A CHILD IN BODY,
THIS GIRL HAS ADULT'S BRAIN

Beatrice Ruth Willard

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—Possessing mental grasp and a quickness of perception found in few adults, Beatrice Ruth Willard, the 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Willard of this city, is astonishing experts in psychology.

A normal child in every other respect, the devoted "mother" of a large collection of dolls and romping with children of her own age, little Beatrice with uncanny ease passed her test for a normal adult brain.

Dr. Henry H. Goddard, psychologist of the University of California summer school, applied the Binet mental tests to the child. She read university documents and detected obscure errors of punctuation or grammar deliberately placed as part of the test.

Altho she has had less than a year of regular schooling, her brain has grasped the course of study with such rapidity and retentiveness that she is declared to be virtually ready for entrance to high school.

"The child is a genius," said Dr. Frederick L. Burk of the San Francisco normal school, who is directing her studies now.

"She learns with the greatest readiness, and has a photographic memory."

When 10 months old Beatrice was able to use coherent sentences. When 2 years old she had learned her alphabet. Before she was 3 she could read and write, printing the letters. When 5 years old, she read Stevenson's "Treasure Island" and discussed it intelligently.

GOOD MORNING JUDGE

Let Off Easy
Harry Castle, whose fresh, cheerful countenance might have gone well as an ad for the famous soap, was accused of violating the depot ordinance by an officer who then pleaded for clemency.

"He has a wife and three children in desperate circumstances. If he's convicted he'll have to go to jail," said the officer.

"He pleaded guilty, showing he wants to be honest," said his honor. "Therefore, I'll fine him $5 and suspend the fine in consideration of his wife and family."

Carried Razors
Joseph Burns, who was conveying a satchel full of razors, and also had a small arsenal of knives in the recesses of his clothing, when arrested, was fined $100. He took his sentence by blinking at the judge. He looked dazed.

"I remember you, Burns," the judge said, referring to past escapades. "You and your pals are a band of young but dangerous bandits—there are no other words to call you by."

And then it happened—$100!

Kahana Warned
Frank Kahana, a Hawaiian boy with an innocent face full of curiosity and wonder, came before the judge on a drunk and disorderly charge. It appears he had absorbed too much of what is not to be next year, and resisted the suggestion of an officer that he go to his room and mend his ways by sleeping it off. He indicated to the officer that the latter was a meddlesome busybody.

Assistant Labor Commissioner Kenyon interposed in the boy's behalf.

"I think we can keep him straight," he said. "Frank has been a good boy, but he got off a little wrong, is all. * * * The police are your friends," he added to the boy. "They are not your enemies. They are trying to help you. When they tell you to go to your room, you go."

Kahana nodded, and promised.

OZARK 'BLUE MAN' FRIGHTENS NATIVES

WILLOW SPRINGS, Mo., Sept. 9.—The periodical reappearance of the "Blue Man of Spring Creek" was reported by the haulers who reached the city from Douglas county. The supposed "wild man" had not been seen at his old haunts since 1911 until about six weeks ago, when O. C. Collins got a glimpse of the man while he was attempting to capture a hog.

Since then other persons have seen the "blue man," according to word brought in by the tie haulers. Joe Taber saw him a week ago, but he ran up the mountain side. Taber told his neighbors that the man's hair is now white, but that he is still powerful looking.

YOU BET!
"Money will not take a man to the top," Henderson said.
"I know; but it will give him a lot more room at the bottom."—Puck.
