Keep Yourself Well--Walk

Among the helps to health is exercise. Does that mean buying golf sticks and fancy clothes and paying fat fees to a country club or an athletic association?

Not necessarily. They're all right if you can afford 'em. A mighty fine game is golf. So is tennis or squash. Most any game is good that gets you into the open air, working your muscles.

Each of these, however, is of limited value and requires you to go to a place.

There's a way to exercise which costs nothing, requires no special toggery, can be tried any time, anywhere, is first-class sport, keeps a fellow's muscles in superb trim and saves a pot of money in the course of the year.

It's to walk. Walk to work in the morning. Walk home at night. Walk when chance offers during the day.

Street cars generally are stuffy and the fare counts up. Autos are for the rich. But every man and every woman can travel at will on shanks' ponies.

Riding is mostly a habit. For each time that you ride because you have to, don't you ride a dozen times just because you've gotten out of the way of walking?

Our sturdy dads walked. Walked miles. Never waited for street cars. Didn't have street cars.

Why don't you get up early tomorrow morning and walk to work? Then, if not too tired, walk home at night. Fill the lungs, stretch the legs, enjoy the scenery, get back to nature. It's as fine exercise as there is. And it keeps the liver working.

Lay the Cards Face Up, Woodrow

Owing to the stir made by the News-Post of Philadelphia, it appears that some one hundred big firms, beside John Wanamaker, have compromised their customs frauds by the payment of money, under the Taft administration.

When "Holy John" Wanamaker planked down $100,000 to satisfy defrauded Uncle Sam, he probably thought he'd bought complete absolution, but no less an authority than U. S. District Judge Landis has decided that in spite of any money compromise the defrauders can be punished with imprisonment, if conspiracy can be proved.

Of course, anyone can make out how John and the other hundred hornsawgled poor soft old Bill Taft and his satellites. The accused were of our best and holiest citizens. It was the first time they had sinned, or, rather, been caught.

On with the investigation, the publicity and the prosecution, Woodrow! Maybe, when we get at substantial justice in this matter, there'll be more of substantial justice to pass around to the common folks.

Notice, Mothers!

Mothers, have you joined the Seattle Mothers' Training School?

It is worth a trial, at least. The school is dedicated to great, noble and beneficial work. Will you help it along?

The second meeting of the school will be held Wednesday afternoon, beginning 3:30, in the Bon Marche building. The lecture will treat of the care of the new-born. A practical demonstration of the child's bath will be given.

The class is open to all mothers. Reputable, learned physicians and trained nurses are contributing their services. Now the co-operation and association of mothers is needed to make Seattle truly the healthiest city in the world.

'Rah for philanthropy! Some of those Chicago department stores have raised their girls' wages 50 cents per week. How can a girl go wrong with $3 jingling in her pocket every pay night!

Pennsylvania legislature contemplates a law for the reading of the Bible in the public schools. Might benefit some, if backed up by a law for reading the criminal statutes in the Pennsylvania legislature.

In 1912 one bride in ten, in California, had previously figured on one or the other side of a divorce case, while the marriages of ladies who have always been maidens are decreasing.

A Chinaman told a Spokane police judge that he drove a crippled horse so as not to break the speed limit ordinance. Every day one reads of things making one regret giving up his horse for an infernal machine that won't run at all unless it can break the speed ordinance.

OLD FOLKS FIND NEW REMEDY RELIEVES ALL KIDNEY AND BLADDER MISERIES

Drives Rheumatic Pains Away, Relieves Backache and Bladder Disorders After a Few Doses Are Taken

Sleep disturbing bladder weakness, backache, rheumatism, and the many other kidney ailments which so commonly come with declining years, need no longer be a source of dread and misery to those who are past the middle age of life.

