It's easy to promise things, but you can't permanently succeed unless you deliver the goods

Why I Succeed

Because I carry a stock of woollens big enough and varied enough to suit the tastes of many men.

Because my shop is organized to the highest point of efficiency, I am able to turn out high-grade tailoring at a minimum cost.

Because I advertise—and because I live up to my advertising. Your money back with a smile—always—if you're not satisfied.

Great Stock of Woollens

Fabrics in all shades and colors, imports and domestics, serges, tweeds, worsteds, cashmeres, all weights and weaves. Biggest stock of woollens carried by any tailor in the state. From this stock you can pick many a suit or overcoat worth up to $35. I'll make it to your order for $20.

As a big special inducement, Suits ordered Thursday from 7:30 a. m. to 7:30 p. m. go for $17 Overcoats to order for $16.

EDDIE FOY IS AGAINST SUFFRAGE; ALSO PROHIBITION; A STANDPAT OLD GENTLEMAN, INDEED, IS EDDIE

By Fred L. Boalt

IT IS fun to laugh at Eddie Foy. It is more fun to laugh with him.

Often and often I have laughed at the comedian, with the footlights between us. Yesterday we laughed together, and I found that Foy, when he is off the stage and not trying to be funny, is one of the funniest men I ever met.

Eddie Foy is old-fashioned. He is a standpatter. He stands by all the traditions of the stage, politics and religion. He would not consent to go to heaven if he could not travel by the orthodox road.

I met him at Brown & Hulens. Foy has been an ardent billiardist for 30 years. Every year or so he encounters Charlie Hulens, and they cross cues. These contests with Hulens are milestones in Foy's life.

Foy said "the seven little Foy's" are at the Orpheum this week.

I found Foy practicing for his game with Hulens which is to be played today. He didn't look at all like the stage Foy I had known. He didn't look like a theatrical person. He might have been a retired grocer.

He had rid himself of coat and vest for comfort. He wore a soft shirt—which was not a sport shirt, but a common-sense, don't-give-a-whop-for-appearances shirt—and "common-sense shoes. And a pair of the gaudiest suspenders!

He left the table, and we talked. Foy has a brogue you could hang your hat on. We talked about prohibition, women's suffrage and religion. Others joined us.

"They tell me," said Foy, "they're closing the saloons here soon."

"And a good thing, too," said some one.

"Foy glared.

"Ye are talkin' foolishness," he said. "The brewery business is a great industry, and it has many ramifications. 'Twill be an awful blow 't Seattle if ye close th' saloons. Ye hove not considered th' mather as carefully as ye shud."

"Booze," said the dry-ite, sticking manfully by his guns, "never did anybody any good."

"Mebbe so," granted Foy. "But a gr-reat principle is involved, me frind. 'T say I cannot hove a drink if I want wan—which I don't—is interferin' wid me personal libery."

"But," objected the dry-ite, "the drink would make you drunk. It would ruin your health and your morals. It would cost money needed to buy food and clothes for your family."

"I'll go t' th' divil in me own way," vowed Foy, stubbornly. "And there's another thing ye hove'n't thot of. Think of the people that's goin' to be thru'n out of employment whin ye close th' saloons. 'Tis not the bartenders alone, me frind. Think of th' hotels that depend on their bars for revenue. Think of the chambermaids an' th' bellboys."

Contemplation of the sad plight of unemployed bellboys filled the comedian with angry pity.

"Fer th' love uv heaven!" he shouted, "DID YE IVER STIHOOP TO THINK OF TH' POOR

WOMAN JUROR HUGS THE WIFE OF DEFENDANT Robert Loftin, who, it was alleged, had written a letter to a friend, disclosing that he was paying protection money to the police, is a free man Wednesday, following peculiar action on the part of a woman member of a jury which acquitted him Tuesday afternoon of a vagrancy charge.

Prosecutor Lundin had testified that a part of the letter had been stolen or lost since Loftin was given a preliminary hearing in justice court.

The woman juror provoked the indignation of Judge Ronald by throwing her arms about Loftin's wife, who was weeping softly, after the verdict had been read. She was rebuked by the court.

