YANKEES WILL PLAY BALL AT WAR

VANCOUVER, May 11.—The "American Legion" recruiting officers are scouring the city in search of some good baseball players. The season has opened here and several battalions supporting teams are being organized. The 211th battalion of the "American Legion" is anxious to have a team that will beat all comers, for the sake of the American national game.

When they arrive in England, they will train for the front. They will introduce the game and endeavor to create the same love for it in the hearts of the English people that predominates in America. Each battalion will have a crack team and many snappy games will be played before the "Legion" leaves for the front.

JUST BETWEEN OURSELVES

FURL THAT BANNER!

To the old Giant pennant flag. Furl that banner, fondly, sadly, Many thousands cheered it madly in the years that are no more; Emblem of a bygone day, When the Giants' play, Kept them to the fore.

Furl that banner, furl it sadly, For the team is going badly— It will not be led; It is but a memory Of what ought and used to be, And its people's hopes have fled.

JUST a few days ago old Nap Lajoie stepped to the plate for the Athletics and drove out a screaming home run that scored a man ahead of him and sent the Yankees down to defeat. Lajoie is beginning his 31st year as a big league ball player.

HE SAYS IT IS ALL WRONG, ALOHAS

Sporting Editor: I read an account in your paper the other evening about a ball game between the Aloha club and the Cantella club, where all the credit was very generously given to the former team. The Cantella club was not defeated, as stated in the article, for they were entitled to their last bats in the seventh inning and offered to go to ground B at Woodland Park and finish the game right, but the Alohas were more than pleased to take advantage of the situation, and declined the invitation.

The game was not well played. It was replete with errors, and of the eleven runs that the Alohas were presented with, they earned five.

We are perfectly willing to stage another contest with the Aloha team on any opportune Sunday, and, thru your paper, would be pleased to hear from them.

MANAGER CANTELLA CLUB.

U. OF W. ATHLETES IN BAD SHAPE

University of Washington track men are at hard work in preparation for the meet with Oregon, less than two weeks away.

The recent cold snap delayed the training so Coach Vander Veer is wasting no efforts these days in putting the athletes thru their paces. He figures the locals will be lucky to make any kind of a showing against Oregon.

BONNER WINS OVER OLD PALS

BY EDWARD HILL

Al Bonner, former Seattle twirler, came back against his old tildikums yesterday at Dugdale park. Tacoma copped the contest, 7 to 3.

Al pitched a neat game for the Tigers, while Luke Glavenich was almost continually in a hole for our side. Luke had a bit of hard luck, was wild, and his teammates made a couple of costly errors.

Manager Raymond figured that he could not afford to carry Glavenich any longer after his showing of yesterday. The big fellow was given the blue slip and will endeavor to land a berth with Spokane, as Nick Williams is reported badly in need of pitching material.

Luke is a good pitcher when he is right, but seemed unable to get going this season. He says that the chilly weather is the cause. Charlie Schmutz will pitch today.

BENNY KAUFF HIRES HIS OWN TRAINER

Clamlike Baseballer Gets Walvers on McGraw's Masseur

The germ of originality has stung Benny Kauff in another spot. Benching, for the time, all chatter pertaining to his swatting ability, the Ty Cobb of the defunct Federals has gone and got himself a private trainer.

Ever since big league baseball became an institution, players have been content to allow the club masseur to see to their conditioning. Not so with Benjamin. He has Mike Donaldson, former middleweight, of Haverstraw, to look after him. And Mike, by the way, is the same sort of talkative person as is the slugging outpost of the New York Giants. Mike modestly reports he has only met three GREAT MEN in his time. They are the late Stanley Ketchel, President Wilson and, last, but not least, of all, Al Kauff.

"Benny is just as good a fellow as he is a player," is the way Donaldson hits it off, "and I am going to see that he makes Ty Cobb look like a bush leaguer, as he claims he will, before the season is thru. Hasn't he done so to date? Just look at the batting averages." All right, Mike, but we'll also lamp the statistics October 1.

LAST BOUTS ARE TO BE PUT ON

The Young Men's Hebrew association will wind up its smoker season on Thursday night. Matchmaker Abe Kubej has arranged a card of six bouts and a special event, and everything points to a successful finish to the season.

Kubej has signed Al Mosler, Spider Abe, Andy Duval, the former S. A. C. champ, and clever Barney Williams, who, tho a new arrival in town, has shown enough in the few bouts he has had to convince local fans of his merit. With these boys and a few others to round out the card, it looks like a satisfying affair will be held.

