PRESIDENT IS EMOTIONAL, WHITE HOUSE CALLERS FIND

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The president was visibly moved and showed not a little emotion, is the report of Mrs. Ethel Snowden, of the peace delegation, which called at the White House to see Wilson. The words are almost identical with the report made by the work in women's delegation, which called on the president during the summer to urge his support for the federal amendment for woman suffrage.
During the parade of the Grand Army veterans a few weeks ago, the dispatches announced that Mr. Wilson wept.
"Yet," said the surprised delegates, "we had heard that Mr. Wilson is a cold man."
Wilson is an emotional man. Intellectuals are often so.
Emotionalism has to do with temperament; coldness may be predicated of temperament or of character.
President Harrison was famed for his coldness.
In that instance it was temperament.
The politicians complained that he shook hands in a cold way. His manner was repelling.
Once, I am told, he personally ordered from his car a delegation of Grand Army veterans who, in their enthusiasm to see and hear the candidate, had crowded aboard his train.
Then, at the next station, Harrison made a speech to an audience of veterans so eloquent that it moved them to tears.
President Wilson has none of the Harrison churlishness. He has personal charm to the highest degree. He is a good listener and a good talker. His sense of humor is keen and his imagination active.
An apt illustration, or an amusing story, is always at his command.
He is much more congenial than Mr. Taft, who was subject to spells of bad nature, and who sometimes had violent outbursts of temper. Mr. Wilson has a much finer mind, and while like Taft he has a violent temper, he has it generally under much better control.
I should say that Mr. Wilson is far more emotional than Mr. Roosevelt. The latter had a staccato manner, which often misled the person not familiar with it.
In the case of both Taft and Wilson, it is the superficialities which have confused thought about them. The public finds it difficult to associate Jesuitical coldness with rotundity and the Taft smile, or a high degree of sentiment with the Jesuitical face of our present president.

WED, NEVER LOOK AT ONE ANOTHER

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Dec. 3.—Without even having seen each other, love came to Ella Reeves of Lafayette and Frank J. Wagner of Terre Haute, and still without ever looking into each other's eyes they were quietly married here by Thomas Bridges, justice of the peace.
Both are blind and have been so from birth.

KITCHENER BACK ON OLD JOB IN ENGLAND

LONDON, Dec. 3.—Answering a query in the house of commons today, Premier Asquith stated that Earl Kitchener has resumed his duties as war minister.

MAN, DO YOU LIE TO YOUR WIFE?

Some Readers Think You Should; Most Say You Shouldn't

CONTEST IS POPULAR

Should a wife ever be lied to? Is it permissible under certain circumstances to deliberately tell a wife an untruth?
Myrtle T. Sturgeon, 314 Queen Anne ave., writing for the $25 cash prize offered by The Star for the best 100-word letter on "How to Hold a Wife," infers that untruths may occasionally be told justifiably, if not laudably.
The contest closed at 12 o'clock Friday. The name of the winner will be announced Saturday.
"If for your mutual happiness," she writes, "you MUST LIE to her, let it be the twin sister of truth."
On the other hand, Mrs. F. H. Lawson, 1909 Pacific ave., Everett, admonishes "Never deceive her." "Remember the Golden Rule," she adds by way of a reminder.
"Keep Her In Ignorance"
Again, here's a man, J. M. Mosier of Ferndale, who says he's been married 30 years.
"In regard to your question on how to keep a wife," he writes the "Matrimony" editor, "I would say keep her in ignorance."
Now, nobody will ever know whether the husband in "Matrimony," the four-reel drama being shown this week at the Liberty theatre, on which this contest was based, lied to his wife or not, for films cannot talk.
Hundreds of Letters
Hundreds of letters rolled in upon the "Matrimony" editor Thursday and Friday.
Says E. Moore, 22 54th ave., among other things: "Praise her whenever you can. Kiss her SOMETIMES."
The admission of E. L. Rader, 222 Haight building (the name of the building has no significance) is unusually interesting.
"I go with her when it is possible," he says, "eat and live with her."
"Get acquainted with your wife," suggests A. S. Keek, 1114 1/2 Second ave. S., which may be a good hunch for some husbands.
At what age a man should marry is an interesting question.
Mrs. A. Hoek of Bellingham writes: "No man under 25 should marry. He should find a girl not younger than 18."
A Community Bank Book
"Build the fires and have a community bank book," is the suggestion of Mrs. C. A. Rosebrook, 502 W. Mercer st.
There is a deal of good sense, briefly expressed, in the 23-word letter of E. M. Bernard, 8225 Fifth ave. N. E.
"Any man can hold his wife," he says, "if he holds her as he did his sweetheart—in both arms every chance he gets."
How's this:
"Remember—you changed her name only, not her disposition," by Louise Miller, no address.
Here's that matter of truth coming up again. Mrs. B. Swisher, of Anacortes, writes: "The best way to hold a wife is to be a man, truthful, faithful, good and kind to everybody."
Held His Wife 40 Years
Here is a letter, printed entire, from L. Johnson, 3022 W. 62nd st., who signs himself, "A Christian, 64 years old."
"I desire to tell how I held my wife 40 years. I was faithful to her and never told her an untruth, had no secrets except when I wanted to surprise her with a present, kept her acquainted with my business affairs, never found fault with her, but praised her when I could do so honestly.
"I prayed with her every day when at home and kissed her tenderly. She was the mother of five children and she smiled as sweetly to me the last morning she lived as upon her wedding day."

