WIDNEY AND HIS POISONED BRIDE COMING TO TOWN

CHICAGO, March 24.—Recovery of Mrs. Vivian Lyons, pretty Denver divorcee found suffering from poison in a downtown hotel here Sunday night, was predicted today at St. Luke's hospital.

As soon as her condition permits, Robert J. Widney, who says she is his wife, will leave with her for Seattle. Widney denied today he is the son of Judge Robert Widney of Los Angeles.

When it was suggested he was the man whom Mrs. Lyons shot in a San Francisco apartment about a year ago, Widney offered to submit to an examination by police officers to show that he bore no revolver wounds.

"I married this woman several years ago," Widney told the police. "My home is in Seattle. I suppose, in my absence on a business trip to Kansas City, she was nervous and took an overdose of some sleeping potion."

The Seattle city directory contains no such name as Robt. J. Widney.

HOTEL TO BLAME IF GUESTS LOSE GOODS, IS RULING

Is the proprietor of a lodging house where no meals are served an innkeeper?

Such was the question upon which suit, brought by E. F. Villalor against Jesse F. Russell, proprietor of the Welcome hotel, 517 1/2 Jackson st., hinged.

Justice of Peace John B. Wright decided in favor of the plaintiff, holding Russell was an innkeeper, and therefore was responsible for articles stolen from Villalor's room.

Heretofore lodging-house guests have had to stand their own losses.