The card follows: "Slam Bang" Robbins vs. K. O. Robbins. "Red" Smith vs. Young Davis. Barney Williams vs. Young Hurley. Andy Duval vs. Dick Chandler. Young Jess Willard vs. Jack Dalton. Al Mosler vs. Spider Abe. Battle royal.

First bout starts at 8:15 p. m.

Vincent Campbell, Old Aberdeen Black Kitten, Has Retired From Game

Remember Vincent Campbell, who played with the Aberdeen Black Cats? He has retired from baseball. The big blond outfielder, after attending Vanderbilt university, played with Bartlesville in 1915 and was purchased by the Chicago Nationals, who sent him to Deatur in 1908. Campbell was an Aberdeen in 1909 and was purchased by Pittsburgh, who traded him to the Boston Nationals during the season of 1911, but he then quit the game. Later, he joined London, but quit again in 1912, and was out of the game until he joined the Feds in 1914. After the Feds blew up he quit the game again, and has as yet reported to no club. His home originally was in St. Louis, but he now resides in Pittsburgh.

The legs go bad, the arms grow weary, but the batting eye goes on forever.

As long as he can toddle to the plate a man who has once been a great batter is dangerous with the willow.

Lajoie was a veteran of the fray when Tyrus Raymond Cobb was a schoolboy. He was old as men are counted old in baseball before Lee Magee broke into the game. Yet there is not a pitcher in the American league who does not dread his appearance at the plate today in the pinch.

It is so of all great batters. Old Pop Anson can still hit them. Mike Donlin batted .300 when he was thru as an outfielder. Old Honus Wagner is still getting his wallops, and he is nearly as old as Lajoie.

The batting eye is a thing eternal.

RAGERS TUNING UP

NEW YORK, May 11.—Sheepshead Bay speedway is humming with powerful racing cars, tuning up for Saturday's race. Judging from the terrific velocity attained by the machines in practice, records will be in danger when the contest begins.

EDDIE TO WRESTLE

PORTLAND, May 11.—Walter Miller, middleweight champion, and Eddie O'Connell, instructor at the Multnomah club, will wrestle here May 23. Miller has posted a forfeit to make 148 pounds.

AGGIES AFTER TITLE

ORVALLIS, Ore., May 11.—The Oregon Agricultural College baseball team is en route to Berkeley to meet the University of California in a series of games to decide the Pacific coast inter-collegiate championship.

The Madrona Pres. Class B, won from the Madrona M. E. Sunday school squad, 15 to 2. The grounds were in bad shape, so the game was called in the fifth.

DEAN PLAYS IN HARD LUCK

Al Dean's release will be keenly felt. The former Tiger recently sent his wife to the hospital, where she underwent an operation. He is a bit discouraged at being let out and thinks that Hall should have given him a further trial.

ADVICE TO THOSE ABOUT TO TAKE UP THE GAME OF GOLF:

Don't bother buying a set of clubs for a while. Borrow those of a member of your family who plays or of a friend. There is no use of breaking your own clubs learning to play the game.

When you get out on the links watch a good player. Stand right in back of him as he prepares to drive. As he reaches the top of his swing remark that it is a fine day for the game. This will put him in good humor and you can ask his advice about driving.

If you lose a ball, don't pay any attention to anything else until you find it. Don't stop your search to let other players come thru. Balls are expensive.

There is one man who believes Ted Kid Lewis has a chance of beating Mike Gibbons. He is Ted Kid Lewis.

TWELVE MEN TO MAKE TRIP

When the Giants leave for the three-game session with Vancouver, beginning Monday, Manager Tealey will have 12 men besides himself. This means that four pitchers will be given an opportunity to see what the war has done for Canada.

COVELESKIE MAKES GOOD UP THERE

There is no doubt but that Stanley Coveleskie, former Spokane pitcher, will make good with the Cleveland Indians. He has pitched some mighty nice ball and already the Cleveland sport writers are handing him bouquets.

BOHNE PLAYING NICE GAME

We can bet that Harry Wolverton is kicking his shins just now for letting Sammy Bohne loose from his San Francisco Seals. The Seal boss cannot Sammy in favor of Jack Coffey, former Denver manager. Jack is now in a slump while Bohne is playing a nifty game for the Tigers.

DE VOGT HANDED BLUE SLIP