DIAZ OUT AGAIN

LAREDO, Tex., Dec. 3.—Felix Diaz, once mighty in Mexican affairs, is reported today to have landed at Oaxaca, with 2,000 men. In view of reports that he has Huertista, Cientifico and Catholic backing, it is thought he is fomenting a formidable anti-Carranza revolution.
Young Men's Christian Association announces the value of its property in this country at $100,000,000. The association owns 759 buildings.
WHY Oscar H. McGill
A. G. Dentler
By EDWIN J. BROWN
McGILL IS FOR
1. Democracy in school management.
2. Elective vocational training.
3. Free use of school buildings as social centers.
4. Encouragement of the discussion in the school of economic, social and political topics of the day.
5. Day labor, prevailing wages and eight hours on all building construction and maintenance.
6. No discrimination against teachers or other employees who seek to organize.
7. Free medical, optical and dental treatment for all school children.
8. Noon-day lunches to be served by domestic science departments.
9. Sufficient pay to teachers to make teaching a real profession, in place of stepping-stone to other employment.
Judge Winsor says: "I would rather have Oscar McGill on the board with me than any other man I know."
A. G. DENTLER STANDS FOR
1. Further development of port facilities.
2. All contracts to have prevailing wage clause in specifications.
3. All operation and maintenance work to be done by day labor at prevailing union wages.
4. A work day of eight hours.
5. Pay the port commission for actual services.
6. Against the policy of leasing public docks to private parties.
7. Union labor has been shut out on port work. Every voter who is progressive and believes in control of the people's institutions by the people should vote for and support A. G. Dentler.

"THE END OF THE WORLD"

"The World Millinery & Suit Company Quits! This will startle the Seattle public, but it is nevertheless a fact—we are through." So says the proprietor, David M. Blackman.

SATURDAY MORNING (TOMORROW) AT 10 O'CLOCK IT BEGINS

This gigantic distribution of five hundred Suits, Coats, Furs and Millinery, the most remarkable values ever announced by any exclusive ready-to-wear store in Seattle. This is unquestionably the most important offering of the fall season. This is a golden opportunity for the woman who has not yet purchased her fall and winter apparel, as our stock is still complete, and at no time have the selections been finer, and at no time have the values been so great. I want to impress on the mind of every woman who reads this announcement the fact that this is a bona fide quitting sale. I am going to vacate this store just as quick as I can close out this stock. And the way I have marked these goods there is no question but what I will be able to turn this entire stock into cash within a few days. It is not a sale of "left-overs," broken lots, cancellations, nor is it a bankrupt stock, but absolutely brand new 1915 fall and winter Suits, Coats, Dresses, Furs and Millinery, as you are well aware of the fact that this was my first season in the ready-to-wear apparel.

terral care.
Also it was not the stork but a newspaper ad that brought this "great big baby" to the Taggart family, the young mother declares she has true motherly love for her grown-up daughter. "I was always lonesome when Mr. Taggart made business trips out of the city," says the mother of the 20-year-old daughter. "I wanted a chum. One can't hire a chum, so after thinking the matter over, I decided to adopt a grown-up daughter." I advertised in the newspapers and I got a jewel of a girl who will be my daughter and my chum."

BITTEN BY CAT, HE IS AWARDED $750

EDGEFIELD, S. C., Dec. 3.—In the suit brought by E. Pendleton Jones, jr., thru his guardian, against the Southern railroad for damages in the sum of $20,000 alleged to have resulted from the bite of a cat in the freight depot at Newberry, March 31, a verdict of $750 was rendered for the plaintiff. Attorneys for the railroad gave notice of an appeal.

ROLE IN 'THE LIE' HELD A YEAR FOR MISS ILLINGTON

a girl's heart has had to be given up for the younger sister, until the time that Elinor learns of her duplicity. Then the awakening.
Miss Illington produced "The Lie" at the Harris theatre, in New York, early last season, and it ran there for one year.
She will bring her New York cast and production to the Moore.
A. S. Tibbets was temporary postmaster of Lincoln, Neb., for two months without knowing it, owing to the fact that he failed to read a communication sent him by the postoffice department.
A Real Flesh Builder For Thin People
Thin men and women—that big hearty, filling dinner you ate last night. What became of all the fat-producing material it contained? You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed from your body like unburned coal through an open grate. The material was there, but your food doesn't work and stick, and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is the reason why the world over. Your nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation, are probably sagging out of gear, and need reconstruction.
Cut out the foolish foods and funny things that you are eating, and eat with every one of those simple, health-giving, fat-making tablets. In two weeks you will note the difference. Let the scales be the judge. Five to eight pounds of the best assimilative elements known to chemistry. They come 40 tablets to a package, are pleasant, harmless and inexpensive, and Hallett Drug Co., Swift's Pharmacy and all other good druggists in this vicinity sell them, subject to an absolute guarantee of weight increase or money back, as found in every large package.
Everything in life that is dear to