The new discovery, Croxone, relieves all such disorders because it removes the very cause of the trouble. It soaks right into the kidneys, through the walls and linings, cleans out the little filtering glands and cells, and gives the kidneys new strength to do their work properly. It neutralizes and dis-

LAUGH AND GROW FAT--

The Junior Office Boy

n. y., mundy - a friend of mine that lives up in Harlem had a very dismal experience with a dog

a man sold him the dog on 6th av. the man had the dog on the end of a string, and it was trying to bite into a baby carriage

so it could bite the baby is that a savage dog, my friend asked

no, said the man, he is just hungry, he aint had his breakfast yet, and that is a nice fat baby well, says my friend, I want a watchdog, do you think he would bite after burglars the same like he does after babies if I keep him kind of hungry sure mike, answers the man, biting burglars is his middle name also he is a useful dog in the daytime, he is very handy around the house

so my friend bought him, which was the dog's name, and took him home, and his wife was tickled to death

she had been carrying newspapers and packages and one thing and another all over the place, and showing him off to everybody

a few nights ago my friend and his wife heard a noise, and he went downstairs to see if it was burglars bimeby he come up again well, was it burglars, says his wife

yes, it was, he replies, and they got away my goodness, she says, what was nerg doing all the time, why didnt he bark

he was too busy to bark, says my friend, he was carrying a lantern around for the burglars

When a man picks up a New York paper these days he's inclined to believe that one-half the population of that town is confessing and the other half is going to Europe.

JOSH WISE SAYS: "News filters through from Washington that C. O. Rogers is an Mockklier, after grapplin' with th' mighty problems that confront a statesman, is sufferin' with brain fag. Considerable relief is felt, however, at th' thought that in his case it will be impossible fer th' dimes to secure much of a foothold."

Suburban Life

NIX ON THAT, IT'S A WEED

'Tis now the poor suburbanite puts in his garden seeds, and sparrows come and eat them all.

But never touch the weeds.

And then she lied. With wonderful felicity and rare charm of manner she lied. Having lied once she must needs lie again.

Of course, the end came. Like a thunderbolt out of a clear sky the husband learned that She was a Thief.

She told him then why. What he did, what she did afterwards is part of a great story; a story which, so the reports state, made New York city, caloused, hardened and cold as She is—shed real tears."

The tale is told by living, breathing people all this week at the Seattle Theatre.

"The Thief" opens tonight, but it will be useless for any reader of this paper to go to-night, for the reason that "I suppose John D. Rockefeller is as saving a man as the world ever has seen."

"Indeed he is. He not only saves his own money, but everybody else's."

What has become of the old-fashioned woman who used to pour kerosene on the kingly to start the kitchen fire?

"I thought you said you were not going to move this spring."

"That's right. That's what I said."

"But your wife tells me she is looking for a house and that you'll move if she finds one that pleases her."

"That's why we're not going to move."

Some men hope for the best, but make the mistake of preparing for nothing else.

Have you noticed what a lot of women are wearing those hats sold by suffragets for $1? Neither have we.

the big theatre at Third and Cherry st. is sold out already. But on Tuesday night or any night this week you have an opportunity to see a play which made a profound impression wherever it has been produced.

It should be said in passing that the Seattle theatre is not in the "Theatrical Trust" and therefore instead of paying $1.00 to $2.50 per seat one may see this play at 20c, 30c and 50c. The matinees, which are given on Thursday, Saturday and Sunday, cost a quarter for any seat in the house. "The Thief" will be staged in a sumptuous manner, and critics declare that the Bailey & Mitchell productions are fully equal to anything shown by the Combine.

It is expected that "The Thief" will break all records for this Popular Play House.

The Editor's Mail

It Stirs Him Up Editor The Star: Some time ago an article appeared in The Star that appealed to me as an exemplary discussion of waste, and whether it was a philanthropic desire on the part of some idle rich to spend money for the performance of some useless duty.

The labor of those that make the cruise an ideal one, aside from ministering to their masters' wants and tolling solely for his pleasure, is about as productive a toll as carrying stones from one side of a field to the other and then returning them.

The idle rich are very well satisfied that their servants should enjoy all of the "honor of toll" while they derive all of the pleasure of it. Wealth wantonly squandered for individual pleasure, if it involves the labor of others, is just as truly wasted as if sunk into the sea.

We find so many thousands of people contributing to the happiness and pleasure of a few others, while they themselves will never enjoy that pleasure.

If it was but possible for us all to do our part of the productive toll which creates all wealth our hours of toil would be shorter, our hours of recreation and development be longer and our pleasure be greater than they are now, when it is necessary to labor for the pleasure of a few abnormal beings that pose as men and even as philanthropists if the duties they exact of us seem useless.

Some well-to-do American families of today require the services of more valets and maids to "assist" to their personal wants than an African prince.
