CYNTHIA Grey's Letters

Q—I have two sisters younger than I. I wish to announce my engagement soon. Please tell me how to word it. My father being dead, I cannot say "Mr. and Mrs. Blank announce the engagement of their daughter," etc. D.

A—An engagement may be announced in three different ways—cards sent to friends, a notice in the newspapers, or at a dinner given by the bride or her friends. In the papers you can say, "The engagement of Miss Blank is announced." On cards you can use the name of your nearest relative, or state, "To announce the engagement of Miss Blank to Mr. Smith." At a little informal dinner a hint of the engagement is given in the decorations or favors, and the guests do the rest.

Q—Are there any exercises that would improve "flat feet"? A VICTIM.

A—The tip-toe exercise is good. Spring to the toe, then rhythmically drop to ordinary standing position. This is excellent for relieving strained feet. Practice this with bare feet whenever possible.

Q—I am a young girl attending high school in this city. I am deeply in love with a young man 17 years of age who attends the same school. He says I am the only girl he ever loved.
Last night he begged me to run away with him, but I told him I could not give him my answer now, but promised to in a few days. He is a very nice boy.
I am 16 years of age and have thought I was in love many times before. I really love him more than any of the other young men I have ever known. Now, Miss Grey, I am going to wait until I receive my answer before giving him my decision. Please answer as soon as possible and oblige.

UNDECIDED.
A—Neither of you could marry legally without perjuring yourselves, for the law plainly states that a girl must be 18 and a man 21 before they can marry. Do you want to begin the most important part of your life with a lie? Aside from that, you must take into consideration your means of support and that of children which are apt to come from marriage. It is not reasonable to suppose that a 17-year-old schoolboy is financially fixed to take upon himself such a responsibility, even though he were sufficiently mentally and physically developed, which we know he is not. And you are no more fit or prepared to become the mother of children.

You say you have thought you were in love many times, and you are apt to think yourself in love many times more before the right man comes along. You should at least finish your high school course and give yourself a year after that to speculate.
I am glad you wrote and confided your little affair to me, and I hope to hear from you again soon, saying that you have decided to follow my advice.

Q—If a child is born on the high seas does the nationality of its parents or that of the ship under whose flag it is born?
YOURS TRULY.

A—The child's nationality would be the same as that of its parents.

Q—I am a married woman, very devoted to my husband, and he has always been kind and generous to me, but lately he has been going out nights, and one occasion told me he was going to lodge (he belongs to several), and I found out he was at a cafe drinking with some women and went out joy riding, getting home at 4 a. m.
Please advise me as to what steps to take to "cure him" before it goes any further.
WORRIED.

A—There is no way to beat around the bush and obtain results in a case of this kind. The law does not excuse a married man for such an act. Let your husband know that you are acquainted with his espionage and that they cannot continue if you are to remain his wife. Let him choose between you and "the other life." Don't quarrel, don't nag, don't pout. Be calm and deliberate and don't sidestep from a cause you know to be just.

Q—Can you tell me where the last names come from, such as Roberts, Wells, Joyner, Carlson, etc?
A SCHOOL GIRL.

A—Surnames may be indicative of descent, habitat, craft, or may have originated in totemistic associations, clanish, personal peculiarities, or from vulgar nicknames. The origin and history of these names is very interesting, but would take a number of pages to tell, so I advise you to consult a set of encyclopedias under the head of "Surnames" or get the following books at the library: Bardsley's "English Surnames," Wagner's "Names and Their Meaning," Morlaque's "History of Names" and "Origines Genealogicae," by Stacey Grimald.

Q—I want to give a breakfast in honor of a bride. At what hour should it be served?
LUCILE.

A—Breakfasts are usually served from 10 to 12 in the morning. Very formal breakfasts are held at 12 o'clock.

Q—We are seven young girls waiting to form a sewing circle. Kindly give us an appropriate name.
SOME GIRLS.

A—"We Are Seven Club," "The Seven Sewers," "The Magic Circle."

Double Inducements in Every Department

I had been so busy with my thoughts that I had not been paying much attention to the conversation and my wandering mind came back to hear Mme. Symone saying graciously:
"I shall be very glad to entertain at dinner for your daughter, my dear Mrs. Waverly, for although you and I have not known each other so very well, my boy and yours are the greatest of friends, and Ellene has always since she first saw Mrs. Waverly, Jr., declared she was not only the cleverest woman in town but the staunchest and truest friend she had ever known."
"That is very nice of Ellene, I am sure," spoke up Mother Waverly in a rather deprecating manner.
"I, of course, know Margie's worth and consequently am more than pleased when I find it appreciated."
It was a nice little speech but, little book, it made my blood boil. You know that old saying, "It was not what he said, but the way he said it."
"Will you please let me know when you can come to dine?" said Madame Symone as she left. "I shall be charmed to have so much youth and beauty about my table as I find in Ellene, Margie and Mollie."
"You see what money does, Margie," said Mother Waverly, as soon as she had left. "Madame Symone never before asked me to dine at her home."
"I've often dined there," I answered, "and neither Dick nor I had any money."
"I expect she did that for Harry's sake, but I want to tell you one thing, Margie, as soon as we get back from the wedding trip I am going to give some entertainments that will be talked about in this town."
Poor Mollie—Poor Chadwick, I am not going to tell them about this yet. Let them be as happy as they can be for a little while.

An Ideal Remedy for Nursing Mothers

Compound of Simple Laxative Herbs Safe for Baby and Mother.

Constipation is a condition that affects the old, young and middle-aged, and most people at one time or another need help in regulating the action of the bowels. Harsh cathartics and purgatives should not be employed to relieve constipation, as their effect is only temporary while they shock the system unnecessarily.

A remedy that can be used with perfect safety for the tiniest babe and that is equally effective for the strongest constitution is found in the combination of simple laxative herbs known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and sold in drug stores everywhere for fifty cents a bottle. This is an ideal household remedy and should be in every family medicine chest.

Mrs. F. I. Barrows, 18 Leslie St., Holyoke, Mass., wrote to Dr. Caldwell: "Syrup Pepsin certainly is fine. I gave it to my baby, Evelyn, and also took it myself. It is the only medicine I have been able to take without affecting Baby in the nursing. I have used it for all four children and it is fine; they like it and ask for it."
A trial bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can be obtained free of charge by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 454 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.
