Another Record-Making Sale of Sample "Onyx" Hosiery

Began This Morning. The name "Onyx" is sufficient endorsement to make this, our second Sample Sale of "Onyx" Hosiery, a world-beater. For the benefit of our new patrons and those of you who came too late the last time—looking for Onyx Hose after they were all sold—the following explanation will be quite appropriate:

Twice each year the Onyx people dispose of their entire accumulation of samples—branded and unbranded. We being large sellers of Onyx goods were given an opportunity to purchase a certain portion. 300 dozen were allotted us and they arrived just in time for our July Clearance Sale. We have divided them into two lots and we think both lots are even better than those we gave you last season.

Janie Twists Tom's Poor Heart as Easily as Wheel of His Auto

Another Pictured Fable From Alice Goddard

By Alice Goddard.

Grandmother raises her hands in horror and mother stifles a sigh as they hear the distant honk-honk of Tom's machine, for h'avent they just seen it driving past WITH JANIE AT THE WHEEL? "In my time," says grandmother, "it was thought unwomanly for a girl to drive a horse, and I am sure that Tom will think Janie forward even if he allows himself to be persuaded to let her drive the car."

BRING ON YOUR BETTER BABIES

This state will hold its first BETTER-BABIES CONTEST at the WASHINGTON STATE FAIR, in North Yakima, on Sept. 29 to Oct. 1. Prizes amounting to $500 cash, exclusive of medals and certificates, are offered to the highest-scoring babies. The WASHINGTON STATE FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS contributes $100 of this and the remainder has been appropriated by the Washington state fair.

CHINESE ANGRY

PANAMA, July 21.—The Chinese situation which has arisen in this republic rivals the Japanese question of California, and is quite likely to involve the United States more or less seriously before it is settled. New laws, directed against the Chinese residents of Panama, recently passed, together with official decrees issued by President Ferras, will practically isolate the Chinese out of this section of Central America, a spot where they have been steadily growing in numbers for many years.

PAROLE PRISONERS

OLYMPIA, July 21.—One prisoner will be granted a pardon August 1, from the Monroe reformatory, as the result of the recent meeting of the board of managers.

NORMAN AND ARTIST EWER LOOK OVER N'YAWK'S DRESSY MALE GUYS

By Norman. NEW YORK, July 21.—The latest fashions, On Fifth av., naturally. The latest eccentricities in male attire? On Broadway. That's the difference. Lots of odd sights to be seen of horn or tortoise shell, that midsummer afternoons. If you want to know the very, positively, undoubtedly just-thought-of thing in straw hats, just glimpse the figure with the specs. The brim is something like a soup-plate with a serrated edge. The gentleman, as he was sketched, was standing in front of the Holland house, than which there is no more classy place to stand in all N'York.

Cop Disguised as Woman Loses False Hair and Corsets in Fight But Captures 'Jack the Hugger'

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., July 21.—(Spl.)—Policeman Vining of this city lost his back hair and combs, his picture hat, and broke his corsets while pounding George L. Walz, confessedly a "Jack the Hugger," into submission. The prisoner later offered pleas of guilty to two charges of having made felonious assaults on women. Policeman Vining assumed woman's clothes and entrapped the real "hugger." That a woman was with an escort wouldn't stop Walz. He would pounce on a couple, flashing a revolver, arrest the young woman and order her escort away. Then he would attack the woman.

Bequeathed 600 Wives; Picks One

LONDON, July 21.—The king of Siam has given the German kaiser one better by blossoming forth as a dramatist, according to messages from Bangkok. Left a legacy of 600 sorrowing widows by his father, the king, who was educated at Oxford, has been leading a model one-wife life, and reserving his energies to endow and open a national theatre for the benefit of his subjects. His first dramatic effort was an adaptation of Moliere's "Bourgeois Gentilhomme."

NORMAN AND ARTIST EWER LOOK OVER N'YAWK'S DRESSY MALE GUYS

They Call It Art in Clothes Back There, but Thank Heaven, the Things Haven't Reached Seattle Yet

By Norman. Note, as exhibit B, the present mode in facial glassware—the heaviest, most distorting rims, or horn or tortoise shell, that can be draped around a pair of lenses, and a ribbon a trifle wider than the necktie. Also, the beltless Norfolk, peg-top trousers, square-toed, flat-soled shoes and near-invisible cane. All are the newest modes. The next-to-the-latest great vogue at the beginning of the season—a very narrow brim, a very narrow band, and is constructed of arched straw plaits. Any male person over 22 years of age who put on one of these things makes himself look more like a hopeless idiot than he could in any other way except having his brains stripes of black, dark-blue or purple, on a white ground, are being much worn. The newest scarfs are very summery—made of some lace-like material that is quite transparent. Long-point collars, of the sort affected by their vogue, extremists displaying the points outside the coat lapels. Checks are all the go in suitings, and men's clothes are being made ALMOST as tight as women's. The high stock tie, of the sort affected (in his portraits) by Mr. Pickwick, was until recently worn only with evening clothes, or with the one-button cutaway, but of late is being seen along the Riatio in conjunction with sack coats and negligee shirts. Spats are perhaps THE distinguishing mark of the man with whom clothes are an art rather than a passion. White spats, worn with black shoes and dark trousers, are seen only here and there on Fifth av. and never at all on Broadway.
