

AND SPEEDY BOYS ARE READY FOR FALL OF FLAG AT MADISON PARK

Team of Brothers to Race at Madison Park; Tune Up Machines

When Eddie Pullen drops the flag for the start of the big auto race at Madison park Saturday there will be in the Parsons' Special 22 one of the rarest combinations in the United States—Jim Parsons driving the powerful race car and George Parsons, his brother, acting as mechanic.

These two Seattle boys hold the distinction of being the only two brothers operating one racing auto in America at the present time. For a long time Ralph and John De Palma held this distinction, but lost it when John became a rival of his famous brother.

George has helped brother Jim "prep" his cars for almost every race the Northwest speed king has ever been in during his racing career, but has never been able to act as his mechanic until this year because of being unable to secure a license from the A. A. A. on account of not being 21 years of age.

George had to sit back and act in the capacity of pit manager or as correspondent for some automobile magazine and wait for his 21st birthday. As manager of his brother's pit, where a race is often won, he first began showing bursts of speed, and many times coached his brother to victory. Now that he can be in the car itself, he is perfectly satisfied.

All of the drivers who will take part in the Saturday and Sunday events have given their machines the final tuning up and are waiting the drop of the flag. The Saturday card will give them every opportunity to show just what they have in stock in the way of speed, as the program calls for quick action, and the track is in splendid shape and ready to stand it.

The program Saturday includes a race of a mile against time with a flying start, in which all the big ones are entered; a three-mile dash with a standing start; standing start, five miles (there will be two of these events for present sets of drivers); standing start, 10 miles, and the Australian pursuit race for cars making the best time in the five-mile contests.

SPEEDY BOATS ARE ON TAP FOR S. A. C. SMOKER

The program for the Thursday night's boxing smoker at the Seattle Athletic club is not yet completed, although the announcement of four of the principal events is enough to assure the fans of some lively bouts.

Henry Gleason and Tommy Mason will head the bill and their bout should attract a crowd large enough to fill every seat in the S. A. C. gymnasium. Since Gleason won the international title in San Francisco last month many of his supporters and friends looked forward to jump to the professional ranks.

To a great many, it looks as if the Henry stood out alone in his class, but there are two or three boys right here in Seattle who question it. Mason is the most lively looking one and will be given the first chance—also he will be handicapped by lack of experience. What he has had will give him plenty of encouragement, as he won all of his bouts in the first round by the K. O. route. He has punch in either hand and is comparatively clever, the kind that is always dangerous.

Here are four of the main events for Thursday night's show—the rest of the card will be announced later:

Henry Gleason vs. Tommy Mason, 125 lbs.
Val Long vs. Larry Sharb, heavyweight.
Wesley Bankie vs. Irving Gleason, 125 lbs.
Lloyd Madden vs. Charles Sontag, 125 lbs.

Boys in Field Meet

The tenth annual outdoor track and field meet of the Seattle grammar schools will be held Saturday afternoon at Denny field. The following schools are entered: U. I. West, West Seattle, Interlake, Green Lake, Walla Walla, Jefferson, Lowell, West Queen Anne, Salmon bay, John Day, B. F. Day, Summit and Seaward.

State Secy. Once Refereed a Foot Ball Game Here

Robert Lansing, secretary of state and interim, whose moniker adorns America's note to Germany, which Bryan wouldn't sign, because it was too ultimatum-ish in tone, and resigned instead, once lived in Seattle. That was in 1896. Nobody knew much about Lansing then.

On October 24 of that year, he was umpire of a football game between the S. A. C. and the University teams, which the former won in the last minute of play, 6 to 4, when Captain Ballist broke thru the varsity line and scored.

William H. Lewis, now in business in Portland, was the referee selected, and he was asked if he knew of a man who could referee the game. He suggested Lansing, who had told him that he had once been coach of the Watertown high school team in New York state and still took a lively interest in football.

