NO, HENRY ISN'T GOING TO LEARN TO BE A SOLDIER

DETROIT, Aug. 31.—Henry Ford today declared a report that he was going to join the business men's military instruction camp at Fort Sheridan was a "deliberate, malicious lie."

"I never applied for admission for instruction in deliberate murder," Ford said.

"JUST A MISTAKE" CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—The announcement yesterday that Henry Ford had applied for admission to the military instruction camp at Ft. Sheridan was "simply due to a mistake somewhere," Col. Fred. Eckert said here today.

Mrs. H. M. Krogh, Alaska missionary, will lecture in the Yester Presbyterian church Sunday night at 8 o'clock. All are cordially invited to attend.

HERE IS WHERE TAXPAYERS GET NICKED $2,350

An order appropriating $350 in addition to $2,000 already appropriated for preparing old court records for removal to the new courthouse was signed by the county commissioners Tuesday.

This means that King county taxpayers are paying $2,350 for work which should have been done by the county clerk in years gone by.

Fourteen deputy clerks, most of whom were hired especially for this job, have been at work two months, digging old files and records out of a legal document dump in the old courthouse garret.

These files and records should have been placed away in numerical order as they were received by the clerk.

"Former Clerk Case should have done some of it," said County Clerk Sicksel Tuesday. "My father should have done some of it when he was clerk. But the files have been allowed to pile up in heaps on the floor of the garret for years."

The appropriation does not include a sum for the actual removal of the documents from the old courthouse to the new, this being taken from another fund.

CHARGE WOMAN DREW REVOLVER

Mrs. Josephine Boland, 44, of Ravendale, is in the county jail, charged with assault upon Otto Krohnert, a bridge-builder.

She told Attorney George Friend, who will represent her in court, that she had been having trouble for some time with men working on the Lanigan bridge, near her home.

On Monday, she said, she passed the bridge and Krohnert threatened to strike her. She drew a revolver from her purse and, she says, Krohnert pursued her with a rock in his hand, finally forcing her to give him her weapon.

SHE ASKS DIVORCE
Because her husband, Harry W. Boswell, has been confined in the county jail since June 26, and had not supported her for a year, she alleges, Mrs. Florence Boswell started an action for divorce Tuesday.

SPORT SHIRT RHYMESTERS ARE AT WORK

Sunny Monday, with its anti-smoke skies and clear, wind-freshened atmosphere, had its effect on the sport-shirt limerick manufacturers.

The sport-shirt editor is surrounded, hemmed in on every side, by limericks, some good, some great, some bad and some just plain indifferent.

Several of those arriving Monday as entries to The Star's sport-shirt limerick contest, which closes Friday night with two prizes, one of $3 and a second of $2 to be awarded for the best submitted, failed to come within the province of limericks.

Some of them had the short and long lines all topsy-turvy, and others forgot they were writing limericks and breezed into ballads and nursery rhyme styles.

Others—But here are a few of the ones that didn't go off at all tangent; that really filled the bill, and are in the running as candidates for first honors:

Says Simpson the sport-shirt he'll kill,
With the aid of the mazor, hill bill.
For my limerick sport-shirt,
And the rest of the gang.

And the rest of the gang,
And the rest of the gang,
—M. T. Head, 18 Colman Dock.

These three came from J. F. Todd, fish broker, Colman dock:
A sweetheart once said to her beau,
"You look perfectly lovely, dear Joe,
But you should have lace
To fill in the place."

That sport-shirt don't cover, you know
A man whose pride had been hurt
By remarks about his sport-shirt,
Informs me that he
No reason can give
To be called either "Nissy" or "Gert."

A mother once said to her child,
In a tone that showed she was tired,
"My feelings are hurt
By your limerick sport-shirt."
But Cecil just laughed—his'd been split.

Here's another from F. W. Winters:
Don't forget that tomorrow's the day—
Call me early, dear mother, I pray,
In my "Gertie," you know,
For my limerick sport-shirt.

An important official named "Luce,"
Of behavior decidedly "bluce,"
Should have worn a sport-shirt,
And kept clear of that shirt,
The night he was called "Luce."
—Frank May, 740 Blinnett st.

Hall, conquering shirt! You're the sort
For the office, the home or the court,
The the fossils and fogies
For no reason at all—
The sport-shirt for mine—let them snort!
—Claire L. Monk, 6305 50th ave. S. E.

Why came a poor man to stand there,
With a collar way up to his ears,
When a sport-shirt would dry
The tears from his eyes,
And help him to drink fewer beers?
—W. H. Cook, 2923 Cortina ave.

The sport-shirt I'm loath to condemn,
The I hate to see them on MEN.
On the "sissy" they're the day—
When he's carrying his "stick,"
And his wrist watch is there with the
—E. B. McGovern, Box 164, Bellingham

For years it has been nothing new
To see ladies in waist peaks—ho,
But the sport-shirt, they holler,
Has an immense collar—
I really can't see it; can you?
—Ruth Rebent, Renton.

A maid in a transparent shirt,
In a window saw displayed "a la Gert,"
She blushed a deep red,
"No immediate," she said,
But the crowd never looked at the shirt.
—H. S. Rebent, Renton.

FORD WON'T DO FOR HODGE, HE DECLARES

The dispute between Sheriff Hodge and the county commissioners over the former's request for an automobile for his office, reached an impasse Tuesday morning.

The sheriff had asked for a Pierce-Arrow—none other would do. The commissioners had offered him a choice between a second-hand Packard and a second-hand Locomobile.

