The Chippewa Indian baseball team recently lost a game to the American Giants and blamed the music of the band for their overthrow.

SEATTLE BOY EARNS SPURS WITH NEW YORK UNDER MOST TRYING CIRCUMSTANCES CHARLEY MULLEN, DAILY THREATENED WITH REMOVAL, PLODS AWAY AND MAKES GOOD

Charley Mullen, who graduated from the University of Washington, and who played ball on the University and Broadway high teams, is solid with Frank Chance and the New York fans, where he is now playing first base for the Yankees.

with which Mullen is meeting is well shown in the accompanying article, written by Bozeman Bulger, for the New York World. Bulger is one of the greatest experts on baseball in the country.

By Bozeman Bulger In ball players there are sometimes evidences of greatness other than the mere ability to hit hard, field cleanly and throw accurately. One of those qualities is possessed by Charley Mullen, the young first baseman who has suddenly sprung into popularity with the New York fans.

every way he turned and with all that he stuck it out, playing better ball every day until Frank Chance at last has become his champion.

The Fans Laughed When Young Mullen first came here from Lincoln, Neb., heralded as a wonderful hitter and a finished fielder, the fans smiled one of those "same old stuff" smiles and awaited developments. They really expected him to blow up before the end of a week as others had done before him.

At the start Mullen fell down in his hitting and when he did begin to pick up the news was spread broadcast that the Highlanders had bought Dick Hoblit from Cincinnati and would put him in the game immediately.

"Little sympathy for the young fellow was expressed at first, but when, instead of becoming discouraged, he began to improve, the gang started to root for him.

The Hoblitel talk subsided only to be followed by an announcement that Clarence Kraft, the man of strike fame, and was to have the first base job for the Highlanders.

Again Mullen failed to let the discouragement affect him and practically won both games of a double-header that afternoon.

That display of gameness was appealing. The fans were with him hook, line and sinker this time and made such a protest against what they considered unfairness that the Kraft deal also fell through.

Very few players have had to face the test that has been put up to the Westerner and come through with such flying colors. Today he is probably the most popular man on the club with the fans, as was evidenced by the ovation given him on each of his trips to bat in the last game played between the Highlanders and the Tigers.

Tilks Have Sent Best Players to the Big Leagues

Seattle is leading the other clubs in the Northwest in developing talent for the big leagues. New players sent up by the other teams in the circuit have delivered this season, while considerable fame has come to Seattle as a result of the success of several former players.

the height of the pennant race this season, is considered a find in Cincinnati, for whom he has been performing like a world beater.

Indians Sent Back Spokane contributed a heavy load of likely looking timber to the big show, and save for a single exception, "Shuffling Phil" Douglas, the athletes have failed to impress the fellows in the big top and all have slipped down to the minors.

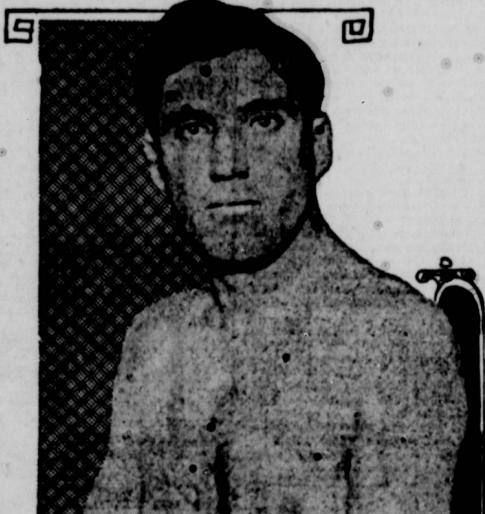

Fitzsimmons, the tall short-garden star with the 1913 Indians, failed to hit good enough for Jennings' Tigers, and is now showing class with Wichita, in the Western league. Outfielder Jules Pappa was a bloomer and went down to the little fellows.

Kippert in A. A. Ed Kippert, the husky Dutchman who showed class in center field for the Beavers, didn't last in Cincinnati, but instead of being sent back to Vancouver, landed with the Internationals, and then went to the American association.

