BOYS, HOW'D YOU LIKE TO GET SHOT AND HAVE THIS NURSE?

OAKLAND, May 11.—Miss Hazel Gibson of this city wants to go to war as a Red Cross nurse. She is the granddaughter of Countess d'Aperly, better known as Olive Har per, playwright and magazine writer. Miss Gibson is a student nurse of the Trinity hospital in San Francisco. Previous to entering the hospital she went to New York and studied pen and ink sketching under Nell Brinkley. She is also a clever dancer, having studied under a noted master in the East, but she prefers nursing or sketching to a stage career. "I want to go to Mexico so much," said Miss Gibson yesterday. "It is the only way a woman ever can do anything worth while for her country. It would be such a privilege to be allowed to care for the nation's wounded heroes."

HE PROVES WOODS FULL OF MOOSERS

"The county is thick with bull moosers," said J. A. Johnson today and Johnson can prove it. Johnson is a member of the King county executive committee, and was charged with the duty of arranging the speaking program for last Saturday. "C. A. Riddle, the attorney, is a fine speaker," said Johnson. "I'll ring him up." The man who answered the phone said he would speak on "The Trust Question." But when the meeting was called it wasn't C. A. Riddle who spoke, but C. F. Riddell, former United States district attorney. "I got the wrong number," said Johnson, "but what's the difference? The woods are full of bull moosers." Riddell's active affiliation with the progressive party is another one of the joits which have left the standpat party dazed. Riddell was assistant United States district attorney under Beverly Colner, a Taft appointee. Colner, as state chairman of the republican party, engineered the progress of the Taft steam roller at th Aberdeen convention. When Colner got the bounce, with the advent of the Wilson administration, Riddell was named U. S. district attorney and held the office during most of Wilson's first year, until the deadlock among the democrats was broken by the appointment of Clay Allen, the incumbent.

BISHOP RAPS MODERN FASHIONS

An appeal for the simplicity in the fashions and ways of the women of a former age was made by Right Rev. Edward J. O'Dea, bishop of Seattle, in an address before the Knights of Columbus at their club house Sunday night. "What a contrast," said the bishop, "between these mothers and the woman of today. This new woman has fallen from her high estate. She has become hardened, in a sense, from luxuries she worships, and has lost the finer instincts of true and noble womanhood." The Knights will begin their state convention Tuesday. Speeches were also made by Mayor Gill, Maurice D. Leehy, John D. Carmody, John I. O'Phelan, Joseph O'Dell and John M. Boyle.

WOOTEN PANS MEXICAN POLICY

Discussing the Mexican situation, former Congressman Dudley G. Wooten of Texas, in an address before the King County Democratic club, scouted the prospects of peace without military interference. His speech was a mild criticism of the administration's policy, and he declared the Monroe doctrine meant for the United States, as well as European nations, to keep hands off American countries. Wooten says 85 per cent of the Mexicans are incapable of self-government.

Miss Edith Jackson, 16, daughter of Mrs. L. H. Jackson of Vancouver, B. C., on board the steamer Curco, from Coronel, Chile, with her mother, landed a big man-eating shark after a thrilling two-hour battle in the harbor of Puntas Arenas. The shark seized a piece of pork on a line thrown overboard, and struggled for two hours before becoming exhausted. Capt. J. E. Miller shot it as the girl pulled it alongside. The man-eater was 18 1/2 feet long and weighed 1,200 pounds.
