 21.—All plans were completed today for the marriage here tomorrow of Miss Helen Miller Gould and Pinley J. Shepard. The preparations were superintended by the bride-to-be, and there will be neither pomp nor display.
The part of the ceremony in which Miss Gould herself is most interested is the wedding dinner, not the one for the guests of honor, but for 1,000 "bread liners" at the Bowers mission, where she did most of her philanthropic work.
The ceremony will be performed by Rev. Daniel Russell, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Irvington-on-the-Hudson. The only attendants to the bride will be her two nieces, Misses Helen and Dorothy Gould. Since their father, Frank Gould, was divorced, the two girls have lived with Miss Gould.
The Duc de Tallierand and the duchesse, who was Anna Gould, and their young son, Howard, Prince de Sagan, are here to attend the wedding. The duchesse brought rich bridal gifts for her only sister.
Close friends of the duchesse today commented on her improved appearance. When she visited here as the wife of Count Boni de Castellane she appeared broken and low spirited. Today she was smiling and happy. As the steamer Mauretania came up New York bay the duchesse pointed out to her wide-eyed son New York's tall buildings.
"We are not going to stay very long," the duchesse said. "About two weeks, I think."
The duke avoided the reporters.

YEAR OLD ROMANCE OF BOY AND GIRL ENDS IN TRAGEDY

MRS. DONALD JADWIN
A romance that had its beginning on an Atlantic liner over a year ago, resulting in a wedding, ended in tragedy in San Francisco recently when Donald Jadwin shot and killed his girl-wife and then took his own life, following a separation, the result, it is said, of Jadwin's disappointment.
The tragedy occurred in the dining room of the bride's grandmother, where a party of dinner guests were seated. The husband walked into the room, kissed his wife, and holding her with one arm, whipped out the revolver and fired three bullets into her body. Then he killed himself. They had been married seven months, and the tragedy occurred 10 days after their separation. Mrs. Jadwin was 20, her husband 21.

WOODROW TO SLEEP NINE HOURS, MAYBE

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 21.—"I need nine hours of uninterrupted sleep every 24 hours," said President-elect Wilson today.
"If I fall to get that much sleep," the president-elect volunteered, "I don't feel half right. Sometimes I think that my mental machinery does not act with that precision which it should whenever I fall to get my required amount of sleep."
"Do you contemplate getting getting nine hours of uninterrupted sleep every night while you are president?" the reporter asked.
"The question seemed to give the president-elect a shock.
"If I don't get as much sleep in the White House as I need," he replied, "I'll know the reason why and put a stop to it."

CHEER UP! IF HEADACHY, BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED—CASCARETS TONIGHT

NORDICA TO SING AT BARGAIN PRICE

Lillian Nordica, queen of song and the greatest dramatic soprano in the world, at from 75 cents to $1.50, is the announcement from Cyril Arthur Player, local manager of the opera, who is to appear at the Moore on Monday, February 7. The prices are without precedent in the annals of big musical stars.
It is a concession made to Seattle, and Seattle only, of one of the world's greatest artists at what can only be regarded as bargain prices.
Nordica brings with her William Morse Rummel, violinist, and Roman Simons, pianist. Nordica herself is at the zenith of her career. She has not been heard in Seattle for fully three years, and this will be her last appearance prior to her tour of Australia and the world.

SEEK HIGHWAYMAN WITH A BIG MOUTH

Search is being made today by the police for a bad man with a big mouth, who held up Arthur Palmer, clerk in a grocery store on Fairman av., and took $5 from the cash register. Palmer was so rattled that he could remember anything about the holdup except that he had a "big mouth."
The Odd Fellows of Seattle Monday night attended a meeting of the grand officers in Odd Fellows' hall. Four hundred members were present, representing the 14 lodges in this locality.
The Odd Fellows' home in Walla Walla received special praise. It has nearly 50 aged men and women in its care.

SUCH A SMALLNESS; CAN YOU BEAT IT?

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 21.—Dislike for Wm. Gonzales, editor of the Columbia States, who would have charge of the militia, today caused Governor Bleasde to announce that he would not permit South Carolina troops to attend the inauguration of President-elect Woodrow Wilson.
"Gonzales would take delight," said Bleasde, "in placing the governor of South Carolina in an embarrassing position. He is a boor. This might lead to South Carolina troops being discourteously treated because of their commander-in-chief. They had better stay at home."

IDAHO TOWNS GET RECORD BLIZZARD

HAILEY, Idaho, Jan. 21.—With cattle dying, trains delayed and towns cut off from all communication, the Wood river district is suffering today from the effects of the worst blizzard in 30 years. It has been snowing or blowing continuously for two weeks.
A passenger train leaving here Saturday night for Ketchum is still stalled near Fisheries, where the passengers are being cared for. Two locomotives sent out to relieve it and a rotary snow plow sent out to clear the Central Idaho line to Camas, are snowed in.

SEEK LIFE OF NEGRO PRISONER

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Crying "lynch him," a mob of 1,000 men tried to take James Wallace, a negro arrested for accosting white girls, away from a policeman. Wallace is today in jail, having been spirited away by the officers. Policeman Leon succeeded in hiding his prisoner in a drug store until other policemen dispersed the mob.

I Am Doing It!

Did you notice the scores of green bundles on the streets and cars the last few days? Well, they were bargains from the Stoelting Trunk Factory, 1420 Second. By order of the manager for the Trustees the entire stock of high grade trunks, traveling bags, suit cases, stationery and leather goods and novelties is being sacrificed to meet insistent demands of creditors.

J. P. BURKE

I Was Right

I told Chas. L. Meissner, manager for the trustees of the Stoelting Trunk Factory, that if I could cut the prices low enough I would raise the money necessary to pay off creditors. He told me to go ahead and sell with "no regard for original cost." The thousands of people who were waited on since the opening of the sale certainly got some great bargains. And I want to assure my friends that there are just as good bargains left.
