Outbursts of Everett True

A Married Man's Troubles

By Allman

STOP THIEF!—(OR, THE WILD RIDE OF FREDDY FIZZ!)—IN ONE PART.

VICTOR BERGER, socialist, says that peace will find Germany victorious on land and England no longer ruling the waves. Fine prophecy! It only takes the consent of Germany and England to make it fact.

DIDN'T WE tell you to look out for a dark horse in the republican presidential race? Now Collier's "mentions" Gen. Leonard Wood as considerably more than a possibility. How about it, Teddy?

HAND THE iron cross to the correspondent who writes that food is so scarce in Berlin that the people are urged to eat whale's meat. Gee! Does Britain's blockade fail to keep out even the whales?

WAR HATH ITS COMPENSATIONS

AS A matter of economy in soap, says a cablegram, they're making underclothes and bedclothes of celluloid, in Berlin.

Economy nothing! It's moral reform, civic uplift, conservation of energy, thrift, domestic progress and a lot of other beautiful elevators that any civilized editor will commend, help promote and establish.

Think of getting clean undergarments by simply going out into the hen house, when the shades of night are softly falling, and having Bobbie turn the hose on you! Think of clean, snowy bed linen by merely turning a faucet! It is too, too good to be a mere makeshift of war. No wash baskets, no scrubbing boards, no ironing—just a squirting, and then the cleanliness that's next to godliness! Economy of soap? Huh! It's economy of human labor and blasphemy. Our arms will be open to it in gladness, just as soon as they cable us how they button it on.

TOO MUCH FOR HENRY

HENRY FORD has chartered a steamer to convey a delegation of internationally prominent men and women to Europe in the interests of the peace movement. The vessel will sail Dec. 4 and Mr. Ford asserts, with real or assumed confidence, that the war will be over by Christmas day. It's a man's size job Mr. Ford has tackled and if he makes good his boast to bring peace by Christmas day, he will be just about the biggest and most popular individual in this wide, wide world.

But we fear Mr. Ford will be painfully disillusioned. Looking at this war from a distance of several thousand miles and rubbing shoulders with it are quite different things. Peace talk is cheap.

But when it comes down to figuring indemnities, etc., which every one of the belligerents would at present demand as a price of peace, even Mr. Ford's millions are but a drop in the bucket.

Everybody wants peace, it is true, particularly the men in the trenches, as Mr. Ford says. But that peace is even in sight at this date is stretching optimism to the breaking point.

THE NOBILITY OF FRANCE

WHATEVER the final outcome of this war may be, at least one nation—France—will emerge from it greater in the things which count than when it entered it. The conduct of the French people, as well as the French army, has excited the admiration and commanded the respect of even its enemies. And it has been in the little things, more perhaps, than the big ones, that France has excelled.

The latest "trifle light as air which is confirmation strong as proofs of holy writ," is the announcement that German prisoners employed in the coal mines in France are paid regular and liberal wages for their labor. France's treaties of the future may be regarded as something more than a scrap of paper because of these little things.

BLACK DIAMOND, buffalo bull of Central park zoo, recently slaughtered, had a forehead of 2 inches of hide and 4 inches of skull, which stopped the bullet from a 38-caliber revolver. Most as thick-headed as an Indiana politician.

BRITISHERS OF military fitness are going to see Britain first, according to recent orders.

LIKE MRS. GALT, Carter Harrison's daughter traces her lineage back to Pocahontas. It's coming—"The Society of the Daughters of Pocahontas."

GREETINGS TO Dr. A. J. Carlson, of Chicago! He says that a nice breakfast of ham and eggs, or steak is a cure for morning headaches.