The sheriff spurned the offer with contempt and defiance. He wanted a Pierce-Arrow.

When Hodge's refusal was reported to the commissioners, they said: "Very well. We will buy two new Fords for the sheriff's office. They will be delivered to the sheriff at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning."

That was on Monday. Hodge posted a notice in his office, forbidding his deputies to use the Ford cars.

Excitement at Courthouse
The commissioners gave it out that the Fords had actually been bought, and would be delivered on the stroke of 10.

An hour before the time for delivery of the Fords, reporters began dashing madly up and down the courthouse stairs between the commissioners' office on the first floor and the sheriff's office in the basement.

"The sheriff is plugging for the Pierce-Arrow—we don't know why," said the commissioners.

"Hamilton is boosting for the Locomobile and Knudsen is boosting for the Packard—I don't know why," said the sheriff.

The second-hand Packard which the commissioners offered the sheriff belonged to the late E. C. Burke, killed in a collision with C. B. Blithen. The second-hand Locomobile was the property of the late Margaret Lenora Denny, killed when the car plunged off the River bridge.

The Packard was offered to the commissioners for $2,600, and the Locomobile for $2,500.

Says He Wrecked Car
"Both," said the commissioners, "are excellent cars. The sheriff had a Pierce-Arrow, and wore it out and finally wrecked it."

Down the stairs went the reporters. "That Pierce-Arrow went 360,000 miles before it quit. Neither the Packard nor the Locomobile, excellent cars for some purposes, can stand the gaff the way the Pierce-Arrow can. When you're chasing a murderer or a bandit, you've got to go where he goes, no matter what shape the roads are in, and you've got to go hell-bent-for-election."

Up the stairs went the reporters. "We are still of the opinion that a Packard or a Locomobile would best meet the needs of the sheriff's office. We will not buy the sheriff a Pierce-Arrow. However, as the sheriff has refused to accept either a Packard or a Locomobile, the Fords will be delivered to him at 10."

"I will not accept them," said Hodge.

Ten o'clock came. But no Fords. The reporters waited five minutes, and then bolted up stairs.

Give Up Deal for Fords
"Well," said the commissioners, "if Hodge won't accept the Fords, why buy them?"

It was explained then, that the deal for the Fords had not been closed.

As the matter now stands, Hodge can't have a Pierce-Arrow, and he won't take a Packard or a Locomobile or two Fords.

"If," said the sheriff, "a murder is committed tonight, my deputies will probably take the first train or stage to the scene of the crime. They will get there some time tomorrow afternoon. The Lord only knows where the murderer will be by that time."

This statement was reported to the commissioners.

"If the deputies took a Locomobile to the scene of the crime, they would get there in jigtime," said Hamilton.

"A Packard would land them on the spot in two jerks of a lamb's tail," said Knudsen.

Down the stairs for the last time went the reporters.

"For my kind of work there is no car to compare with the Pierce-Arrow," said the sheriff.

In the heat of the controversy, no one remembered to say a kind word for the Ford.

BLOODLESS BATTLE

LONDON, Aug. 31.—The most bloodless battle of the war preceded the capture of the German fortress of Garsin in Kamerun, South Africa. Official details made public today stated that the most serious damage was done when a shell hit a dentist's chair, the Germans were bombed for three hours. The enemy garrison repelled, but finally surrendered. No one was killed or wounded on either side.

JUDGE GORDON BACK

Police Judge Gordon is back from a bar and fish hunt in the Olympics. He is brown and brawny. He celebrated his homecoming Tuesday morning by firing J. M. Woodmark $50 for reckless driving. Woodmark was proceeding north on Duwamish ave. Monday when he met up with K. Ohta, who was navigating a vegetable wagon south. There was a smash, confusion, and then silence. Ohta's horse emerged with one of its hind legs broken. The horse was shot.

OFFER COUNTY FREE DOCK SITE FOR NEW FERRY

Offer of a free dock site at Three-Tree point for the proposed ferry to connect King county, Washon Island and Skagit county, was made Tuesday to the county commissioners by L. I. Gregory, secretary of the Seacoma Beach Improvement company.

The offer was made immediately following a resolution passed Monday by the city council, asking the commissioners to make Three-Tree point the King county terminal.

Strong opposition to this terminal has been voiced by the Seattle Automobile association and other organizations, which advocate that the ferry connect direct with the Seattle water front.

Gregory offers to donate a site 100 feet wide at Three-Tree point, to extend from Seacoma boulevard to deep water, including all tide land rights free and clear of incumbrances.

This location would afford connection, he explains, with the Lake Hurien car line, operated by the city, if extended, and also with the Crescent Beach road, giving a direct route from the landing to 14th ave. S., on a grade not exceeding 5 per cent.

BEGIN HEARING ON FRANCHISE

Hearing before the county commission on the petition of the Puget Sound Traction, Light & Power company for a blanket franchise to construct and maintain light, power and telephone systems over the entire southern portion of King county adjourned at noon until 2 o'clock Tuesday.

Nothing further than a mere reading of the proposed franchise was accomplished at the morning session. The commission's chamber was crowded with persons interested for and against the petition.

It is understood that the company, if successful in putting over the franchise covering the south half of the county, will at once petition for a similar grant to extend their lines over the north half.

With the cause of the death of Charles Arndt still a mystery, an inquest is scheduled for Tuesday afternoon. Arndt, a blacksmith, was found burned to death in his blazing shack, Thursday morning. A rope was drawn tightly around his throat.
