

SEATTLE BOY MAY GET CHANCE AGAINST KILBANE

O'LEARY GOES ON FOR HOME FOLKS

Johnnie O'Leary, devastator of second rate featherweights, and aspirant to the title now held by Champion Johnny Kilbane, was in Seattle Tuesday.

Three attempts were made to bring O'Leary and Frenchie Vaise together in California, Purcell says. Vaise was last offered a chance at Johnnie in San Francisco for Dec. 26, a bout which would have netted the Reuton boy approximately $1,250.

Looks Like Lightweight The Irish lad has every appearance of being a genuine lightweight. From waist up he is now decidedly muscular.

Kilbane and Attell have agreed to meet Feb. 28 in San Francisco. Attell is now having his eyes examined, the weights, demanding that the champion weigh in at the 122-pound mark.

Say Vaise is Afraid Billy Chapman, Chet Neff and Danny Lyons each took a crack at the visitor. Neff put up a creditable exhibition.

O'Leary got his start under Lonnie Austin, when the latter was boxing instructor for the Seattle Athletic club. That was five years ago. He is 20 years old and proud of the fact that he's a native son.

DUG CLAIMS HIS PENNANT EARLY

Of course the Seattle Ball club is going to cop the 1914 Northwest League pennant. There's not the slightest doubt as to that.

But the question is, what particular club may be expected to give us the fidgets now and then. Dug has figured out that Portland will be second best to the Duglets.

Portland will start the season with only two regulars missing, Fletcher Hynes and Utility Player Hellman, says Dug. "They will have the same team at the jump that gave Vancouver a scrap for the 1913 pennant, and which would have copped the flag had the season been extended a couple of weeks.

David Bancroft, who played with the Portland Colts the majority of the 1913 season, joining the Portland Coastiers at the flag end of the year, will not be back in a Colt uniform next season. President W. W. McCredie has already mailed Bancroft a contract to play with the champions next year. Bancroft ranked in a class by himself as a fielding shortstop in the Northwest league. His hitting was inconsistent, though.

For his failure to come through with the right brand of ball playing last season, Charley O'Leary, with the St. Louis Cardinals, has been sentenced to the San Francisco club.

Cy Falkenberg, fadeaway flinger of the Christian Naps, is out with an assertion that he will request Manager Birmingham to let him bat third in the Nap line-up next season, in order that he may enjoy the sensation of scoring a run. Cy was in 26 battles last year and never got beyond the third station. During the 36 games he polled 19 hits and drew a like number of walks.

According to reports from Brooklyn Charles Schmidt, the former Seattle high flier, and last season with the Vancouver Beavers, from where he was grabbed by the Brooklyn Nationals, will be put through a thorough test by Manager Robinson.

I have heard considerable of Schmidt's ability as a spit-baller," Robinson is reported to have said, "and believe he will make good up here. He will be given every chance to deliver."

How many runs win a ball game? Bill Burns, the sleepy southpaw, said when he went to the Detroit Tigers for his last try in the big leagues, "Give me four runs and I'll be a winning pitcher."

Four runs would have won many games for the Seattle pitchers in the closing stages of the 1913 pennant races. Our batsmen were astoundingly stingy with their hits, however, and for a while the locals failed to average better than two tallies per game.

Giving heed to Burns' statement, Detroit usually gave him four tallies per game, but he wasn't a winner. Still, his theory that four runs will win a game is the usually accepted one, and it is borne out almost exactly by the figures of the American League last season. The A. L. average for the season follows:

Table with columns: Team, G, R, Av. per game. Rows include Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland, Detroit, Washington, New York, St. Louis, Chicago.

A team composed of major league veterans who have seen 11 years of major league service could give a good account of itself if placed in the field, even against such a great ball club as the Philadelphia Athletics.

Hans Wagner, first base; Napoleon Lajoie, second base; Joe Tinker, shortstop, and Bobby Wallace, third base, would form a pretty fair infield.

Fred Clark, left field; Tommy Leach, center field, and Sam Crawford, right field, would make a very nifty outfield. The pitchers would be Christy Mathewson and Earl Moore. Billy Sullivan would have to be pressed into service to perform behind the bat. Bill has faded somewhat, but would be sure to give a good account of himself in such a battle.

That's a great bunch of ball players, and if you'll take the trouble to think you'll find that those who are still considered great stars are "there" because they took great care of themselves.

CLAIMING A TITLE A man there was with a pair of gloves And a pair of trunks and a pair of pants Who'd had a no-decision fight or two, Who'd joined the middle-walting crew; He learned the game just like the rest, And modestly thought himself the best; In time he acquired sufficient gall And claimed the championship—that's all.

When Charley Carr started his baseball career in Texas last season, the proposition was regarded rather lightly by baseball men, but the school attracted so many good minor league ball players that the baseball university is now taken seriously by club owners. Carr, an experienced player, is quick to see a youngster's shortcomings, and coaches him shortly to overcome his weaknesses.

