SPITTING NUISANCE IS DANGEROUS

It is well known that human saliva contains a great many disease germs which gain access to the mouth in various ways, the most common being by breathing through the mouth, air containing them.

places they are inhaled by human beings. The hothouse child may become a wise man, but he'll be a mighty poor man.

BOMBARD BULGAR TOWN
PETROGRAD, Oct. 29.—German submarines harried the Russian Black sea fleet attacking Varna, Bulgaria, yesterday, but the undersea craft attack did no damage, it was claimed today.

The Russian fleet bombarded the port for several hours, with sea-planes co-operating by throwing bombs. Harbor works and coast batteries were reported heavily damaged. There were no Russian casualties.

Many municipalities are endeavoring to enforce regulations more or less stringent to prohibit spitting on the sidewalks and in other public places because it now is commonly known that the germs of tuberculosis, as well as many other diseases, are spread by the air containing the germs of disease which have been ejected in the sputum of the victim of the disease. After drying the germs with which the sputum is charged mingle with the dust of rooms in homes, churches, schools, public halls, stores and street cars. In these

HALLOWEEN

BY CAROLINE COE

From time almost immemorial it has been the custom to celebrate Hallow eve, and the date, October 31, in olden times was the day the Druid priests set aside for a great religious feast or festival. It was called "All Hallow," because it preceded "All Saints' day."

Most of the old customs, especially those of religious origin, when handed down to later generations, lose not only their real significance, but are often entirely misconstrued.

The Hallow eve of modern times is nearly devoid of religious ceremony—and is fast becoming only a day for fun and entertainment, and all ages and sizes look forward to the day of "fortunes and fakes."

The combining of light, fire and candles make the expense of a party very small, and the effect is often weird and wonderful.

If the danger of the big fires seems too great, get Hallow eve party has almost any possibility. Clear out the "crops" from the main floor of the big barn and give the party there. Use big, bright bonfires to light the way to the place where the "mystic and mighty" rites are to be performed, and where fun, fakes and fortunes will hold forth.

If the danger of the big fires seem too great, set big pails or iron kettles up high on stump or log, fill these with ashes and pour kerosene over the ashes and light when the guests begin to arrive. Great care must be taken, and only once must the fires be started. DO NOT TURN MORE OIL OVER THE HOT ASHES.

THE WITCH'S COMPANION.

Of course, pumpkins—jack-o'-lanterns—will be hung in every possible spot and corner, but a new "lantern" may be made by cutting a face in a piece of black cloth and pinning the cloth around the oil lantern; leave the top of lantern uncovered to allow a current of air.

Cosy corners may easily be made of branches of autumn leaves and cornstalks; in one of these corners must stand the dreaded witch, who reads your inmost heart and has power to tell your past as well as your future. The witch should be some one who knows all the guests and who is quick witted and has great imagination. She should be dressed in Mother Goose costumes and so disguised that none may know her.

If the party is dancing, have the "grand march" start to music made on combs covered with paper. The Scots use a piper, and the music on the combs is much the same.

Have the refreshments served at different places; on the first table place the plates and silver and the sandwiches; cut sandwiches the shape of broom or witch cap, or roll some, placing inside the bread a picture of some one's "future husband"; these may be cut from a magazine, and the guest must guess his occupation from the picture.

Scoop out the centers from large cabbages and fill the space with salad, and serve with the sandwiches. At the next table serve the coffee or punch; these may be "sold," the price to be a good joke or story on any of the guests, and these may be auctioned off at the end of the evening. Each guest has a chance to name whom she thinks the joke is on.

At the third table have individual pumpkin pies and ginger cookies cut in the shape of a cat; dip cookies, after baking, in chocolate icing and fasten a skewer in the back, and the cats will sit up on the table.

Popcorn balls may be wrapped in colored paper. Write on a paper a quotation, then cut the paper in two parts; wrap two popcorn balls, and partners for next dance are found by finding the beginning or end to the quotation on the ball of corn.

Fill peanuts with rice or a button or a dollar sign or tiny clothepins; each having its significance—rice, wedding; button, single blessedness; dollar sign, riches; clothepins, living.

These peanuts are easily made—remove the kernels and fill the space with anything desired and wet edges with a little glue and press the shells together, allow to "set," and they are ready for the fun.

On this one night fate gives an opportunity to "peer into the future and to divine the course of true love," and many ways of telling if any or all will come true are resorted to.

Candles will be placed in "my lady's" window, each silently named before being lit; the one which burns the longest will remain faithful to the end. Tassels from corn ears are named and placed over doors by a maid, and the first man to pass under the one bearing his name will prove her life partner.

ENGINEER HAS ONLY 11 YEARS PREDICTS T. R. WILL RUN AGAIN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The average working life of a locomotive engineer is eleven years—to be exact, eleven years and seven days.

This fact is brought out by figures collected by the insurance department of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, a co-operative institution which carries insurance for its members amounting to $145,000,000.

In the last ten years, the engineers' fund paid out for accidental deaths occurring in the service of the railroads, $5,000,000. The total for accidents in ten years was $6,574,500.

These covered the loss of both legs, loss of arms, eyes and other injuries.

Out of every hundred men who start as firemen, only 17 become engineers, and out of every 100 who become engineers only six become passenger engineers.

A gray-haired locomotive driver leaning out of a cab is a result of a sifting process which shows him to be a skilled and fortunate man.

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of acid, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups, plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with content.

Never give grain to a tired horse. Let him rest and nibble hay for an hour or two first.

Never put down your paper until you have gone over the want ads. You will miss something important.

Flour $1 sack, lowest in 18 years, South End Public Market, Saturday.

PRESIDENT GRABS ALL HIS OPPONENTS' CAMPAIGN ISSUES

BY GILSON GARDNER
WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—President Wilson has blanketed the opposition campaign by adopting practically all their issues. He is for adequate national preparedness, along the lines recommended by Roosevelt and A. P. Gardner; he accepts the Tariff league's recommendation in regard to retaining the duty on sugar, and it is intimated that he would not seriously object to certain additional tariff duties; he has removed the Mexican issue by recognizing Carranza; he has taken a plank out of the progressive party platform by declaring for woman suffrage; he has taken the sting from the jingo criticism of his handling of foreign relations by his vigorous words to Germany over the submarine activities; and the successful outcome of this policy, without involving the country in war, has left the pacifists little ground for complaint. The confidence of business has been gained by the excellent operation of the federal reserve law and by the use of the new federal trade commission to encourage business rather than to curb business. At the same time the passage of the Clayton act and the prosecution of the Shoe Machinery trust has satisfied the labor group and the people who want the trusts prosecuted. The principal campaign stock-in-trade, on which the reactionary republicans were depending, namely, hard times, has been dissipated by a combination of causes—the war orders serving to crank up the industrial machine and the enormous crops furnishing greater prosperity than ever. All of which serves to make it plain that, despite the one-term plank in the Baltimore platform, Woodrow Wilson will be a second-term candidate and very probably a second-term president.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 29.—Mother-in-law doesn't have to sleep on the fire escape, and she can come to see you as often as she likes, stay as long as she pleases, and be entitled to all the conveniences, the court told Frank R. Anderson, who asked an injunction to stop his mother-in-law's frequent visits.
