

DON'T MISS THIS!

It is the first of "OUR SATURDAY SHORT STORIES FOR SUMMER" to come from the pen of Gouverneur Morris, the famous tale-teller. It is called "Captain England," and, oh, but it is chock-full of adventure and romance—the real kind—PIRATES AND LOVE. And it will be superbly illustrated by the greatest of all the pen and ink illustrators of America—James Montgomery Flagg.

"Golden, great, glorious, beautiful," he cried. His voice blazed up as if it had caught fire. "Give me your hand," said Lady Pelham, as she stepped onto the sand.

This is the great climax of the really wonderful short story The Star will print next Saturday, June 28.

Sound the long roll for the adventure on Gettysburg! The boys in blue had holes in their shoes. The gray detachment had no shoes at all. Before the sun went down the Iron Brigade battle started on that summer afternoon, in hope of foraging footwear. ### GONZALES ON TRIAL

Pedro Gonzales, charged with killing Peter Camilla at Fort Lawton a year ago, and convicted last November of murder in the second degree, was again put on trial before Judge Cushman today. A new trial had been granted some time ago. Tuesday a motion was filed by Gonzales' attorneys to quash the indictment on the ground that since Gonzales was tried once for the same offense, he cannot be placed in jeopardy again.

Get This Fine Safety Razor—It's Free

To those thousands of men who shave themselves, The Star has an offer that must appeal. We have made arrangements whereby we are able to offer a fine shaving outfit absolutely free with each yearly subscription to The Star at the regular price of $3.25. This outfit consists of the razor itself, seven guaranteed blades, a fine nicked shaving brush and a Colgate shaving stick, all packed in a neat and serviceable leatherette case. This would probably cost you at least $2.50 if you bought it at retail. By subscribing to The Seattle Star for one year at the regular price of $3.25, you get it absolutely free.

Like Fred and Boalt
Editor's Note: We didn't do this was sent in by a reader.

We bar the Japs and Chinese, and talk of the yellow peril, but there is no law to bar a hundred million of these Hindus, should they care to come to the Pacific coast. Over 200 came to Seattle yesterday on the Great Northern liner Minnesota.

"There is no law barring Hindus," said the commissioner of immigration, when asked what he would do with this nondescript crowd of Asiatics. "Each one will be examined. No specific amount of money is necessary to secure admission to this country, but we take into consideration all conditions and what the applicant expects to do."

Ten years ago there were no Hindus on the Pacific coast, except an occasional "fakir," or Hindu doctor.

Today there are several thousand. It is a common sight to see six or a dozen of them trailing along the street, East Indian fashion.

It is the same way with the Japanese. Before 1895 there were so few that people stopped to look at them on the street.

Today there are 60,000 in California, 10,000 in Oregon, and 20,000 in Washington.

The Japanese came here because they said Japan was overcrowded and a famine threatened.

The Hindus have a much better excuse. East India is not only overcrowded, but it is jammed. Famine is not only threatened, but a fearful fact.

All of the objections raised against the Chinese and Japs pale into insignificance when compared with those against the East Indians.

THEY BREED LIKE RATS, LIVE IN SQUALOR, AND DIE BY THE MILLION OF PLAGUE AND STARVATION.

The East Indian has lived for so many centuries in poverty and oppression that he has reached a plane much lower than that of the Japanese. Grown men marry baby girls six and eight years old.

British Columbia awakened to the peril early, and after two or three anti-Hindu demonstrations, a rule was made preventing their sailing on vessels bound for Canadian ports. But they are still welcome in the United States.

The population of East India is 316,000,000. It is estimated that if 100,000,000 emigrated, the rest would have a good chance to earn a living.

PRESIDENT IS AN AGITATOR, GERMAN NEWSPAPER SAYS

By United Press Leased Wire. BERLIN, June 25.—A lecturing socialist, who is convinced that he must reform the world, is the characterization of President Wilson, applied here today by the National Zeitung, in an editorial on Wilson's latest message to congress. The article, under the heading, "The New Danger," says: "God help anyone who still doubts that President Wilson is one of the most dangerous agitators of modern times."

STAR LIBEL CASE UP TODAY

John H. Perry, attorney for The Star and general counsel for the Scripps Northwest league of newspapers, has filed a demurrer to the indictment returned by the recent grand jury against the editor of The Star, and arguments will be heard in Judge Ronald's court this afternoon, beginning at 1:30.

Attorney Perry contends that the article complained of as being a libel on Commissioner Hamilton is not libelous in that it is the report of a semi-public organization about a public official, and therefore is privileged matter. Further, he will argue that the article itself does not contain libel, and that it does not specifically accuse Hamilton, but the whole board of commissioners.

