

The Bombardment of New York

(Copyright, 1915, by the Newspaper Enterprise Association.)
 THE VISUALIZATION OF THE ATTACK, DRAWN FOR THIS NEWSPAPER BY HENRY REUTERDAHL, THE MOST FAMOUS MARINE ARTIST IN THE WORLD. REUTERDAHL DESCRIBES THE BATTLE OF NEW YORK ON PAGE 3 TODAY, IN THE SECOND AND CONCLUDING CHAPTER OF AN ARTICLE URGING THE UNITED STATES TO PREPARE AN ADEQUATE DEFENSE.

HERE IS MORAL REUTERDAHL DRAWS FROM TERRIFYING FORECAST:

GET BUSY! Remember that Switzerland, with a population no larger than that of Greater New York, can throw a half a million of trained soldiers in the field. And point out when your peace-at-any-price-no-army-no-navy friend begins to talk of the "evils of militarism" that Switzerland and its neutrality is yet intact though literally in the jaws of war. This little nation still remains under its own banner. It is the most democratic and unarmy of all, altho every man has a soldierly training. Also put that away that France's boss champion for peace, brotherly love and no armament, Baron Etourenelle de Constant, for years shouted to decrease the republic's army. Had his advice been followed the German flag would now flaunt over Paris!

H. REUTERDAHL.

Lauds Star for Work in Getting R.R.

"Throughout the fight to open Alaska right, there has been only one chain of papers in the United States that printed the truth about Alaska or the struggle to secure the Alaskan railroad. These were the Seattle Star and its sister papers, known as the Scripps papers. Seattle's prosperity depends a great deal on the right development of Alaska, and I want to say to you business men of Seattle that the Star has been the only newspaper friend Seattle has had in this fight."

With this tribute to the Star, and its sister papers, John E. Ballaine, one of the most prominent figures in Alaskan history, Monday afternoon closed an address before the Rotary club at the Butler hotel, in which he described the long struggle to secure the government railroad in Alaska.

Ballaine spoke of the attempt to saddle onto the government the Copper River & Northwestern railway in place of a government-built railway in a more logical and fertile part of the territory.

He accused the Alaska bureau of the Chamber of Commerce with advocating the former, a plan favored by the Guggenheim syndicate for private gain.

Ballaine said newspapers in Seattle as well as throughout the country, with the exception of the Star, boosted the Copper River & Northwestern railroad, and refused to print the objections against it that were presented to the president and Secretary Lane.

CHAMBER DENIES IT FAVORED C.R. & N.R.R.

J. L. McPherson, secretary and member of the executive committee

Bothell Alderman on Trial as a Chicken Thief; Woman Says He Devoured Her Hens

Alderman D. L. Goldbach of the town of Bothell and F. W. Anderson, his partner in a mercantile store there, are on trial before a jury in Judge Dykeman's court, accused of having eaten chickens they knew to have been stolen from Mrs. Nellie Westland for their Thanksgiving dinner.

Mrs. Westland, who lives next door to the Bothell Trading Co.'s store, operated by Goldbach and Anderson, testified she had missed, at different times, eight white Leghorn hens.

She went to Mayor Woody, she said, and he advised her to "keep an eye out."

Coaxed Chickens From Yard Following his instructions, she learned, according to her testimony, that Goldbach and Anderson had ordered Danny Walker, a clerk, to coax her chickens from her yard into the store, where they sacked the hens and carried them home.

Mayor Woody will be one of the witnesses for Mrs. Westland. He was instrumental in the arrest of of the Alaska bureau, Chamber of Commerce, gave out a statement today, in part as follows:

"We are advised that at a meeting of the Rotary club, yesterday, John E. Ballaine attacked the Alaska bureau of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, and advised his hearers that this bureau had been organized for and maintained in the interest of the Copper River & Northwestern railroad, and of the Guggenheim interests. If such a statement was made, it is a malicious falsehood in every particular.

"The work of the Alaska bureau has been the unselfish work of those who do not have any interest to further other than the good that will come to all through the development of Alaska, and has been maintained entirely by donations from the business men of Seattle."

the two men. Justice Martin of Bothell found them guilty and fined them each $10. The case is now up on appeal.

Another important witness for the plaintiff is J. C. Gregory, editor and proprietor of the Bothell Sentinel.

Truman T. Underhill, formerly a partner in the Bothell Trading Co., and who drew away from the company after learning of the alleged chicken thefts, testified he had overheard Alderman Goldbach and Anderson tell Danny Walker to catch Mrs. Westland's chickens.

"One day," he said, "I saw him catch two. Goldbach took them home that night. Later I saw Goldbach stuff another hen into a sack after Danny had caught it, and Goldbach took that one home."

Alderman Goldbach seemed somewhat interested only when questions were asked which brought forth answers bearing indirectly on politics. During the rest of the examination he sat unmoved.

He saw several white chickens killed at the Goldbach residence the day before Thanksgiving," declared S. L. Gaines, who occupies the house next to Goldbach.

