THRILLS HER HEARERS BY MURDER TALE

The fate of Martha Kawata, the young woman who has been on trial for two days in Judge Frater's court for the murder of George Grasty, a negro, probably will be in the hands of the jury some time Monday.

Physicians who had heard her testimony, themselves called to the witness stand, declared emphatically that they believed any human being who had gone thru the experiences she related would have been insane at the time when she shot Grasty.

Her defense is insanity. Mrs. Kawata concluded her testimony with statements that, for their hideousness, caused every person in the crowded courtroom to shudder.

Her Japanese husband, who, while attending to his business every day, has found time each evening to visit her at the county jail, sat quietly in a corridor outside.

Mrs. Kawata summed up her story of how Grasty had kept her in constant fear of her husband for days, telling her he was searching for her with a gun, intent upon killing her, meanwhile urging quantities of opium and other drugs upon her until her senses were dazed and her body numb.

He had taken her diamonds, she said, while she was in that condition, and at last had come grinning to her room to gloat over her helplessness.

He told her, she declared, she must either get out and go back to her husband, who would murder her, or go with him (the negro) to live in a house "below the line," where she should enter a life of shame.

HOW SAVING WORKS MAGIC

Not, as some would think, by piling up money; mainly by the habits of mind it cultivates in the saver.

As the saving idea takes hold of one the questions of getting the most for his money, and accomplishing most with his money, become vital issues in his life. He makes a study of them.

A year of systematic saving will work magic in almost any one. Try and see how it will improve your prospects.

STEAMER ON FIRE; ADRIFT OFF COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29.—The steamer Mackinaw of the Dollar line, which was feared to have sunk after a fire broke out on board, is safe.

A wireless was received at the offices of the line from Capt. Krebs early today, saying that the vessel was off Montara with part of her crew still aboard.

Others who left the burning ship in boats were picked up by a pilot boat.

Capt. Krebs reported that four steamers passed the Mackinaw last night without answering her calls.

The Mackinaw is drifting ashore. The message of Capt. Krebs gives her position as 40 miles south of Point Reyes.

It was accepted at the Dollar offices that her engines are out of commission, and that considerable damage was done by the fire.

The belief was expressed that the Mackinaw was in no great danger, as Capt. Krebs' wireless mentioned no serious situation, and the portion of the crew remaining on board is believed to have the Mackinaw under control.

The revenue cutter McCullough early today was rushing to the aid of the Mackinaw.

The steamer Klamath of the McCormick line, en route to San Francisco from Los Angeles, is also hurrying to the aid of the Mackinaw.

JITMEN WILL USE JUICE TO FIGHT TACKS

Use of a newly discovered composition which makes automobile tires blow-out and puncture proof is a scheme jitney busmen have adopted to defy the tacks scatterers who are waging a battle on them.

The Seattle Auto Transit association announced at its meeting Friday night that a deal with the agents of the tire filling had been closed. The company agrees to furnish the field to all jitmen at the lowest possible rate.

President Holcroft and Secretary Prather denied vehemently the charges of graft against them, which, they said, had reached their ears from outside sources.

Holcroft submitted his resignation, but it was not accepted.

Neither was the resignation of Prather, which he handed in several weeks ago, accepted.

Members of the association unanimously agreed to donate their machines to the Tillikums for carrying of old soldiers to the cemeteries Memorial day.

BRITISH TOMMY AND TEUTON FOE FIGHT LONE DUEL

LONDON, May 15.—(By Mail to New York.)—They're telling about an angry German officer who fell into the hands of a group of English guardsmen.

"I'll never surrender. You may kill me, but I'll never surrender to an Englishman," said the German passionately in the language of his enemy. "I'll surrender to the French, but not to you."

"Look here," said an exasperated Tommy as he stood clear of the German's menacing sword, "you mustn't keep us hanging round here all day. Give up that sword."

The French lines were eight miles distant and there wasn't a Frenchman in sight, so Tommy and the guardaman's companions stood aside and took no part. It was a duel of sword against bayonet. A sudden bayonet thrust caused the officer to drop his sword and he gave in. He himself, a prisoner, brought the story to London.

"I think there must be something in sport that I never appreciated before," he said, "my hat is off to that Tommy."

The Kentucky handicap, over a course of a mile and a quarter, will be run today at Douglas park, Louisville. The stake is the richest in America, the purse being worth approximately $15,000. Fifty-seven horses were originally entered, but it is expected only half that many will start.

SUBMARINE SUNK IN RAID UPON VENICE

ROME, May 29.—While Italian land forces are steadily pressing forward upon Goritz and Trieste, occupying numerous villages and heights and passes in the Carnic Alps in their movements against Trentino, King Victor Emmanuel's troops struck both from the air and water yesterday.

