

A DUSTLESS, GERMLESS HOUSE; IT'S THE ONLY ONE IN ALL THE WORLD

How would you like to keep house in a place that had no dust and dirt? A place where no one ever had a cold or a cough, and where the dread tuberculosis germ could not exist for a single minute? Where there were no drafts, and where the temperature was exactly the same winter and summer, spring and fall?

A small motor and a big electric fan. From the fan runs a covered wooden passage, with a second passage of tin above it, connecting with the house. Thus the fan sucks air from the caves and drives it into the house, where it passes through big pipes in the walls to every room. Other ventilators carry off the stale air.

There is such a house—just one of its kind in the world. It is the home of Col. Northcott, at Luray, Virginia. The air in this house is always fresh and always pure, yet no windows are ever opened save to wash them. In the hottest days of summer this house is always cool, and in the coldest days of winter it is always warm. On the dampest, most humid days of summer this house is always dry. This peculiar dwelling is ventilated with air from the caves of Luray.

PROGRESSIVES DID IT, HE SAYS
SACRAMENTO, March 14.—Gov. Hiram Johnson sees in the Illinois investigation into the white slave traffic and its connection with wages paid to women, a direct result of the presidential campaign of the progressive party. The governor gave the following statement to the United Press today:

Letters To Cynthia Grey

"I SOON FOUND OUT MY MISTAKE."
Dear Miss Grey: Having seen the good advice you give to heart-broken girls, I thought I would open my heart to you. I was married to a Japanese about three months ago, but soon found out my mistake. Tell me, can I get a divorce without any publicity? H. K.

he still loves you, you are the one who is decidedly in the wrong. I wish that the young man might look far enough ahead to see that he would be much better without a girl like you.

A.—There will be publicity, inasmuch as the case must go through the divorce courts. Yours is a fair example of the results of people of different races marrying. You can do much good by warning other girls about to do the same thing. I only wish that every girl who entertains such a thought might read your letter and turn back.

DEPENDS UPON THE GIRL.
Dear Miss Grey: I am a young man, very much attached to a young lady. I am hesitating about marrying on account of my work, which is every night I receive $160 per month. Would you advise me to marry with about two years of night work ahead of me?

PERPLEXED.
A.—Much depends on the temperament of the girl you intend to marry. If she is content to spend the evenings alone for two years, I see no reason why you should not marry.

A SURE CURE FOR BASHFULNESS
Dear Miss Grey: I have two faults, which, with your help, I hope to overcome. They are bashfulness and insociability in the society of young ladies.

PERPLEXED.
A.—When in the society of young ladies, do you regard them as you would your sisters? You are too self-conscious; in other words, you allow your mind to dwell too much on what others are thinking about you.

ROCKLAND, Me., March 14.—To either disprove or establish the theory that Rear Admiral Jos. G. Eaton was mysteriously poisoned, Prof. Wm. Whitney, a Harvard professor, is analyzing the contents of Eaton's stomach here today. Eaton's widow insists he was sick for a year before his death. The authorities declare he was ill but a single day.

CONGENIALITY IS AN ART THAT WILL IMPROVE THE LONGER IT IS PRACTICED, SO DON'T BECOME DISCOURAGED AND GIVE UP AFTER THE FIRST FEW ATTEMPTS. THE MAIN THING IS TO KEEP YOUR THOUGHTS ON A HIGH PLANE.

THE FOLLY OF HASTY ENGAGEMENTS
Dear Miss Grey: I was engaged to a young man and thought I loved him very dearly, but found I did not and told him so. Everyone knew we went together but our engagement was a secret at my own request as I thought people would say it was a case of love at first sight. So you see the breaking of our engagement did not hurt him in the least. I would not take a ring because of this, so he gave me a locket instead. And Christmas I gave him a stickpin.

CO-EDS PLAN PINK TEA TRAP
ITHACA, March 13.—In order to break down the barrier of aloofness between the co-eds and the male students of the freshman class at Cornell, the advisers of Sage college, the women's dormitory, have decided to hold weekly pink teas in the drawing room of the dormitory, to which a limited number of male students from the freshman class will be invited.

WILL FAVOR TAX CLASSIFICATION LAW
Indorsement of the elimination of the constitutional provision providing for a general property tax in the state of Washington has been given by the board of trustees of the new Chamber of Commerce, on the advice of its bureau of taxation. The board also promised to use its influence in securing the passage of house bill 268, which provides for submission to the people at the next state election of an amendment to the constitution which would give the legislature power to classify property for the purpose of taxation.

Clean Bread

Bread may be fresh and clean when it leaves the bake shop, yet be decidedly unclean when it reaches the consumer. That's because all bread is POROUS. If its crust is exposed it absorbs moisture like a sponge. If moisture were all, it would not matter so much so far as its wholesomeness is concerned, but this is not all.

Why Take Chances?
In its rounds from baker to consumer it is handled by driver, grocer, clerk, delivery boy. Perhaps the hands are unclean. Perhaps these persons are unhealthy. Every bread eater who buys unwrapped bread is taking a chance. The baker cannot control his bread after it leaves his shop, but there's one way to insure yourself and family absolutely against unclean, unwholesome bread.
