Huerta Hemmed in by Rebel Leaders

COLLECTS FROM WEALTHY FOR CITY'S DEFENSE

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 9.—President Huerta's position seemed more desperate today than at any time since he seized control of the government.

An attack was in progress in Tampico. Torreon was menaced. Vicente Segura, insurgent, millionaire and ex-bull fighter, was reported preparing to attempt the capture of Pachuca.

Gen. Felipe Angeles, a deserting federal commander, was said to be attacking Mazatlan. It was learned that when Villa confiscated the Terrazas estates in Chihuahua recently, Huerta called the rich local Mexicans' attention to what had been done, adding:

"These rebels are socialists. They believe in such distributions of wealth. I am the only power between them and you. If you expect me to save you you must help me get the money."

AMERICANS DIE IN WRECK

CUMBRE, Mexico, Feb. 9.—Oxygen helmet men were still searching the tunnel here today for bodies of those who perished in the wreck of the passenger train which last week dashed into the big bore and clashed with a freight previously pushed inside and set on fire by bandits under Castillo.

Of the estimated fifty odd on board, it was certain not one survived. Many of the victims were Americans.

GEN. VILLA ON TRAIL

JUAREZ, Feb. 9.—Gen. Villa was here today directing the hunt for Maximo Castillo, the bandit whose destruction of the Camire railroad tunnel was responsible for the wrecking of a train and the loss of more than 50 lives. He had 1,000 men on the bandit's trail.

Y. M. C. A. MEET OVER

VANCOUVER, Wash., Feb. 9.—The three-day session of the Washington-Oregon-Idaho Y. M. C. A. convention was concluded here last night.

SUFFRAGE FAILS AGAINST MAN'S OUTRAGES IN STATE OF COLORADO

Will woman suffrage make good in Colorado? That is the question all the United States is asking today. Will the women who have the vote in that state—will their leaders—demand justice and overrule man's oppression?

These questions have been put up to Mrs. Gertrude A. Lee, chairman of the democratic state committee in Colorado. The governor and his gallant militia generals, who have placed 82-year-old Mother Jones in solitary confinement in a military prison, and who have trampled under their horses' feet women and children in Trinidad, Colo., are members of her party. Her political influence with them is great.

The following is from the Denver correspondent of The Star, who went to Sterling to see Mrs. Lee:

STERLING, Colo., Feb. 9.—Mrs. Gertrude A. Lee, head of the democratic state central committee, doesn't know officially that Mother Jones has been illegally imprisoned or that the Colorado state troops rode down and beat women and children paraders with swords in Trinidad.

So she won't protest and she won't do anything to prove to the millions of women over the land seeking the ballot that she, as suffrage triumphant, will justify all the claims women have made in behalf of equal suffrage.

"I want to do what is right for the party and the women," said Mrs. Lee, who has been recuperating from a nervous attack on a farm near here.

"I don't know that there is anything wrong in the coal strike fields. I want time."

"Do you believe any citizen—man or woman—should be deprived of his constitutional right of personal liberty and free speech without due process of law?" she was asked.

Mrs. Lee evaded the question five times and finally said, "No."

Mrs. Lee will not ask the state committee to do anything about the coal strike that will embarrass Gov. Ammons.

CHURCHES FILLED TO OVERFLOWING

The morning after! Seattle went to work this morning better satisfied with life after attending church yesterday. Everybody went—nearly. A few did not.

Even some of the mayoralty candidates went the day at home. Seattle ministers awoke today with the realization that their effort had been worth the while. Inspired by the increased attendance, ministers everywhere preached with unusual eloquence. No one went to sleep.

An increase of 25% over the usual attendance was announced. Some of the candidates for mayor were caught napping yesterday afternoon when called over the telephone by a Star reporter and asked point blank: "Did you go to church today?"

J. D. Trenholme side-stepped the question with a brusque command to the reporter to "call tomorrow." Sunday is Trenholme's day of rest. He will not discuss "business" on that date.

John C. Slater, of "square deal" all fame, told the reporter to "go to blazes." It pleased him.

Here are some of the answers received Sunday afternoon by The Star to the question, "Did you go to church today?"

GEORGE B. WORLEY—No, I didn't go this morning and I don't think I'll go tonight. My wife is sick.

J. D. TRENHOLME—Who, me? Did I go to church? I don't care to answer today. Call me up tomorrow. I don't talk business on Sunday. It is my day at home.

JUDGE W. D. WOOD, whom the Ministerial association asked to drop out of the mayoralty race, attended the Plymouth Congregational church and enjoyed the service.

AUSTIN E. GRIFFITHS—I certainly did. I took all the members of the family and heard a splendid sermon at the First Presbyterian church.

