A LOT OF 'EM NIBBLING, BUT ONLY A FEW HAVE FOUND SEVENTH KEY

Hold on, folks, most of you are on the wrong track in your search for the seventh key in "The Seven Keys to Baldpate Puzzle." A few have hit the right answer—a very, very few. A number are nibbling hard, and a little more effort and headwork will put them right.

So here goes another tip:
The seventh key is a real key, very much like the others. It is not spelled out by the formation of the other keys; it is not a flat key; it is not on the ring; it is not the ring itself; it is not the word "key," or the "seventh key," as many have answered. There is no catch in the words whatever. The key is in the picture, all right. It can be found by properly folding the paper. And when you have found the seventh, all other keys are eliminated.

You may submit more than one answer if you choose, but, of course, you will get a ticket for only one correct answer.

To those who send the first 50 correct answers The Star will give $2 tickets to the Monday night performance of the "Seven Keys to Baldpate" the big comedy success of George M. Cohan which will be presented at the Metropolitan theatre all of next week.

All replies must be in The Star office by Friday afternoon, not later than 6 o'clock. No replies will be accepted by telephone. And please don't come into the office to tell us your answer. Bring it in or send it by addressed envelope to the "Baldpate Editor" The Star.

The names of the winners will be printed in Saturday's Star, and the tickets will be at The Star office all day Saturday and Monday for the winners.

NO INJUNCTION TO STOP LOVE'S WAY

PORTLAND, Ore., April 14.—At last there has been discovered one thing for which the courts will not issue an injunction. And it's the one thing that makes the world go dizzily around—namely, love.

An application made by Attorney Henry Westbrook for a client, who wanted a "female adventuress" restrained from falling in love with plaintiff's husband, was denied by Judge McGinn.

The court intimated women would be in his court four deep if he started this sort of injunction.

GOV. STRONG SIGNS "PROHI" MEASURE

JUNEAU, Alaska, April 14.—Gov. Strong has signed the prohibition memorial, fixing the election for November 4, 1916. He also signed Rep. Noon's bill providing an eight-hour day for all classes of miners. Noon is also trying to get the capital of the territory moved to Seward.

MENACK MUST HAVE BEEN BUSY MAN

Detectives think they have found the secret of Menack Israel's remarkable success as a tailor, in which business he was engaged up until Tuesday afternoon, on Third ave., near Cherry st.

Not only is Israel an exceptionally clever salesman, but it is now charged he replenished his stock, not from wholesalers, but from various and sundry downtown hotel rooms. He is being held on that charge.

DANCE AND MUSIC TO OPEN STUART BLDG.

There will be dance Thursday night, from 7:30 to 10:30, at the formal opening of the new Stuart building and the Manufacturers' association exhibit and exchange, the latter occupying part of the ground floor of the Stuart building and the second floor of the Henry building. The program includes band music in front of the Metropolitan opera house, orchestra music on the ground floor of the Stuart building, and in the new quarters of the Metropolitan Lumbermen's club an excellent floor will be thrown open for dancing. There will be additional music and illuminations on the roof.

Over 125 local and state manufacturers are sharing in the exhibit of Washington-made goods. The auditorium will be used on the opening night for motion pictures.

ZEPPELIN KILLS THREE CIVILIANS

PARIS, April 14.—An attack by a Zeppelin on Bailleul, in which three civilians were killed, was officially announced today. The German air craft sought to drop explosives upon the French aviation camp. The bombs missed the hangars, however.

The capture of two German aviators and the death of a third was also reported.

DETENTION HOME WILL BE T-SHAPED

The county commissioners have selected plans for the new county juvenile detention home, to be erected at Broadway and East Spruce st. George W. Lawton and H. A. Moldenhour were the successful architects. The plans provide a T-shaped building, facing Broadway. The site was that offered by the A. F. Nichols company and cost $17,000.

SEATTLE BEAUTY SPOTS

E. Gerald Carver has a nursery at 51st and Keystone place. The Keystone Congregational church, a new and attractive structure, is opposite and the House of the Good Shepherd is a short distance away, as shown in the photograph.
The lot here shown is covered with stumps, small trees and litter, in sharp contrast to an otherwise well-kept neighborhood.
