

Will He Fight?

Getting the Most Votes Is Only a Minor Matter in Running a Campaign for the Presidency, Gilson Gardner Reveals!

The first of three stories by Gilson Gardner, the star's famous Washington correspondent, tells exactly how these United States select their president. Today he tells how the campaign is conducted; tomorrow he will expose the REAL way the nominating conventions are manipulated by the handful of men that really do the nominating. The third article will take up that amazing feature, the electoral college.

BY GILSON GARDNER

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 25.—Running a presidential campaign nowadays consists of the following tasks: (1) managing the candidate; (2) managing the publicity; (3) managing the campaign contributions; (4) operating with the local political managers and candidates.

Every campaign has a manager, a sack of whom is the executive committee for purposes of counsel; and back of them is a representative from each state. The first problem faced by a campaign manager is what to do with his candidate; where the candidate shall be sent, if anywhere; whether it is to be a speaking campaign or a front-porch campaign; if the latter, what kind of speeches are to be made to the arriving delegation; if the former, what kind of talks are to be made from the all of the train, or in the halls entered for the purpose.

This is a huge task, involving schedule-making, hiring of cars, renting halls, reserving quarters in hotels, as well as the more important matters as to the wisdom of saying or not saying certain things in the speeches to be made.

The second problem is what kind of publicity to seek, whether to distribute congressional speeches on the tariff, orations about the flag, editorials in the form of "boiler plate" for country papers, or press agent dope containing "heart interest" stories about the candidate.

Generally, a little of each is done. The third big problem for the national campaign managers is how to spend the campaign fund.

Part goes for office rent, part for postage, part for rail-road fare, part for hotel charges, and part for paid writers and speakers.

Then, if a Hanna is running the campaign and the fund is eight or nine millions, the surplus is split to local campaign committees to filter to local politicians and the country press.

It was this split-over that caused charges of bribery and corruption in the McKinley-Bryan campaign of 1896. No problem faced by the manager of a national campaign is more difficult than adjusting the national campaign to the local campaign. There are always factions in the party, and the question arises at once which faction is to be recognized and given the assistance which such recognition carries. Often states are lost by a wrong decision on such a point.

TO GET VOTES IS AN IMPORTANT THING IN A PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN, BUT STRANGELY ENOUGH, IT IS NOT ALL-IMPORTANT. The man having the most votes is not necessarily elected.

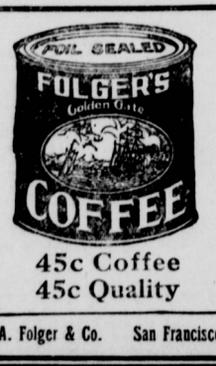

The candidate must get "electoral" votes. Each state has electoral votes in proportion to its population; big states like New York and Pennsylvania having more than small states like Nevada and Utah.

A bare majority carries a state and delivers all the state's electoral votes. So it is more important to get a bare majority in a state like New York than to get all the votes (popular) in half a dozen states like Utah.

It is a problem in strategy.

There's a wide difference between rich strength and rank strength in Coffee.

Folger's Golden Gate has the rich full body of delicious flavor but no rankness.

WAITE TRIES TO SHOW INSANITY

Will Take Stand Himself in New York Murder Trial

MRS. HORTON ON STAND

NEW YORK, May 25.—Dr. Arthur Warren Waite's fight to escape the electric chair for the murder of his wife's parents, started today. Insanity is the basis of the defense.

Dark hints concerning the "man from Egypt" were thrown out by Waite's attorneys when the court battle was resumed. It was apparent the defense would seek to prove that this sinister shadow, figment of Waite's disordered intellect, was the real slayer.

Waite's counsel announced he would take the stand to tell his own story. Defense Counsel Duell also briefly outlined the insanity in opening his case.

The defense claimed that Waite is insane now, and thru the testimony of relatives still seek to show that he is of a peculiar disposition.

This will lead up to Waite's story of "The Man from Egypt." Frank Waite, a brother, was the first defense witness. He said: "Three months after Arthur was born it was noticed that his head was unusually large. In school days he was quarrelsome and a lagard in his studies."

An effort will be made to show that Waite was helpless in the power of this intangible power which, he claims, drove him to kill Mr. and Mrs. John Peck by the use of deadly poisons and disease germs.

If Waite is convicted it will be because of the testimony of three women, wife, sweetheart and friend, court observers believe. All three gave strong testimony against him.