Johnny Rawlings, scintillated at second for the Bees last season, and for a time this season played regularly for Cincinnati. Cincinnati put across a trade, in which Rawlings would have gone to Minneapolis, but Johnny thwarted the plan by jumping to the Feds.

Barham, Victoria, and Ingersoll, Vancouver, were two others who failed to stick. Barham is pitching down in the Coast league. Fullerton, Kelly and Narveson went up and came back. Charley Schmutz, Vancouver, and Irv Kautleher are with Brooklyn and Pittsburgh, respectively.

BIG KANSAS COWBOY HAS THE PUNCH AND PATIENCE TO WIN BACK TITLE FOR WHITE RACE

Jess Willard.

By Kid Howard. Willard, with his 6 feet 6 inches, will have a natural advantage over Johnson in height. He also has a longer reach, and in weight he will have a good 20 pounds.

Coupled with these natural advantages, Willard is a cool, patient, unexcitable person. Willard is too good-natured to take a fight seriously. Every white man who has even boxed Johnson has hated him with a sincerity that has gotten the better of his good judgment.

Johnson will never get Willard's "goat" for the simple reason that he cannot get him sore. Willard would sooner do most anything than fight. Fighting is not his business—it is simply a means of livelihood that he can make more money at than anything else.

Jess would sooner be out on a stock farm looking after his horses and cattle than fooling around a gymnasium and training with a lot of fighters.

That feeling for the game is the one thing that will be his biggest asset when he fights Johnson for the championship of the world.

Mags Will Kick Jones Out, Maybe

The Northwestern league directors may find that they will have to kick Fielder Jones out of the president's office.

A short time ago Jones tendered his resignation to the magnates when it became apparent his administration was far from satisfactory to the directors at large.

He agreed to step down August 1, Friday night, in Portland, Jones backed down on his previous declaration, manifesting a desire to continue as president until the end of the season, which is two months yet.

No steps have been taken by the directors toward finding a successor for Jones, as it had been decided to hold over this matter until Jones stepped down, so as to prevent any hitch in the proceedings.

President Dugdale of the Seattle club was angry when he learned that Jones had reneged.

"The directors have looked forward to Jones' resignation for a long time," he said. "This news is a bitter disappointment. Jones' administration has been entirely unsatisfactory, and the majority of us have desired to hand the reins over to a new man for a long time. I don't know just what will be done, but there is a chance that the owners will take matters into their own hands now."

Young Umpire Makes Big Hit

C. E. G. Palmer, the popular semi-pro umpire, yesterday got the chance he has been awaiting for a long time—he was tried out in a regular Northwestern league game. For a moment, the regular "umps," was laid up in bed, and Palmer got the job, because he is one of the league's substitute umpires.

Palmer more than made good. He made a few mistakes, which is quite natural for a mere kid just breaking into the game, but his work assumed big league color alongside that of Burnside and Wheeler.

Some of the players did all they could to help out the young official, while others, more notably Killian, Bennett, Cadman, Raymond, Scharney, Grindle, Swain, Cheek and Shaw, hopped onto the boy at every chance. The crowd was with Palmer all the way through.

Geo. Chip Licks Tar in Fast Go

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.—Sailor Ed Petrosky has hundreds of new friends today as a result of the 29-round battle he put up last night against George Chip, the hard-hitting Pennsylvanian.

Referee Toby Irwin gave the decision to Chip, and while some of Petrosky's friends believed he should have been given a draw, the verdict was a fair one.

Up to the 15th round it seemed certain that Chip would win by a knockout.

Petrosky was floored in the 13th round, and it is possible that the bell saved him from a knockout. He came out of his corner in fairly good condition for the 14th and then gave as splendid an exhibition of gameness as was ever seen in a San Francisco ring.

The former tar took everything that the Pennsylvanian had to offer and then came in for more. The crowd was with Petrosky and he was given an ovation when the gong clanged the end of the 15th round.

Hundreds of bettors had wagered that the sailor would last 15 rounds and the building shook with cheers as the game sailor walked to his corner.

CHARLEY WHITE, having licked Willie Ritchie, appears to be after Willie's record as a demand-er. He demands $10,000 to fight Freddie Welsh on July 4.
