

THE GREAT LEAP

WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY

Most Sensational Picture Ever Produced A Genuine Thrill
4 REELS

A horse with two riders actually jumps over a 60-foot cliff into a lake. Both riders and horse miraculously escape injury, but your heart goes up into your throat when you see the leap.

We showed this picture last year at 10 cents and the theatre was packed at every performance. We have had so many requests to see it again that we are once more putting it on, principally for those who saw it before, but this time at only 5 cents.

MYSTERY FILM BEGINS AT GRAND

One of the gripping scenes from "The Black Box," featuring Herbert Rawlinson and Anna Little, the first installment of which heads today's new show at the Grand, running until Saturday night. The story of the film was written by E. Phillips Oppenheim, the author of many best sellers.

Rawlinson is cast as Sanford Quest, the clever detective, who unravels a story of crime through the marvels of modern science. Miss Little is Lenora, his assistant. William Worthington is the scientist, the man of dual personality, while Frank McQuarrie is Craig, the man tortured with a terrible secret.