The baseball scouts have been ordered to go there next spring and look over the talent. Many of them are "there" because they took great care of themselves.

DR. E. J. BROWN DENTIST

713 First Ave., Union Block

ROBBED BY A DENTIST ON FIRST AVENUE

People come to my office every day and complain about being robbed of their money by some dentist on First av., representing himself to be Dr. E. J. Brown, or his assistant.

BEWARE OF THIS thief who steals my patients and lives off my reputation. MY OFFICES are at 713 First Ave., Union Block

I can guarantee to save you just one dollar every time you pay me a dollar for dental work. I saw no end of trouble. Operations were plainly useless. I simply despaired. My mother, upon visiting the Carmelite Convent to pray for me, was urged by one of the nuns to take me to Dr. Eugene Jordan, and she did. The result was that Doctor Jordan made me a complete cure without the knife, and the old painful scars even vanished. This has been several years ago. There is no sign of tubercular glands. It is my turn now to recommend Doctor Jordan, and I do so with great pleasure.

(Signed) CAPT. MICHAEL MEAGER, Regenta Apartments, 205.

The above testimonial, like the many others which have appeared in this journal, demonstrates the thoroughness and permanency of Doctor J. Eugene Jordan's cures of Tuberculosis, Anemia, Blindness, Bright's Disease, Ulceration of the Bones, Chronic Catarrh, Chronic Inflammation of the Bladder, Deafness from paralysis of the Auditory Nerves, Diabetes, Protrusion of the Uterus, Chronic Dyspepsia, Epilepsy, Epithelioma (skin cancers), Chronic Erythema, Chronic Gastritis, Hard Lumps in the Testes, Heart Disease (including Heart Leakage), Hip Disease, Inflammation of the Locomotor Apparatus, Sciatica, Senile Gangrene, Spinal Curvature, Strabismus, St. Vitus' Dance, Ulceration of the Stomach or Bowels, and most other so-called incurable diseases.

Doctor J. Eugene Jordan is a fully accredited physician under the laws of the State of Washington, and is an ex-professor of Chemistry and Toxicology of the Hohmann College and Hospital, Chicago, Ill. He has practiced in Seattle continuously for the past 25 years.

There being a number of Doctors Jordan in Seattle, it is well to bear in mind the full name and address of Doctor J. Eugene Jordan, 819 1/2 First Av., Seattle. Office hours, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.; Sundays from 2 p. m. to 5 p. m. Consultation free. Watch each Wednesday Star for remarkable cures.

Tuberculosis of the Glands Cured

I have been operated on for enlarged tubercular glands, and was laid up for a long time, and my health was falling badly. Soon other glands, enormous in size, developed, and I saw no end of trouble. Operations were plainly useless. I simply despaired. My mother, upon visiting the Carmelite Convent to pray for me, was urged by one of the nuns to take me to Dr. Eugene Jordan, and she did. The result was that Doctor Jordan made me a complete cure without the knife, and the old painful scars even vanished. This has been several years ago. There is no sign of tubercular glands. It is my turn now to recommend Doctor Jordan, and I do so with great pleasure. (Signed) CAPT. MICHAEL MEAGER, Regenta Apartments, 205.

FRATERNITY WINS FIGHT

CINCINNATI, Jan. 7.—The national baseball commission has granted the Baseball Players' Fraternity 15 of its 17 demands, and has taken the two remaining questions, both of minor importance only, under consideration. This was the result of the conference between representatives of the fraternity, the commission and a committee from the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs, held Tuesday. The commission was in session again today to take up several small cases that still remain on its docket.

ers, the demands conceded by the commission far from revolutionize the rules laid down by organized baseball. What was considered the most important request was the granting of an unconditional release to a player who had seen 10 other clubs, in the event that no other club desired his services. The commission agreed to this. A demand that "National association players shall receive ten days' notice before they can be released unconditionally," was modified to include a five-day notice of release to Class AA and Class A players. No notice was taken, in this regard, of leagues in a lower classification.

GUNBOAT'S AN ACTOR NOW

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—Jim Buckley, manager of Tommy Murphy, and Gunboat Smith left today for Los Angeles, where he will remain until Sunday, when Murphy closes his theatrical engagement. Then Murphy and Buckley will return here to prepare for the Ritchie bout Friday night, Jan. 23.

Smith also has accepted a theatrical contract. His engagement begins Sunday, but it has not been definitely settled yet just where he will open and where he will close his engagement. Buckley received an offer yesterday from New York and another from Philadelphia offering Smith engagements in the ring.

SEASON STARTS MANY YEARS AGO

The ball was started rolling in the City High School Basketball league Tuesday afternoon. The champion Broadway quintet invaded the Queen Anne gym, conquering the hill squad, 25 to 13. Lincoln vanquished Franklin in the latter's gym, 21 to 16.