SEEK SITE FOR COUNTY COLONY

County Commissioners Knudsen and Carrigan were authorized Tuesday to devote at least one day this week in scouring the county in search of a prospective site for the King county industrial farm, proposed by The Star.

At a conference at which the entire board seemed favorable to the project, as a means of saving for the county and the taxpayers thousands of dollars annually, Knudsen was given charge of finding a suitable location.

Pat M'Hugh Camp Again Is Invaded

Another invasion of one of Pat M'Hugh's camps was made Tuesday morning by a crowd of strikers.

The latest outbreak occurred at the McHugh camp, a mile and a half out of Issaquah. All the men in the camp were driven out, according to a report telephoned to the sheriff's office by Foreman Woods.

Strikers at McHugh's and Brice's camps declare M'Hugh greatly exaggerated his account of their Sunday raid on his camp in reporting to the sheriff.

They deny they dumped his engine into the creek back of the camp, or destroyed any of his property, other than by throwing a few loose tools into the water.

Deputy sheriffs are still on guard to prevent further violence. That the county is powerless to bring about fair wages to employes on road contracts already under way was the opinion given the commissioners Tuesday morning by Prosecutor Lundin. New contracts, however, may have stringent clauses in them for the protection of laborers.

A meeting will be held Tuesday night at City Hall park, to protest against the conditions in the Pat M'Hugh and Brice camps.

Wm. Short, vice president of the State Federation of Labor, Martin Flyzik, president of the Miners' union, and C. W. Doyle, business agent of the Central Labor Council, will be among the speakers.

ADMIT LOSING TOWN

BERLIN (via Wireless From London), April 27.—Admission that the Germans have evacuated the village of Lizerne, on the west bank of the Yser canal, was made in an official statement today.

DEALERS TO HELP GET

CAFER MILK!

Seattle Star

VOLUME 18, NO. 53. SEATTLE, WASH., TUESDAY, APRIL 27, 1915. ONE CENT ON TRAINS AND NEWS STANDS, 10c

NIGHT EDITION

GERMAN DRIVE IS HALTED

BY WM. G. SHEPHERD
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 HEADQUARTERS OF THE BRITISH OVERSEAS EXPEDITION, NORTHERN FRANCE, April 26—(10 p. m., via London, April 27)—The greatest artillery duel in the history of the world is in progress from the sea to a point south of Ypres. Even the artillery experts at the British headquarters will not venture a guess as to the number of guns in use on both sides.

But the number runs far into the thousands and their discharge and the explosion of shells rocks the country as though by an earthquake.

There is one little bridge that crosses the Yser canal at one point on the allied front.

Here, all day long 20 great German field guns have been engaged against 18 allied pieces.

As fast as the allied guns could be loaded they were discharged and shells sent screaming against the German positions; yet it was not until after midnight that the German guns were silenced.

The expenditure of ammunition in this great battle is fabulous.

As far as my glass would carry, I could see white bursts of exploding shrapnel, and the blackening clouds from the exploding giant guns of the Germans, as the artillery fight went on.

German Attack Checked
 Far up against the dome of the sky, too, could be seen feathery floating smoke waves that showed where clouds of shells from the anti-aircraft guns were exploding.

The allies are checking the German drive to the north of Ypres, an official report made by Field Marshal French said today. The French forces, the British commander stated, had recaptured Hetsas and there is every confidence that the attacks on Ypres have been repulsed.

Belgians Take Village
 The Belgians have recaptured the village of Lizerne, on the main line of the German advance, according to announcement today.

The losses to King Albert's soldiers in holding their section of the line are extremely heavy, but the Germans are also said to have suffered greatly and have finally been repulsed.

Along the portion of the line held by the Canadians and British, a general slackening in fighting was reported in early messages today. This is due to the fact that both sides have turned their attention to a redistribution of troops and reinforcement of their present lines.

It developed today that rejoicing in London over the recapture of St. Julian by the Canadians was premature.

The war office announced that St. Julian had been retaken last night, adding that the British lines ran south from that place.

Today it developed that the Canadians did recapture St. Julian, but were later forced to withdraw, being unable to maintain their position without enormous sacrifices.

By triphammer attacks the Germans have apparently succeeded in thrusting a wedge into the British line northeast of Ypres, so that they hold a line in the form of an arc about the town.

Their artillery is able to operate with the greatest freedom, which accounts for the great destruction done in the allied trenches.

The Dairymen Who Are Trying to Give You Only Safe Milk

Many Seattle dairymen have apparatus for pasteurizing their milk, which process makes it safe from tuberculosis germs, but some, Milk Inspector Henderson adds, do not pasteurize as thoroughly as they should. The dairies equipped for pasteurizing are: KRISTOFERSON'S, NORTHWESTERN, BROOKLYN, CLOVERLEAF, MAYFLOWER, INDEPENDENT, PURE MILK, QUEEN CITY, SEATTLE, MEADOWBROOK.