JOHN C. SLATER—I did NOT! I live every day so that I can look every man in the face and tell him to go to blazes. You got me the first time, didn't you? Straight from the shoulder in my idea. YOU can go to blazes! GOOD-BYE!

A. J. GODDARD—I had a sick headache and couldn't go this morning. I am going tonight to the Edgewater Congregational church.

RICHARD WINSOR—Me? Why, yes, of course I did. I am a Unitarian.

HIRAM C. GILL—Not yet. I am recuperating from loss of sleep for the last ten days.

MAYOR GEO. F. COTTERILL and his mother attended the St. Paul's Episcopal church.

CRAWFORD E. WHITE, deputy prosecutor—I didn't go this morning, but I am sure going to Doctor Matthews' church tonight to make good on this "Goto-church" idea.

JUDGE R. B. ALBERTSON—I don't care to be reported on this subject.

JUDGE MITCHELL GILLIAM—No, I didn't go. I haven't made up my mind whether I'll go tonight or not.

JUDGE J. T. RONALD—Attended the Grace Methodist church with his wife.

JUDGE A. W. FRATER—Indeed, I did. I went to the University Congregational church and heard an excellent sermon.

JUDGE KING DYKEMAN—I took care of the children while the rest of the family went.

JUDGE EVERETT SMITH—Yes, indeed, I went. I attended the service at the Plymouth Congregational church and enjoyed the sermon more than usual. It was good in itself and more inspiring because the church was full.

JUDGE JOHN B. GORDON, of police court—I did, sir. I went to the First Christian church.

BESSIE ABBOTT IN "ROBIN HOOD" WELL RECEIVED

Exceptionally beautiful staging, effective stage settings and a big company of artists, each striving to outdo his fellow, marked the presentation of "Robin Hood," the De Koven comic opera, at the Metropolitan last night.

Vivacious Bessie Abbott, with her thrush-like, delightful voice, and her big company of followers made themselves heartily welcome here in the old but ever-popular entertainment. The show continues throughout the week with matinees.

There was no lack of interest from the time Robin Hood is refused his lawful estates by the pompous sheriff of Nottingham, through the course of the story as Robin joins the honest outlaw band of Little John and Will Scarlet in Sherwood forest and at the last, when he triumphs over his enemy and wins the fair Maid Marian.

No one has cause to wonder why Bessie Abbott, late of the Metropolitan Grand Opera company, was chosen for the title role of Maid Marian as she romps on the stage in a madcap roughing of Friar Tuck, so admirably done by George Frothingham. She dominates in every appearance and is at her best in the Forest Song, standing alone in riding habit in the prettily shown Sherwood forest. She won repeated and tempestuous encores.

Ralph Brinard, as Robin Hood, has a pleasing appearance and added greatly to the pleasure in his duets with Miss Abbott. The Alameda as interpreted by Henriette Wakefield was a feature in itself.

WOMAN FOUND STRANGLED TO DEATH IN HOTEL

PORTLAND, Feb. 9.—The police were confronted with a mystery today in the murder of Anna Madawa, 39, a chambermaid, at the Rheingold hotel, whose body, badly burned in a fire, presumably of incendiary origin, was found last night in her room.

Deep marks on her throat are believed to have been made by a strangler.

Inability of firemen or detectives to find the cause of the fire, which had burned the mattress and bedding and was gaining, when discovered, confirmed them in the arson theory.

Fred Stigman, a porter in the hotel, and E. A. Birdsall, Frank Woodward, Julia Smith, John Wilson, Geo. Trautman and Michael McCarthy, who occupied rooms near the scene of the murder, were taken to the police station.

IS J. D. AFRAID? SEATTLE PAYS RESPECTS TO REDELSHEIMER

Austin E. Griffiths, pronouncing J. D. Trenholme's taxation talk as dealing with a lot of glittering platitudes, has challenged the latter to debate the subject with him, and Trenholme, as on a former occasion, has declined. Trenholme offers the excuse that his campaign managers have dated him up for the rest of the anti-primary period, and he can't spare any time for a debate. Griffiths makes the positive declaration that he will veto any tax levy that is over 15 mills in 1914. He declares he has fought consistently to keep the levy down.

Saved Estate $123.25

The value of trust company administration was emphasized by the recent decision of Judge Dykeman of the superior court, in upholding the Dexter Horton Trust and Savings Bank in a suit brought against it as Administrator of the estate of Joseph Buckley.

An undertaking company had presented a bill of $273.25 for funeral and burial expenses. We refused to pay more than $150.00, which we regarded as a reasonable sum, and in this we have been upheld by the Court.

Thus $123.25 additional goes to the heirs of the estate.