Lansing agreed to serve, and did it. Lansing's entire satisfaction to everybody.

During the short time he lived in Seattle, Lansing was in the government employ, collecting data relative to the Hering sea controversy. He and his wife were a banker in New York.

BLOSSOM FAVORITE

SA FRANCISCO, June 12.—L. O. E. Blossom is the favorite in the betting in the $20,000 purse trot to be held today at the Panama-Pacific exposition. This is the largest purse offered for a harness race in this country in recent years. The race is open to trotters of the 2:10 class, and horsemen expect some fast work.

HAWAIIAN FISH BREAKS 3 MARKS

HONOLULU, June 12.—Three new world records were claimed today by Duke Kahanamoku, the famous Hawaiian swimmer, as the result of his efforts in the tank meeting here yesterday. He did the 50 yards in 1:23, the 100 in 2:53 1/2, and the 220 in 2:29.

MARKET REPORT

Green peas continued their wild toboggan ride Saturday, the commission men finding it again necessary to slash the price. Quoted at 8 cents and 9 cents earlier in the week, peas have dropped off cent by cent until the price ranges from 4 cents to 5 cents. Bing cherries are a trifle higher. Raspberries are cheaper.

Eastley Wins 7th Victory

Seven straight! That is Pat Eastley's record of wins as a result of his shutout victory over the Tacoma Tigers at Denstynville Friday, by a score of 3 to 0. Like Johnny Walker whiskey, Pat is "still going strong."

A study of the box score would indicate that the Bengals should have won hands down, as they collected just three times as many hits off Eastley as the Giants did off Peet. The answer is that the Giants bunched their hits when they would do some good, while the Tigers scattered theirs, and in the few pinches that came up Eastley closed up like a clam and never gave them a look-in at a walt.

Peet was directly responsible for the loss of his game. In the first few frames he was an wild as an aborigine, and before he settled down to work and really pitched, the damage was done, so far as Tacoma was concerned. In the second Cadman was hit by the pill and stole second, and Raymond's bingle brought him across. In the third Killilly and Smith walked and Morse sacrificed. Barth drove out the man to nab Killilly. The ball hit Kill and bounded to the side, and Smith followed him across the rubber.

With Aberdeen dropping them at the rate of two a day, while the Seattle team occasionally wins a game, Seattle no longer occupies the proud eminence of the basement position. The Giants got their heads above the surface Friday, when the Cats sloughed off two games to Vancouver, and Pat Eastley won for Seattle. Now seems an opportune time to remind John Sloan Barnes that he was going around before the season started peddling a good many words about his Cats and offering to bet any owner in the league they would finish ahead of that owner's team.

M'Creddie Takes One Hard Punch at Umpire Held

PORTLAND, June 12.—That the fistie exhibitions here between Manager M'Creddie of the Portland Beavers and Umpire "Red" Held, during which the latter backstopped a healthy swat with his jaw, will not result in disciplinary action by President Baum, was the belief here today.

Held admitted that he struck at Mac first and said that in reporting the affair to the league leader he would not recommend M'Creddie's suspension.

In yesterday's Salt Lake-Portland game, M'Creddie was ordered from the field for protesting Held's decisions behind the bat.

After the game Mac accosted Held in front of his dressing room and is said to have intimidated that he was about everything, from a black-hander to a porch-climber.

Held made a pass at the big Scotchman, and Mac landed his ham-like right fist on the umpire's jaw. Umpire Guthrie separated the belligerents.

Will Play O'Brien

Wilson's Modern Business College baseball club will tangle with the O'Brien team at O'Brien Sunday. Since losing Kid McCor to the Seattle league team, Wilson's have been fortunate in obtaining Lefty Stotling, who is considered to be one of the best pitchers in the woods, and who quit pitching for Olympia to pitch for the college. Beem is another good addition to the college team, and will take good care of the third base alley. O'Brien has lost but one game this year.