TRIES FOR DIVORCE THE THIRD TIME Mrs. Sarah Averbuch of 115 19th ave., wife of Morris Averbuch, a tailor, started suit for divorce here Wednesday, alleging her husband had requested her to become a woman of the street.

Averbuch was recently acquitted of a charge of throwing acid in his wife's face during a quarrel on the street.

This is the third divorce action Mrs. Averbuch has begun.

FIREMAN BRINGS SUIT FOR PENSION Trustees of the Seattle firemen's relief and pension fund will be haled into superior court on November 11 to explain their action in refusing fireman John Dane of 1532 First ave., a pension when he applied October 22.

Dane declares that he has been rendered unable to obtain employment at any trade and that he is suffering from tuberculosis of the right lung, contracted thru exposure while fighting fire on November 17, 1914.

He was dismissed from the department on May 1 last.

GERMANS ADMIT LOSS ON THREE BATTLE FRONTS

BERLIN (By Wireless to Sayville), Nov. 3.—On three fronts, Teuton invaders in the past day admitted defeat.

Further progress, however, in Russia and Serbia, was claimed.

"Northeast of Souchez (western front), the Germans evacuated 100 meters of salient trench," the statement confessed.

Gen. Von Hindenburg repulsed the enemy near Divinour, Iliusek and Garbunowa (eastern front), and the Russians only succeeded in occupying Minkuski.

Gen. Von Linsingen continues to progress in the Carzarkirk region. Gen. Bothmer is fighting in the northern part of Slemok.

The war office claimed law night that part of the town had been captured by storm.

HOTEL CLERK IS ROBBED OF $26

Wearing a black mask, a man in overalls at 5:30 Wednesday morning held up Joe Wagner, night clerk of the Ivy hotel, 675 King st., and got $26. On the corner, were two policemen at the time, but the robbery was conducted with such dispatch and so noiselessly—that result being accomplished by the aid of a large gun—that they didn't suspect in the least what was going on in the lobby of the hotel.

Burglars broke thru a rear window in the clothing store of A. M. Arensburg, 711 Pike st., and about $150 worth of goods were stolen.

WHAT DYSPEPTICS SHOULD EAT

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE "Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble are, nine times out of ten, due to hyper-acidity; therefore, sufferers should, whenever possible, avoid eating food that is acid in its nature, or which by chemical action in the stomach develops acidity. Unfortunately, such a rule eliminates most foods which furnish the delicate taste as well as those which are rich in blood, flesh and nerve building properties. This is the reason why dyspeptics and stomach sufferers are usually so thin, emaciated and lacking in that vital energy which can only come from a well-fed body. For the benefit of those sufferers who have been obliged to exclude from their diet all starchy, sweet or fatty food, and are trying to keep up a miserable existence on gluten products, I would suggest that you try a meal of any food or foods which you may like, in moderate amount. Immediately afterward a teaspoonful of bisulphated magnesia in a little hot or cold water. This will neutralize any acid which may be present, or which may be formed, and instead of the usual feeling of uneasiness and fullness, you will find that your food agrees with you perfectly. I know of nothing better than plain bisulphated magnesia as a food corrective and antacid. It has no direct action on the stomach; but by neutralizing the acidity of the food contents, and thus removing the source of the acid irritation which inflames the delicate stomach lining, it does more than could possibly be done by any drug or medicine that acts upon the stomach lining rather than the stomach contents. As a physician I believe in the use of medicine whenever necessary, but I must admit that I cannot see the sense of dosing an inflamed and irritated stomach with drugs, instead of getting rid of the acid—the cause of all the trouble. Get a little bisulphated magnesia from your druggist, eat what you want at your next meal, take some of the bisulphated magnesia as directed above, and see if I'm not right.—Advertisement.

TREAT TO FORM AUTO CORPS

Harry Whitney Treat, Seattle capitalist, has announced himself behind the plan being adopted in several states for organizing an automobile corps as an auxiliary to the militia.