At least one Austrian submarine has been sunk and a flotilla of torpedo destroyers at Zebeno was bombed from the air by an Italian dirigible.

Two Austrian submarines attempted an attack upon shipping in the harbor at Venice.

The submarines came to the surface a few miles off Venice to get their bearings, and were sighted.

The torpedo flotilla dashed out to the attack. Diving again, the submarines maneuvered beneath the water, awaiting the arrival of Austrian destroyers, which had convoyed them from Pola.

Before the enemy destroyers could come up the Italians concentrated their fire upon one submarine and sunk her.

The remaining submarine and the destroyers acting as convoys escaped.

BILLIE BURKE IN PINK PAJAMAS AT METROPOLITAN

Lovable Beauty Comes in "Jerry"; "Naked Truth" Girl at Pantages

BILLIE BURKE

THEATRE goes have an attractive week ahead of them. What with Billie Burke appearing in pink pajamas in "Jerry" at the Metropolitan, and Margaret Edwards, of "Naked Truth" fame, coming (not in a film, but as a real woman on a real stage) to the Pantages, and dollar grand opera at the Moore, and a cacklerjack vaudeville bill at the Empress, things during the next week, theatrically, are most decidedly looking up.

METROPOLITAN

The Charles Frohman management will present Miss Billie Burke in "Jerry," at the Metropolitan theatre, the first half of next week, beginning Monday night, with a matinee on Wednesday.

"Jerry" is Miss Burke's latest and, some say, her greatest success. It is by Catherine Chisholm Cushing, the American playwright, and it is the first American play that Miss Burke has appeared in.

Mrs. Cushing wrote the play expressly for Miss Burke, who had frequently remarked that it was one of her fondest ambitions to impersonate an American girl on the stage.

"Jerry" (short for Geraldine) is a sure-enough American. She is from Chicago, breezy, spoiled, selfish, mischievous, precocious and adorable.

The scenes of the play are laid in a quiet suburb of Philadelphia, where "Jerry" has gone to visit her relatives.

"Quiet? Well, it was quiet. "Jerry" livened it up a bit. Her aunt has been engaged to marry the same man for 29 years. They are a slow-going people, those Philadelphians.

"Jerry" meets her aunt's fiance, loves him and—marries him!

As "Jerry," Miss Burke has a chance to use her charming personality and also her ability as a comedienne.

She also has a chance to wear some very fetching clothes—including the pink pajamas that caused a sensation when she first appeared in them in New York.

MOORE

If grand opera were to be stripped of its music, it would stand revealed as vigorous melodrama. Melodrama of the highest class, to be sure, but nevertheless first cousin to "No Mother to Guide Her," "Monte Carlo's Revenge," and their ilk.

Take, for instance, the plots of the operas now being sung by the fine Italian Grand Opera company at the Moore.

Every one of them has a hair-raising climax.

In "Aida," last Thursday night, the tenor and soprano died of suffocation when itone, at Moore they were buried alive in a cell. In "Rigoletto," Friday night, and Saturday afternoon, the baritone finds the sack he's dragging to the river contains, not his enemy's corpse, but his own daughter's, the soprano.

Saturday night and Wednesday matinee, in "Il Trovatore," the tenor has his head chopped off (behind the scenes). Sunday night, in "Carmen," the tenor is due to stab the soprano. The baritone strangles the soprano's mother Monday evening in and the soprano retaliates by stabbing herself. Tuesday evening there is a triple murder. In "Cavalleria Rusticana" the baritone stabs the tenor, and in "Pagliacci" the tenor stabs the baritone and the soprano.

On the final night, in "Faust," the soprano dies, insane, in prison, and the devil flies off with the tenor.

The Moore will be dark the latter half of the week.

PANTAGES

Margaret Edwards, the "Naked Truth" girl, lately featured with such tremendous success in "The Hypocrites," will make her initial bow to Seattle folk from the speaking stage at Pantages next week, where she will play as the headline feature of the new bill which opens with the matinee performance Monday.

Her offering, aside from a view of her own beautiful self, will be classic dances and poses.

For the added feature of the week Margaret Edwards, Manager of the Pantages, has arranged for the appearance of the six Kirksmith

EMPRESS

Roland West's musical comedy, "Dairy Maids," with eight pretty girls and Eddie Dooley and Len Letore, musical comedy stars, will top the bill the coming week at the Empress theatre.

Singing, dancing, plenty of scenery is the bill of fare.

Another West act on the same bill is "The Way Out," a thrilling drama, with Dr. Martin Somers and Wm. S. Gill in the cast. It tells something about convicts and the finish is startlingly sad.

Jack Smith, at den. Other acts on the bill are Lestro, Belgian pantomimist; Harry Jenkins and Grace Covert, dancers, presenting a skit entitled "Just Married," and Ed and Jack Smith, in song and dance.
