

Cockroaches Rats and Mice

Nothing is more disagreeable than a home infested with vermin. Destroy them with Stearns Electric Rat and Roach Paste, the standard exterminator for thirty-five years.

It kills off rats, mice and cockroaches in a single night. Does not blow away like powders; ready for use, nothing to mix. The only exterminator sold under an absolute guarantee of money back if it fails.

Directions in 15 languages in every package. Two sizes: 25c and $1.00. Sold by retailers everywhere.

TOOTH TALK

Tooth Troubles Ended

The Ohio Method of restoring missing teeth without the aid of partial plates by our hygienic bridge work insures the man or woman who has this remarkable work put in for them against further teeth troubles of any kind.

Think of that! No more toothache, no more sore gums, caused by wobbly, ill-fitting partial plates, no more torture from those bridges set in between the teeth, which are constantly pushing the pier teeth away when the victim bites on them without thinking; no more tooth troubles. From the very day the teeth are put in place and anchored solid as nature's teeth (and just as good looking and comfortable as ever the natural teeth were) the patient begins to use them.

One man left our office one afternoon about 5 o'clock and within an hour was enjoying the first beefsteak he had eaten in years.

Another wanted corn on the cob and another to bite into a big, juicy apple—all of them have some form or other in the eating line which they wish to enjoy again after being forced to go without for years because they had no teeth to chew with.

We will give you the teeth and guarantee our work with a substantial guarantee that means something.

The Ohio Method is entirely different from anything else offered and is the one great advance in dental science of the present century.

Partial plates and the "between teeth" bridges are makeshifts. They simply fill up the gaps between the teeth; the former are everlastingly coming out at inopportune times and the latter are always sore and insupportable, as food lodges between and underneath them and decays them, breeding disease and foul breath.

We require three or more teeth in either jaw to work from, and given these, can give you a perfect set, upper and lower. The genuine Ohio Method is only to be obtained in our office.

If you live near enough to our office come for a free examination and diagnosis of your teeth by one of our examining dentists.

Teeth don't grow better, but on the contrary, grow worse every day they are let alone. Bad teeth or no teeth breed dyspepsia and other evils, so don't put off your visit. The work is painless, we don't bore into the gums, don't implant the new teeth, don't cause you any discomfort. Nothing about the Ohio Method to fear, and once it is completed, your tooth troubles are ended.

We are general practitioners in all branches of dentistry—Gold Crowns, Gold Inlays, Porcelain Fillings, Amalgam Fillings, Hygienic Bridge Work.

PREACHER-BARTENDER SERVES RELIGION WITH HIS DRINKS

CINCINNATI, O., April 28.—"Here's to temperance! May it never become prohibition!" says Harry Schreiber, 40, "chaplain" of the Bartenders' union and financial secretary of the Hoboes' Union of America, but better known as "The Preacher Bartender."

Schreiber always carries a Bible catechism with him and sometimes questions the fellow who buys a drink. He officiates at bartenders' funerals, prays aloud at each of their meetings, preaches sermons to them and admonishes them in Holy Writ.

"When a man's full, never give him another whisky," says Schreiber. "Make it a seltzer, and, if he's very 'stewed,' he will never know the difference. That's putting religion into your business."

"If a man wants a drink he should have it, but no one should get drunk." Schreiber is a student of finance, too. When a "brother bo" passes through Cincinnati he visits Schreiber and pays his dues of 10 cents a year.

"A hobo is a man who walks from place to place seeking work. When he stops seeking work he isn't a hobo any more and has no right to that honorable name," says Schreiber.

CENTINA GREY AND HER CORRESPONDENTS

Q.—Having complete faith in your wonderful interpretation regarding affairs of the heart, I wish you would help me in my case. I am deeply in love with our postman. That is, he is only a substitute carrier as yet, but is an exceptionally good one, for our mail is always timely. He is a very handsome young man of military bearing, with an attitude of manner born to command. He has the aggressive features of a Roman patrician, and everybody likes him, for he is very kind, good-hearted, and seems to have a fine schooling of human nature. Hoping to receive an answer soon, I remain,

A.—In your eulogy of the postman, of patrician, military bearing, you have neglected to ask a single question; hence my inability to answer.