Two Northwestern Records Smashed

PORTLAND, June 12.—With a number of University of Oregon men in their lineup, the Multnomah Athletic club athletes took first place Friday in the 1915 track and field championships of the Pacific Northwest association at Multnomah field. Multnomah made an even 100 points. The Oregon Aggies were second with 35, and the Seattle Athletic club third with 17. Washington State college made 11. Columbia university 5 and the Spokane Athletic club 4.

Two new Northwestern records were established when Harry Cole of the Oregon Aggies hurled the discus 146 feet 1/2 inch, the former record being 128 feet 3/4 inches, and when Chester Fee of the Multnomah club threw the javelin 179 feet 4 1/2 inches. The former record was 161 feet 9 1/2 inches.

De Palma Out of It

CHICAGO, June 12.—Owing to inability to get his car in shape in time, Ralph De Palma, winner of the 500-mile race at Indianapolis, will not start in the 500-mile contest here on June 13.

Princeton Men Win

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., June 12.—In the tie-playoff against Cornell for the intercollegiate tennis championship here Friday, Princeton university men made a clean sweep, winning four singles and two doubles and losing but two sets.

Lusitania Sinking Kept Another Irish "White Hope" Home

NEW YORK, June 12.—Jim Coffey may meet and defeat heavyweight Champion Jess Willard some day. Both Jim and his manager, Billy Gibson, feel pretty sure that Willard is ever lured into a ring with the big Irishman, a new champion will be made. But over in Ireland—Dublin, to be exact—will go up a wall that probably will be heard on this side of the Atlantic. "Faith, and I'm the best man; I could have done it easier," will be about the words.

Jim Coffey left four big strapping brothers behind when he came to New York from Ireland. He didn't know then that he was going to become a fighter, nor did they. If you had told one of them that Jim was one day going to be a challenger for the heavyweight championship, they would have laughed at you. He probably also—if he knew of such things—would have asked what brand of "hop" you used. Also whether you whiffed it or used a syringe.

Street Car Pilot
Soon after Jim landed in New York, he landed a job as chauffeur on a trolley line. Word drifted back across the Atlantic to Dublin that Jim was engineer of a street car, at the munificent salary of $18 a week. "Worra, worra, but ain't that boy doing fine?" was the comment of his brothers. Right proud of Jim they were, too.

Then the news that Jim had turned fighter was received in the Coffey household in Dublin. That DID cause some surprise. And as news of Jim's victories drifted across the Atlantic, the pride and wonderment grew.

One of the four brothers Jim left behind is a Dublin policeman. He read of Jim's fistic career with much interest. He followed his brother's fights closely. One day he read of where Jim had slammed the daylight out of one Al Reich, receiving therefor something like $5,000 in real money.

Almost Lost a Cop
Right there the Dublin force almost lost a cop. Jim's brother hot-footed it to all the steamship offices, inquiring the rate for New York.

"I always could lick that kid, and if he can get $5,000 from men for trimming some sucker over there, it's up to me to go over and get some of that coin," he told his friends. He was just on the point of resigning from the force and embarking for the United States, when word of the sinking of the Lusitania reached Dublin. One resignation was quickly torn up and one fistic career was abandoned before it was started.

"I'll tackle no submarine," said Officer Coffey. "Jim can clean up all he likes, undisturbed by me."

Wright's Racer Waits for Parts

Chauncy Wright's mechanic was hanging around the express office Saturday. He has a worn and haggard look. The mechanic is awaiting the arrival of parts from the East, which a four-day-old telegram says have been shipped, and without which Wright's Mercer Special cannot enter the races at Madison park Sunday. The yellow racing car was bunged up at the Portland races. If the needed parts arrive Saturday night, it may be possible, by working all night, to put the car in shape to race Sunday.

UNITED BANKS WIN

The United Banks took Seattle National bank into camp yesterday by the score of 12 to 2. The features of the game were the pitching of "Hop" Bingham and a good running catch of a high fly by "Bean" Staley.
