

IF YOU ARE planning to buy a lot of booze before the dry law becomes effective, for use after January 1, this is to tip you not to do it. The dry law provides that all this booze may be confiscated. Did you know, for instance, that liquor dealers must have all their fixtures OUT OF THE STATE within 10 days after the law becomes effective?

There are a lot of things in the dry law that most of us don't know about. Some folks are laboring under the delusion that it is going to be a sort of joke. Wake up, folks. The law was drafted by prohibitionists who knew their business. If you think it's a joke, you're going to get a lot of heavy jolts. The Star is going to tell you all about it Friday. We will explain it to you so you will understand it. It will be stripped of all its puzzling legal phrases and verbiage. This digest of the law has been prepared by Seattle attorneys who understand the law thoroly and who know how to explain it so the average man will get it. It's your duty to understand this law. Don't miss reading tomorrow's Star.

ZEPPELINS KILL 41 IN LONDON WOMAN STABBED AND ROBBED IN CITY STREET

Police Seeking Man Who Dangerously Wounded Woman, Then Robbed Her of Money.

Little hope was held out at the city hospital Thursday for Mrs. Eugene Thomas, the woman who was attacked and stabbed at Eighth and King Wednesday night, by a man suspected of being the man who brought about a separation between herself and husband.

After stabbing her in the breast, in the abdomen, under one arm, and behind both shoulders, he snatched her leather bill purse, containing $55, extracted a pair of turquoise earrings from her ears, and ran away.

TO RECOGNIZE GEN. CARRANZA

Formal Proclamation Prepared by Secretary of State Lansing.

PLAN ARMS EMBARGO

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Formal recognition of Carranza by the United States as Mexican provisional president impended today. The proclamation conferring this distinction upon the grim "First Chief" has been drafted, and Secretary Lansing plans to issue it during the day.

He will send copies to all American diplomats abroad and to the foreign embassies here.

The proclamation was understood to include an embargo against arms being the American line to Carranza's enemies, coupled with an announcement that America will regard as rebels all anti-Carranzista factions.

Delay in receiving the approval of Guatemala was the only hitch in the recognition plans.

Carranza's reported capture of Guaymas, Villa's only seaport, is a step in making the arms embargo effective, for, with communication by sea shut off, the rebel chief has only the border source.

When an embargo has been clamped tightly by the United States, Villa will be shut off entirely.

William Loeb, jr., agent of the Guggenheim interests, came here to see Secretary Lansing regarding Villa's reported threat to seize Guggenheim mines in Mexico.

From England

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Co-operation of Russian troops with the allied forces in the Balkans "the moment they are available" was promised by Sir Edward Grey in the house of commons today. It is supposed he meant the moment the road is opened for getting them to the fighting zone.

ADMINISTRATION WILL "SHOW UP" SHIP COMPANY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The administration is preparing to "show up" the Pacific Mail Steamship Co.'s motive for disbanding under the plea that the La Follette seamen's act forced them from business.

It was learned today that the commerce and treasury departments had collected a great deal of evidence to controvert the claims that if the company complied with this law it would lose money.

Justice Wardell, surveyor of the port of San Francisco, conferred here today with Secretary Redfield.

Wardell's figures showed that the Mongolia cleared $128,000 net every trip, while the estimated earnings of the Mongolia and Manchuria were $11 per net.

LIQUIDATING PACIFIC MAIL COMPANY NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The Pacific Mail Steamship officials began today to clear away the last obstacle in the way of liquidation of the company. A special meeting of stockholders had voted to reduce the capital stock from $20,000,000 to $1,000,000, and to change the par value of shares from $100 to $5.

There Used to Be a Bar in the Moose Lodge Room But Now It's Gone! So Are the Cards! Reason! Bronson and His Boys

The original dozen members of the Boys Benevolent league and (below) Rush Bronson, manager of the Empress theatre, founder of the order, which holds its meetings and has its existence under the auspices of the Moose lodge. Gabriel Mohoaise, who helped Bronson start the league, is the second boy from the left in the top row.

By Fred L. Boalt.

THE Loyal Order of Moose has a membership of 680,000. Let that sink in. "Indian Louie," of the Schellich tribe, was called to his fathers more than a quarter of a century ago. But his philosophy lives on.

Forty years ago a boy named Rush Bronson sold papers for a living in the streets of San Francisco, and found it hard scrabbling. It was fated that his patif should cross that of "Indian Louie," who imparted to the boy something of his philosophy.

Gabriel Mohoaise is an Americanized Austrian boy of 12, who likes to play baseball.

THESE facts, thus bluntly set down, seem unrelated and perhaps trivial. But the reader is asked to be patient.

A great movement has been started in Seattle. It promises to become nation-wide. It is a movement to improve the quality of American citizenship. The hands of the Loyal Order of Moose, Rush Bronson and Gabriel Mohoaise, and even the hand of "Indian Louie," now long dead, are in it.

Rush Bronson, manager of the Empress theatre, and a friend of all boys, says: "I do not like to think about the life I led as a boy. We used to, ask each other seriously: 'Why were we born?' We used to discuss that question. It seemed to us nobody cared if we lived or died. The least of our troubles was that we often went hungry."

