Outbursts of Everett True

HERE AND ELSEWHERE

MAYBE MAN WHO HAD HIS ARM AROUND HIM WAS AN UNDERTAKER
About 7:30 Monday night the dead man, in company with another man, was seen going north on 14th st. in a pony cart, driving a light gray, almost white, pony. It is stated that the dead man was intoxicated, and that the other man had his arm around him in order to support him.—Alliance (O.) Review.

STELLA BORGUM SAYS:
The difference between a gown and a "creation" is about 6400.
Young man, select a business in which the styles change every year.

AND JOHN D. ALWAYS TREATED HIM NICE, TOO
—Poor Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr.: By her father's will she is cut off with a mere $100,000, while the rest of the children share equally the estate of $30,000,000. Her father was the late Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island. The inventory of his estate was made public today.
—Petit Nikolaevitch, Durnovo is dead. He was formerly secretary of the interior. You're right—of Russia.

THE NAME'S A GOOD FIT
—NEW YORK.—Gustave Stahl, indicted for his affidavit setting forth that he saw four guns mounted on the decks of the Lusitania, has pleaded guilty to perjury.—News Item.

—The Oregon naval militia was going to give a 17-gun salute for Gov. Alexander of Idaho, at Portland, Friday. After the fourth shot the powder refused to go off.
—Testimony in trial of Mayor Bell of Indianapolis today shows that 7000 were bought for 10 cents, "the price of a drink." We don't understand. If it was beer, it should be only a nickel. Anything else is 2 1/2 cents. Where does this "dime drink" come in, unless it's an ice cream soddy?
—The morning paper carried a heading, "Heart Failure Is Fatal." Really?
—Red Raven won the mile Derby at the Snohomish county fair at Snohomish. Red Raven thus splits hopes entertained by Miss Everett, which finished second, and Darcy Boy, which finished third. Crowd of 5,000 saw the races.

—You've got to hand it to Chas. P. Kimball of Bremerton. He's the only man in the state who holds highest office in two Masonic grand bodies.

—A couple of cops pinched an 85-year-old man in Seattle for "being abroad at night." By all means! Children under 150 must stay out late.

—Pending his good behavior, City Marshal Jake Barnett, of Napavine, Wash., needn't pay the $50 fine for assaulting S. N. Ashmore. Jake told Judge Rice of Chehalis he's going to be a well-behaved "constable" after this, and won't take examples from Louie Lang.

—They're having a great old time at the Cowitts county fair, at Woodland.

—Friday night the harvest moon was scheduled to appear, and so the Mountaineers turned out for a walk from Fairview to Taylor's mill. They walked all right, but the moon had the laugh on 'em. It didn't show up at all Sunday they'll walk from Eglon to Point No Point.

A Married Man's Troubles

Our Educational Movies—(Why Illinois Is Called the "Sucker State")

BY BLOSSER.

Do You Believe in a Hereafter?

WE WILL suppose that there is a Hereafter. It won't do us any harm to believe it—many of us do believe it—the chances are a thousand to one it is so—and we shall therefore do a little calculating, based on the beautiful supposition that we, one and all, have to face a Hereafter.

Take a look backward into your life—your actions, thoughts, aspirations, and try to conceive what will be your state of mind when you reach the Hereafter World.

If you have been in business here in partnership with another person, will that person be glad to see you in the Hereafter?

How about your wife, who worked with you, and smiled with you, and wept with you—will she rush into your arms? Will she tell the angel who has charge of the ward to which you will be assigned that you were a fine man and should make a worthy angel?

Your children: Will they be pleased to see the angel who was their daddy here on this earth? How about you yourself, sir?

Will the angel in the Hereafter who was you in this life be proud of what he was down here? Or are you going recklessly ahead living such a life, day by day, that you will blush when you walk thru the gates into the Hereafter?

We wonder if we haven't furnished the preachers with a good tip here for several sermons.

Good for "Prexy" Suzzallo!

IN HIS announced determination to settle the question of compulsory military drill at the University of Washington strictly on an "educational and public welfare" basis, President Suzzallo should receive the heartiest support of every right thinking man and woman in this state.

And he will receive that support, regardless of Jimmie Davis of Tacoma and other ward politicians who have been able in the past, by peanut politics, to harass the state university by petty and spiteful legislation, by attaching "riders" and "jokers" to university appropriations, and by other narrow-eyed methods.

President Suzzallo need have no fear of these cheap politicians. Their threats are but the vapors of a class of has-beens who once were able to run the state from the back-rooms of saloons. Their day is fast disappearing.

The Tragedy of a Gun in the House

A CLEVELAND street car conductor was awakened at night and told by his mother there was a burglar in the house.

Creeping to the top of the stairway, pistol in hand, he distinguished a dim form in the dark hall below. "Who's there?" he questioned.

No answer.

He shot and killed—his daughter.

The six-year-old girl was walking in her sleep.

The sympathy of every father will go in full measure to the victim of this terrible tragedy.

But still the thought will not down—
IT WOULD NOT HAVE HAPPENED IF HE HADN'T HAD A GUN!

IF GERMANY should conquer England and France and make them a part of her empire, English and French bonds would be valueless.

If our American financiers make that loan of hundreds of millions, without first-class American securities as collateral, it will be pretty high class prophecy that Germany is not going to conquer England and France.

WE STILL wonder who in blazes is this Henry J. Pierce who represented Seattle at the alleged water power congress in Portland? Who ever authorized this mysterious Pierce to represent this city?

SCHOOL GIRL at Trinidad gives John D., Jr., a lesson on dividends. Same day gasoline hops a penny a gallon in Seattle. What in thunder did she want to wise him up for?

Cohen, during a quarrel, the crowd started a demonstration that had to be suppressed by deputy sheriffs.

—Sergt. Wm. Ocher and Corporal Albert Smith, of the U. S. army aviation corps, loop 15 times in heavy army plane at San Diego, setting new record.

WHY DOESN'T HE ALSO INVENT GLOVE TO CATCH BULLETS IN? —The Seattle Morning Grouch today carried this item:

WALLA WALLA, Sept. 25. —Guided by a man sitting in a compartment in its rear, a new torpedo has been invented by J. S. Walsh, of this city, who left today to lay his invention before Secretary of the Navy Daniels. When the missile is fired a man guides its course until it strikes its mark, when the explosion throws clear of the rebound a lifeboat in which he sits.

—Policeman gets a jaw broken in strike riot, New Britain, Conn.

—Snohomish county towns join petition for better mail service.

—Government will send man to help market apple crop of Washington.

—Ptomaine poisoning caused the death of Ebert Goodrich, 11, near Wenatchee.

—Jack Becholt is giving the Blethen chaps a close run these days for original discovery of the Stars and Stripes.

—Dixie notice how quick Mutt and Jeff got back to the U. S.?