Applications from the following dairymen for tuberculosis tests of cows have been received so far by the city milk division. The test completed, and the tuberculin-infected cows killed, customers of these farmers and dairymen will be assured the milk is free from tuberculosis. The tests will be made in a few days:

LEWIS MEGARRI, 7607 45th S. W.; HAZLEWOOD DAIRY, 2622 31st W.; H. M. RICHARDS, Green Lake; COLUMBIA DAIRY, 4751 35th S.; MERRY MOUNT DAIRY, 2815 31st W.

The following farmers ship to the Pure Milk dairy and have also applied for the test: JAS. DONOBRIO, Elliott; OLE NELSON, Elliott; PETER LALOLI, Renton; L. HANSEN, Elliott; JOHN STEELE, Renton.

DAIRIES SWAMP CITY WITH TEST APPLICATIONS

With early action promised on the milk ordinance prepared by Health Commissioner McBride, introduced in the council Monday, and with many farmers offering their co-operation in supplying Seattle with pure milk, the situation assumed an aspect less serious Tuesday.

Facts brought to light by the Star have resulted thus far in a four per cent increase of pure milk distributed in Seattle.

The number of applications for free test of cows for tuberculosis is steadily increasing. Chief Milk Inspector Henderson reports a steady stream of applications and has augmented his office staff to meet the situation.

Following the advice of The Star, thousands in Seattle have made inquiries at the milk division concerning the general conditions of the dairies patronized by them and the quality of the milk.

Questions are being answered courteously and the desired information gladly furnished.

18,000 Gallons Daily
 At present 18,000 gallons of milk is consumed every day in Seattle. Before the latest crusade for better milk, but 4 per cent of this was known positively to be safe from tuberculosis. This milk is that which has been certified and is sold at a higher cost.

The number of applications on hand assures an increase of pure milk sold in Seattle to 8 per cent of the total consumption, as soon as the city can complete the tests.

If applications continue to come at the same rapid rate, Henderson is confident the danger will be reduced to a minimum pending the time which must elapse until the McBride ordinance has passed the council and become effective.

Consumers, Henderson says, can avoid danger of getting tuberculin-infected milk by demanding that their dairymen submit his live stock to a test, or by patronizing those dairymen who have voluntarily agreed to an examination.

Pasteurized Milk Safe
 A number of the larger dairies in Seattle pasteurize their milk. Milk properly pasteurized is entirely free from all germs, according to Henderson.

In some instances, however, Henderson says, dairies having pasteurizing facilities do not thoroughly pasteurize their milk. The city has no power by which it can regulate deficiencies in the process.

The proposed milk ordinance provides ample means by which distributors and farmers alike can be regulated by the city. Milkmen will be required to have their cows tested and the milk pasteurized. No other milk will be allowed to enter the city.

The ordinance has been referred to the council safety committee. It will be considered Wednesday afternoon.

WOMEN SHOULD PLEAD FOR WOMEN, SAYS THIS GIRL, WHO'S GOING TO BE LAWYER

Gretchen Gallinger

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 27.—Why shouldn't women plead women's cases? Why shouldn't women hear women's domestic troubles and try to settle them? Why shouldn't women turn their attention, more frequently, to the law as a profession for a livelihood?

These questions are asked very earnestly by Gretchen Gallinger, a girl in her twenties, whose brain seems as alert and active as any man's of 40 years' experience.

Miss Gallinger is now assistant secretary to Mayor Rose. In June she will be graduated from the college of law of the University of Southern California, and announces she will practice law here.

Poring over her books in spare moments and holidays, Miss Gallinger has succeeded in mastering her legal course while at the same time earning her livelihood at another profession.

GIRL OBTAINS MORE PROOF SHE IS WHITE

DETROIT, Mich., April 27.—Mrs. Alma Little, who attracted the attention of science and society the country over four months ago, because she couldn't answer the question, "Are you a black woman or a white woman?" declares she will have new evidence of her white parentage when her husband's suit for divorce comes up.

Dr. George W. Kennedy, who died recently at St. Petersburg, Fla., named Mrs. Little in his will as his daughter and gave her a small bequest.

Mrs. Little's childhood history is wrapped in mystery.

Arthur Little, the druggist, who is seeking divorce on the grounds that his wife is a negro, declares he has affidavits from church, school and court officials proving that his wife is not a white woman.

GUESS IF THEY'RE MARRIED

Thompson Furniture Co. Praises Results From Star Ads

READ THIS LETTER
 Seattle, Wash., April 27, 1915.
 Star Publishing Co.
 Gentlemen: We have a money-raising sale in progress at this time, having found it necessary to turn part of our immense stock of furniture into cash. To be brief—it is a success.

Our only advertising has been in the columns of The Star—we believe that any legitimate sale, where the values are actually given, as is the case here, can obtain very substantial results at a minimum cost by using The Star as a medium. Yours truly,
 THOMPSON FURNITURE CO.

The Star's phone number is Main 9400. Ask for advertising department and a representative will call at once.