

COST THE U. OF W. NEARLY $5,000 TO WIN FIFTH PLACE AT POUGHKEEPSIE

It cost the University of Washington just exactly $4,756.56 to win fifth place in the annual rowing regatta held on the Hudson river early this summer.

Dobie Calls Out Football Talent; Veterans Missing

A Mr. black cloud of gloom hovered over the University of Washington campus yesterday afternoon when the initial call for football candidates was sounded. Many familiar faces were missing from Denny field, where light practice work was engaged in, and it became quite evident that Coach Dobie has on his hands the gigantic task of making a championship team out of almost nothing.

Board to Decide on Grounds

The school board has in the hollow of its hand the making of the high school football game in Seattle.

Wednesday afternoon, at the regular scheduled session, the board will act on the question of grounds for future high school games.

The board will decide whether the games shall be played on the University of Washington campus, Dugdale's park or at Washington park.

The duck, goose and brant season will open in Ferry, Grant, Lincoln, Okanogan, Stevens, Douglas, Spokane, Adams and Whitman counties Oct. 1 instead of Sept. 15.

At that time there was not as yet any 'Convention of Geneva,' and 'Red Cross,' and this aid association had been formed as a forerunner of these humane institutions.

CHAPTER IV. We could not tear ourselves out of this embrace—as though it were our last. Then on a sudden I felt how his lips were trembling.

When I got to Frau v. Ullmann's dwelling, I long hesitated before pulling the bell.

That was too much for me, I thought I was going out of my mind. 'Arno, Arno,' I cried out, throwing my arms round him, 'stay, stay, stay!'

The list of killed had already brought the names of several officers whom I had known personally. Among others, that of the son of only one of an old lady for whom I had conceived a great feeling of respect.

That day I determined to visit the poor lady. It was, for me, a painful, heavy journey. I could certainly give her no consolation—could only weep with her.

When I got to Frau v. Ullmann's dwelling, I long hesitated before pulling the bell.

It is no good ringing, miss. The dwelling is empty.

What! Has Frau v. Ullmann gone?

She was taken to a lunatic asylum three days since. And the head disappeared again as the door shut.

I remained for a minute or two motionless, rooted to the spot, and the scenes which must have been going on here passed before my eyes.

'LAY DOWN YOUR ARMS'

Fourth Chapter of Woman's Thrilling Tale of What War Means to the Mother, Wife and the Home

CONFESSIONS OF A WIFE

Well, I got through my first dinner at our apartment, but at one time I thought I would not.

Annle said to me: 'Sure I can't understand what you want to make your face all red and bluster you're pretty hands for when I could be doing the cooking. A bit of fried steak is not hard to do and I baked potatoes in the past fire before you were born, Miss Margaret.'

I wanted to say Dick I know my business, I said with a laugh, for I could see she was a little sensitive about her cooking.

Aunt Mary made the pie and then I made her stay out of the kitchen for I did not want her to get all tired out.

The table was set with all our prettiest wedding presents and Aunt Mary's beautiful china—even Ellen's table could not look more charming than did mine. I was so happy over it that I could have kissed each plate as I helped Annle set the table.

I burned a part of my eyebrows off by turning on the gas in the oven a minute or two before I lighted it. Both Aunt Mary and Annle were frightened at the explosion, but I persuaded them it was nothing, although my face was very red and smarted under the powder all through dinner.

Everything was ready at 6 o'clock and I was all dressed and waiting for Dick. Annle had instructions to put the steak under the blaze the moment she heard the doorbell.

When I opened the door there was Jimmie with Dick.

'I told Dick,' he said, 'that it was not an auspicious time for me to make my first visit, but he said he could be out on the street to do anything he undertook, and so I came along just to show you how much confidence your husband has in your ability.'

'I'm glad you came, Jim,' I said heartily, and then, although I wanted to rush out into the kitchen to see to the steak, I stayed and talked on like an untroubled hostess. It was a good thing that I did not top to chat very long, for it was just blazing up. Annle had turned the gas on full force, put the meat under and left it.

Item: To broil steak properly you must have a hot fire and keep turning the meat over and over. You can't put it in and not watch it.

The dinner was a great success. Dick gave in and said the steak was perfect.

'We can't have it very often,' I said, 'because it is so expensive.'

'Now I hope you are not going to try and feed me on steaks and things,' said Dick as he took a second generous helping of steak.

'If they are as deliciously prepared as is this meat I'll try and get as many invitations as possible to eat them,' said Jim Eddie tactfully.