THE RECALL ON GUDIHEE FAILS

The recall of Sheriff Gudihue, planned by the striking shingle weavers in Ballard and the coal miners in Renton, has collapsed because Prosecuting Attorney Murphy has notified County Auditor Phelps that the charges against the sheriff are not sufficient.

DR. J. ALLEN SMITH of the University of Washington will speak at the Rainier Beach Emerson school this evening under the auspices of the Rainier Beach Women's club. The subject of his address will be "A Century's Progress Toward Popular Government."

ENUMCLAW HEN TRIES TO BARK; IT HAS THE RABIES

From Our Special Correspondent. ENUMCLAW, Wash., June 25.—A hen with the rabies is the strange sight on the farm of Wesley Donoho, near here. Many Enumclaw people have seen the hen, and Donoho is carefully keeping it penned up. Rabies among hens had never been heard of before around here. A few weeks ago a mad dog got into the poultry yard and bit the now afflicted hen. Recently the hen began running and pecking at the other chickens. It went into strange fits, falling on its back, sometimes lying like dead and squawking in imitation of a dog's bark upon reviving.

FEDERAL GRAND JURY IS CALLED

That the government intends to take up an investigation of conditions at McNell's island penitentiary, against which serious charges have been made by inmates, is believed to be the cause of a special grand jury to be convened in Seattle in a few weeks. Announcement of the special grand jury has been made by United States Attorney Riddell, following a conference with Judge Cushman. A grand jury is to be called in Tacoma next Tuesday, and the special grand jury will be convened after this regular grand jury completes its work.

TWO EMPLOYEES HELD IN BIG WAREHOUSE THEFT

Charged with pocketing proceeds from cash sales, Frank Page Tustin, shipping clerk, and George Conning, warehouse foreman, are held without bail here today for thefts from Galbraith, Bacon & Co., wholesale grain dealers, said to be between $30,000 and $50,000. Both men were old and trusted employees. Tustin has confessed to his share of the robberies, according to Captain of Detectives Tennant, but Conning denies knowledge of the theft, although implicated by Tustin. Tustin's share in the thefts, according to his alleged confession to Capt. Tennant, amounted to but approximately $500. He denies that the Galbraith-Bacon Co. lost the thousands of dollars claimed by the officials of the company. Watched for Weeks. The men were trapped by Burns' detectives after weeks of watching. A detective was sent to the warehouse in the guise of a farmer and bought $21.50 worth of grain with marked coin. Tustin was arrested on this case. Both men are married. Tustin, who is 28 years old, lives with his wife and baby at 2077 E. Howe st.

WHAT? VACATION FOR OUR FIREMEN? NO, NEVER! BUT THE JUDGES GET THEIRS

Seattle firemen will get no vacation this year.

It would cost $15,000 to give the 516 men in the department two weeks' rest. Substitute firemen would have to be hired. There are no substitutes now, on account of the increase caused by the double-platoon system which went into effect this year.

Moreover, the council would have to pass an ordinance appropriating the necessary $15,000, and the council, for reasons of its own, will not do that.

So the 516 members of the fire department will have to forego the usual two weeks' vacation accorded to other county and city employes.

And while 516 firemen will go without a TWO WEEKS' VACATION FOR LACK OF $15,000, the nine superior court judges will take a TWO MONTHS' VACATION, WHICH WILL COST APPROXIMATELY $14,000.

And, strangely enough, practically the same taxpayers who will save $15,000 by refusing the firemen a vacation, will be out nearly that amount on account of judges' vacations.

WHY IS IT?

DON'T NEED TO PROVE TRUTH IN LIBEL CASE

Over the objection of Deputy Prosecutor Steele, Judge Humphries this morning ruled that Alden J. and C. B. Blithen of the Times Printing company were not required, in defense of the libel suit against them, to prove the truth of the article published by them October 4. In that article, Joseph Jarvis, chairman of the socialist party for King county, was charged with absconding with $1,000 collected at the Debs meeting held in September. The court held that the article related to a public matter and that the defense had a right to show it was not published with malicious intent. Only two witnesses were called by the state, after a jury consisting of seven women and five men were selected. Only four jurors were challenged. The defense asked the jurors if they were members of the socialist party or whether they belonged to "any organization inimical to the government of the United States." Joseph Blithen, the first witness called by the state, testified to the staff organization of the Times. Joe Jarvis was then called and asked but three questions. He said his name was Jarvis, that he was in Seattle or the very day the alleged libel was published, and that he read the article. Alden J. Blithen, editor of the Times, was then called by the defense, and he explained the circumstances by which he was led to publish the article. He did not attempt to claim its truth. Steele objected, as a departure from the issue of the case, to references made by Walter Fulton, attorney for defense, concerning Hulet M. Wells, socialist candidate for mayor, leader of the faction to which Jarvis belonged. Fulton repeatedly charged Wells with saying that the American flag was a "dirty rag." Judge Humphries overruled Steele's objections.