The boy, Rush Bronson, and three companions, left San Francisco and "bummed" their way to New York and back to the Coast. It took them two years.

Bronson's father had a logging claim on the north fork of the Lewis river, in this state. Returned from his wanderings, Rush Bronson spent two years on the claim.

It was there he met "Indian Louie." They were traveling over a forest trail one day. The Indian preached his

SERBS PREPARE TO DEFEND NISH

ATHENS, Oct. 14.—Altho Serbian reports claim the Bulgarian invasion had been repulsed, Nish advices today admitted preparations are being made to defend the city.

In a terrible battle at Lipa, near Semendra, the Austro-Germans were victors, but only at a tragic cost. The battlefield is strewn with adavers and the Teutons have since been unable to renew their advance because of enormous losses, it is claimed officially.

Sunday night Serbians recaptured two Teuton attacks and recaptured a village in the Semerevo district. Two night attacks on the fortress of Semerevo were heavily repulsed. Masked with protectors, the Serbians charged thru a sea of asphyxiating gas at Zabresce and drove the invaders in part across the Save river.

ENTIRE CREW OF SCHOONER SICK

PORT TOWNSEND, Oct. 14.—Frightful conditions prevailed on board the stricken Peruvian bark Stella, whose crew suffers from the ravages of the beri beri, it became known last night when the ship was towed into port by the U. S. Coast Guard Service Cutter Snohomish and Tug Prosper. The men were removed to the marine hospital. The steward died and was buried at sea, and other members of the crew were so weak they could not handle the sails. Even the captain was stricken.

British Public Indignant Because Government Does Not Protect Them; Demand Reprisals.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—In the most destructive Zeppelin raid of the war, Germans last night, over London, killed 41 and wounded 101, it was officially announced today.

Of this number 14 killed and 13 wounded were soldiers, and the others were civilians. As has been customary, the official statement withheld the actual location of the disaster, tho it admitted the raid was "over a portion of the London area."

No public buildings were damaged but several fires were started and extinguished quickly.

Nine women, five children and twenty-seven men constituted the death list in this raid—by far the most costly in human life of any raid on England thus far.

Sixty-four men, thirty women and seven children were wounded. Today's official announcement supplementing the one given out shortly after midnight declared one Zeppelin was seen to keel over when fired upon and drop to a lower altitude.

Last night's raid left Britons angered at their government for not providing better aerial defense.

Denounce Government This indignation found expression in bitter denunciation of the government's delay in making ready to drive off the air invaders.

"People who went to business this morning among the spectacle of shattered window fronts," said the Globe, "may be forgiven if they wonder how long this will be allowed to go without measures to check it."

"We have a new scheme of defense, but it did not defend us. The plain fact is that, apart from the wind and the weather, London has no adequate protection against Zeppelins."

Resolutions Passed Resolutions adopted in a mass meeting presided over by Lord Willoughby DeBroke called upon the government to announce formally a policy of reprisal raids against Germany—"raid for raid."

"The only way to hit the enemy is to strike him as he has struck us, and to bombard sleeping towns," said the Globe, commenting on the meeting.

The Pall Mall Gazette adds this comment: "It is permissible to hope that we will soon have a corps of naval gunners who can really distinguish between a Zeppelin and a star."

The raid followed in the wake of orders for extra precautions in darkening the city.

ALL RETURN SAFELY BERLIN DECLARES

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—Heavy damage was done to London and vicinity by Zeppelins last night, the admiralty stated today. The official statement mentioned attacks on London city, and important establishments; also on the Ipswich batteries.

Further attacks were made on London docks and waterworks, upon Hampton and Woolwich, with incendiary and shrapnel bombs.

"Important fires and great explosions were observed," said the announcement. The Zeppelins all returned safely, tho vehemently attacked.

BOB BRIDGES A CANDIDATE FOR THE U.S. SENATE

Port Commissioner Robert B. Bridges will be a candidate for the United States senate on the democratic ticket, according to information conveyed by close friends. Bridges could not be reached today for confirmation of this announcement.

To those who have followed political events, Bridges' candidacy for the senate is no surprise. He was frequently mentioned for the democratic nomination in 1914, but tho urged to run, kept out of that fight.

Since then, Bridges has been figured upon as a decided possibility in the 1916 race. A rumor was also current that Sheriff Robert T. Hodge would be a democratic candidate for governor, but Hodge denied it. He said he might run as an independent.

SEE MYSTERY IN SCHMIDT TRIAL

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 14.—Supported by his friends, Chief Defense Counsel Charles H. Fairall, in the M. A. Schmidt murder trial, tottered into court this morning after suffering all night from a mysterious malady.

Doctors stated they did not know what the cause of his suffering was. Defense Counsel Job H. Hiram did not appear in court. Several parties for the defense went out to search for him.

It was predicted one of the big moments in the trial would occur today when a demand for a new jury and a complete starting over of the trial might be made by the defense.

Fairall was deathly pale and mumbled his words in an undertone.

"I can't hear him," sharply interrupted District Attorney W. W. Wines.