During the meeting of the Seattle Automobile club Tuesday night, Treat read a telegram from Gen. Albert L. Mills, chief of the division of military affairs, at Washington, D. C., saying "The organization of an automobile corps would give a valuable adjunct to the military forces. There is no provision of law incorporating this in existing establish-

FARMER TREAT WILL SELL PIGS

The secret is out! By some indiscreet word let slip by a member of the committee in charge of the big rummage sale which Seattle society folks are going to put on November 8, 9 and 10 at the Hippodrome for the benefit of the Charity Organization society, it has been discovered what Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitney Treat are going to do the three days of the big sale, disguised as Farmer and Farmess Treat.

The millionaire capitalist and his wife are going to have charge of a regular live stock exhibit. They're going to sell live turkeys, and chickens, and geese, and cute little pigs and calves, to folks that come to spend their money to help along the cause. For all the money left to be made off poor folks who come to buy clothes and things. A lot of it is going to be extracted from those who can afford to have their clothes made to order, or get 'em brand new out of the store, and who are coming to the rummage sale because they want to help in flate the shrunken funds of the Charity Organization society.

Farmer Treat announces if he doesn't sell off his stock during the three days he will auction 'em off the last night.

CHANCES POOR FOR NEW MILK SCHEME

Indications Wednesday were that the city council would deny the application of Attorney John H. Shoret, representing clients who propose to establish a central milk depot for the handling and distribution of all of Seattle's milk.

Shoret asserts that consumers would pay less and the producer would receive more for the milk, because of elimination of duplication in routes and in handling.

The city utilities committee told Shoret Tuesday that it would not recommend granting of a franchise, but would not oppose a referendum ordinance.

COP ARRAIGNED

Patrolman J. E. Egan, who is charged with manslaughter for the death of Andrew Johnson, killed at Fifth and Jackson October 22, by an auto alleged to have been driven by Egan, was arraigned Tuesday before Judge Gilliam in the superior court and given one week in which to plead. His bond was fixed at $1,000.

MAYOR GILL TELLS MUNICIPAL LEAGUE HE ISN'T A CANDIDATE

"I am not a candidate for any office—the I always retain the God-given right to dig up $75 and run for mayor," said Mayor Gill to the Municipal League, Tuesday, at the Washington Annex, during a discussion of the tax levy.

He referred to the 22-mill tax levy as "phony" and took occasion to deny all responsibility for its existence.

"When I came into office," he continued, "the city was paying $5,000 to catch rats, maintaining a special police force for an alleged strike, and doing a few other things that have been eliminated."

"During Cotterill's administration, when a bond issue was launched, there was no market for bonds. Today, under the federal banking act, there is no difficulty in disposing of bonds. My policy has been to keep the levy low and to refund bond money as soon as possible."

He said a levy of 17 or 18 mills should be sufficient.

"I think that by Friday we will have a law department decision (on fixing the tax levy by resolution) and then we shall see whether political bars shall prevail," he added.

The league presented him with a brand new cornucop pipe.

Because the Chamber of Commerce has started court proceedings against the tax levy, the rec-

STILL MYSTERY

An inquest will be held the latter part of this week to determine, if possible, the cause of death of Mrs. Corcoran Alice, of Issaquah, whose body was found late Monday floating in a well on the farm of John Nord, near Hobart.

Deputy Coroner Kempf and Chief Deputy Sheriff Stringer agree with coroner Mason that the woman was in the well for some time.

Relatives of Mrs. Alice say she was a religious fanatic and had been acting strangely the day before she vanished.

PAINTERS' UNION ENJOYS SMOKER

One of the most memorable smokers in the annals of Seattle labor circles was pulled off at the Labor Temple Tuesday evening, when 250 guests of the Painters and Decorators, local 300, sat at a banquet and enjoyed fat cigars for many hours, as they listened to speeches and music. J. E. Dill presided.

J. F. Clark, fourth vice president of the International Union of Painters and Decorators, spoke on "Organization."

Councilman T. H. Bolton gave an address of welcome.

George Listman, of the civil service commission, told stories.

Frank Gates, chairman of labor's committee on elections, gave his views on "Politics in Organized Labor."

Charles Doyle, business agent for the Central Labor Council, told some funny ones.
