PATIENTS AT FIRLANDS ARE VERY DISRESPECTFUL; SNAP FINGERS IN FACE OF 'PLAGUE'

"Kid" Each Other in Columns of "Grit and Grin," Magazine of Institution; Witticisms Gathered Under Heading, "Eggs and Raw Milk."

"GRIT AND GRIN"
The World Honors the Sticker; Never the Quitter

This is the caption at the head of a little publication which the patients at the city's tuberculosis sanitarium, at Firlands, are issuing. They're a game lot, those patients. There are 146 of them, and some of them never will recover. These doomed ones must know that sooner or later the White Plague will claim them, and the others must have a grim fear clutching at their hearts.

But you'd never guess it by looking at them. They are insultingly disrespectful to the Plague. They ridicule it and snap their fingers in its face.

They treat their affliction as a joke. Anybody with a spell of "the blues" is pounced upon and made to feel ashamed of himself.

"Raw Eggs and Milk" In "Grit and Grin" they have a column of sly jests about patients, under the caption, "Raw Eggs and Milk." Here are a few of the things you'll find in the current issue:

"All's right with the world at the cottages. Our 171 boss of the hen farm has got a stove at last."

"Speaking of nicknames, we have often heard the term, 'county stiff' applied to county patients. Why not call a hospital patient 'hospital hobo,' or a dweller at the cottages a 'cottage cheese'?"

"Stalker—How did you get TB, Jack?"

"J. M.—I rode thru Ballard two or three times on the cars."

"Stalker—You never rode on a street car I was conductor of."

"Jack—Who said anything about street cars? I rode on boxcars only."

They also have a column headed "Cottage Murmurs," under which are noted these:

"Mrs. McElroy entertained the ladies at the cottages with a sewing bee Friday morning. Music was furnished by Mrs. Matson, after which egg punch was served."

"Furnished rooms to let with fine sleeping porch. Nice, quiet neighborhood. Apply the Cottagers."

"Our editor, who has been indisposed for some little time, is now able to be up and around again, so look out, all you reporters."

"Miss Earley visited the cottages Friday. If she had known what good company she was in at the time, she would have stayed. All right, Miss Earley, WE WILL GIVE YOU ANOTHER CHANCE."

And under "Hospital Gossip" these bits are included:

"Miss Peggy O'Neill" is a new patient. While not being the "Miss Peggy" of fame and fortune, yet SHE IS VERY WELCOME.

"We are glad to note that Ted Lewis is now on the road to recovery. We hope to see him around again shortly."

The staff of "Grit and Grin" is composed of the following: Mamie Linberry, president; Myrtle Taylor, editor; Halton Peterson, associate editor; M. F. Ailin, managing editor; reporters, Frederick Graham, Herbert Evison, John Hedburg, Stuart Smith, Jennie Decker and Jennie Brecklin.

Peter Stalker is the printer.

THREE GIRLS
AIMING FOR PERFECTION

To make bread so good and loaves so large that you cannot afford to bake in your own home—that is the aim of the THREE GIRLS!

Never will we stint quality for profit; never will we overtax the capacity of our plant in an effort to corral all the bread business in sight.

We've already reached the limit of our present equipment, and until we have given Seattle the cleanest, lightest, most modern baking institution in the entire West, we will remain content with the vast concourse of loyal friends who daily carry home thousands of "Piping Hot" Loaves of THREE GIRLS perfect bread.

THREE GIRLS bread, cake and pastry will bear the closest analysis; in fact, it would please us beyond measure if patrons would submit any of our products to an expert chemist, and if he can find a single trace of any other than the best hard wheat flour, pure butter, choicest fruits and nuts, good American eggs, pure sugar, high-grade chocolate and other ingredients of the purest sort, we will pay all charges and a handsome bonus besides.

Quality and Goodness! Old-fashioned home recipes! Hot Bread and perfectly baked cakes and pastries—fresh from the ovens every hour—these are the secrets of our success.

You Simply Can't Afford to Bake at Home!

AVERS UNWELCOME ROOMER CLIMBS IN VIA STEP-LADDER
W. Petry, 3308 West Hines st., complained to City Attorney Van Ruff Friday that Albert Paxmann, to whom he recently awarded a contract for $125 for completing Petry's house, quit before he had worked out $85 advanced him, and refused to move out of a room he was occupying at Petry's home.

Instead, he locked the door from the inside, and for the past week has been entering and leaving via the roof, which he gains with a stepladder, according to Petry.

Thursaday morning, Petry declares, Paxmann took four lengths of stove pipe, while a brisk fire was burning in the kitchen range, Paxmann claimed ownership of the pipe.

BABY SWALLOWS WHISTLE; IS DEAD
LEWISTON, Maine, Dec. 3.—Cecile Berube, 3 years old, ate a piece of candy containing a whistle. The whistle was swallowed and stuck in her throat and later she died, an operation at a local hospital (failing) to save her.

GLENN HOOVER TO TALK
Glenn Hoover will deliver an address on "Labor and the Law" at Stevens hall, Fourth ave., near Pike, Sunday evening.

Oscar McGill and A. G. Dentler, candidates for the school board and port commission respectively, will accept the congratulations and condolences of their supporters.

ANYBODY GOT AN OLD SEWING MACHINE?

Who has a sewing machine they're tired of, that will do for a poor family out in Rainier valley? Who has some clothing they can give away?

Mrs. H. McElfresh, secretary of the Dorcas society, of Rainier valley, asked The Star Friday if it would assist the society in finding these articles.

"We have eight needy families out here," she said. "We would like to get a sewing machine right away, if possible, for a lady who could earn her own living if she had one. We thought maybe some Star reader would have one she would be willing to give away."

"We also need quite a lot of clothes."

Mrs. McElfresh's telephone number is Hudson 97.