Q.—I see in your columns that you give advice on a good many different subjects. So I would be very much obliged if you could help me in the following matters: People say that I have adenoids. If so, would they have anything to do toward causing imperfect speech? Although I do not stammer badly, I cannot converse with people without having some trouble. Could you suggest any way of

A.—I see in your columns that you give advice on a good many different subjects. So I would be very much obliged if you could help me in the following matters: People say that I have adenoids. If so, would they have anything to do toward causing imperfect speech? Although I do not stammer badly, I cannot converse with people without having some trouble. Could you suggest any way of

Q.—We are two girls of 14 and 16, and have two boy friends whom we think a lot of. Now, we do not know whether they like us or not, and we would very much like to know how to find out. Now, Miss Grey, we are not love-sick, as some people call it, but just friends. Our parents like these boys very much because they are many. Do you think it wrong if the boys wear our rings and we wear theirs? We hope you will answer this soon, and we await your answer eagerly.

A.—Yes, adenoids interfere with correct speech. It is a simple operation to have them removed, but would advise none but a first-class surgeon.

I do not think tickling a child will cause stammering, but I do think it very unwise and unhealthful.

Q.—We are two girls of 14 and 16, and have two boy friends whom we think a lot of. Now, we do not know whether they like us or not, and we would very much like to know how to find out. Now, Miss Grey, we are not love-sick, as some people call it, but just friends. Our parents like these boys very much because they are many. Do you think it wrong if the boys wear our rings and we wear theirs? We hope you will answer this soon, and we await your answer eagerly.

A.—There is no way of telling whether or not a person likes one, except by the person's actions—and sometimes not then. Why are you so anxious if you are just chums? Do you have the same anxiety about your girl friends?

If you can exchange rings just as two girls would, I see no harm, except the danger of losing another's jewelry. I have known of such cases, and personally prefer to wear my own rings and allow others to do the same. I hope you will remain very sensible little girls.

Q.—I wrote to you once before and received an answer, so I am going to take the liberty to answer, or rather, give my opinion in answer to a question in your column signed "Everybody's Friend."

Of course, I am a boy, and my opinion may not be so good as some are. I think that the girl who wrote is one of the very few girls that anybody, boy or girl, should be proud to call friend. She should pay no attention to the gossip. Any one who will run down another person is always a good deal worse than the person they are talking about. I think that girl is one in a thousand, and I would be glad to call her my friend. Yours and her friend, JAMES.

A.—I agree with you, James, that gossips are committing just as great mistakes as the ones they condemn. There is no law of which I know that works with greater precision than, "With what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again, pressed down and running over." If we want good measure, we must measure out good to others.

Q.—Thanking you for the points you gave me on "Fire and Water," will you please tell me what you think of Puyallup being annexed to Tacoma. I think it would be great, but I want your points for a debate. Do not throw this in the waste basket, for I want your ideas. Thanking you,

A.—Puyallup is a little too far distant to make her annexation to Tacoma feasible at present, but when the proper time arrives it will undoubtedly be a good thing for both.

Q.—I would like very much to have a good recipe for making maple fudge, as I have some maple sugar. I have looked in a number of cook books for it, but failed to find it.

Q.—I am very much obliged to you for the recipe.

Q.—I came to this country in 1882 and got my first papers in Philadelphia, but lost them. In 1902 I got a duplicate of my first paper, and I never tried to get my second papers. Can I take out my second papers right now, or must I wait 90 days? I will be grateful for any information.

A.—If you will go to the naturalization bureau, federal building, Third and Union, and state your case to the authorities, they will be very glad to advise you correctly.

Q.—Will you kindly name five of the greatest manufacturing countries in order of their wealth?

A.—United States, Great Britain, France, Germany and Russia.

Q.—I am almost 20 years old, and am engaged to a young man a few years my senior. My parents object to the marriage; they don't want me to get married at all. Couldn't I marry without their consent? If I do could they in any way part us?

A.—My mother declares I am not of age until I am 21. Thanking you, I am,

A.—A girl becomes legally of age at 18. If your parents will not give their consent to your marriage, you may marry any way, and they cannot cause you trouble. It is parents' duty to advise their sons and daughters, but that advice should not go to the extent of interference.

Q.—Will you kindly suggest an appropriate name for a sewing club of a dozen or so small girls? Please have no more than three words.

A.—How do you like these suggestions: Busy Bees, Thimble Club, Needlecraft, Sunshine Workers?

Q.—Is there any way window shades may be cleaned?

A.—To clean window shades, sponge them with gasoline.

Q.—I come to you with my difficulty. I am a girl of 18 and have a large mole on one side of my neck. I have tried in various ways to remove it such as applying peroxide, etc., but without success. This causes me much annoyance, can you tell me how to remove it?

A.—It is dangerous for one inexperienced to attempt to remove moles, as they are often deep-rooted. They can be successfully removed by electricity or the surgeon's knife. You had best consult a specialist.