PAINLESS DENTISTRY IS THE KIND YOU WANT AND ARE ENTITLED TO

There can no longer be any doubt in your mind as to the advisability—yes, the NECESSITY—of having your teeth fixed and put into perfect condition.

But where to go to get a square deal—to get the most value for your money—that's the problem.

We respectfully call your attention to a few facts in regard to the Regal Dental Offices—solid, concrete facts—which, if you will give them careful consideration, ought to convince you beyond the shadow of a doubt that THIS IS INDEED THE PROPER PLACE FOR YOU TO COME.

Thousands of people have found the Regal the right place, and they don't regret it—in fact, this is by far the fastest-growing dental office in the Northwest, and we don't need to impress on you that this could not possibly be the case if we didn't please and satisfy our patients.

DR. L. R. CLARK

First—YOU WANT PAINLESS DENTISTRY.

We are in a position to absolutely guarantee this to you. We have the latest and most scientific appliances—we have an ample supply of "NOVO-CAIN," which any competent dentist will admit is the best, most efficient anaesthetic yet discovered for painless dentistry. (Most dental offices have none at all of this precious substance—nor can they get it.) And, having these appliances, we have the skilled dentists, who know how to apply them. Good tools in the hands of a poor workman would be of no avail. But here we have the good tools and the good workmen, too, which makes a combination that can't be beat. WE DO PAINLESS DENTISTRY EVERY DAY AND WE CAN PROVE IT. We can prove it conclusively by the signed testimonials of a great number of reliable citizens, both men and women of Seattle and vicinity, who state over their own signatures that we have done their work for them, and have done it without hurting them a bit. And the testimonials cover all branches and all sorts of dental work, so no matter how difficult your case may be, we can guarantee to fix it absolutely without pain to you. And we want you to be absolutely satisfied on this point before we even start to do your work.

Second—You want the kind of work that will give you lasting and permanent satisfaction. We use only the very best of materials in this office, which will turn out the kind of work that we can afford to go behind with our iron-clad guarantee. Many people have used our dental work for years and testify to its lasting qualities.

Third—You want the RIGHT PRICE. You don't want to pay more than you ought to pay. We guarantee our prices to be the lowest. The reason we are able to do this is because of the extremely large volume of business that we do. We can naturally afford to take a smaller profit on the individual case than the office which does only one-third or one-half of the volume that we do. It is our invariable

And we want you to know that it is our aim and desire to please and satisfy you. We are banking on you to recommend your friends to us. That's what makes our business, and how can we expect you to do so unless you are pleased with your own work?

Your teeth are a matter of first importance to you. Don't put off having them fixed. You are taking chances with your health—with your efficiency, by so doing. Come in right away—RIGHT NOW is the proper time. And be sure of one thing—it will be worth a whole lot more to you than it will cost.

20 CLOWNS WITH ROBINSON SHOW

John Robinson's Ten Big Shows, billed to pitch their big tents in Seattle on June 5 and 6, will give performances afternoon and night. A street parade will be given, with four bands, many golden chariots, elephants, camels, knights in glittering armor, etc.

The performances comprise the world's best male and female riders, a great herd of performing elephants, troupes of acrobats, aerialists, trapeze artists, athletes and tumblers while 20 clowns will keep the audience in roars of laughter.

RUSSIAN LECTURES

The people of Russia are not in sympathy with their country's activity in the great war. The government will eventually be overthrown, either by revolution or education.

These were statements made by Lieut. M. Swartzkopsky, lecturer, and former Russian army officer, who addressed Rotary club members Wednesday.

Because he refused to command troops to shoot down rioters in St. Petersburg in 1906, he says, he was sentenced to Siberian exile, but escaped.

Count Tolstol is said to have aided him.

TWO MORE ARRESTED

Police investigators went to a lodging house at 222 1/2 First ave. and arrested E. H. Johnson, proprietor, Wednesday night, for the alleged sale of booze.

Later they arrested Mike Rotz, manager of the Portland hotel, 211 1/2 First ave. S., on the same charge.

GUS KNUDSON GOING HOME TO SEE MOTHER

into his calico blouse on the day that Lemon Bros. circus rumbled into town.

Animals Liked Him "I liked animals, and Jim Lemon liked me the first time I ever carried a bucket of water," said Gus. "And animals liked me."

"Why, I remember we had a giraffe named Dora. She was the first zoo animal I ever tended. That was the day they showed at Alexander. Jim Lemon says to me, 'Don't never be afraid of animals; be kind to 'em.'"

Gus wasn't afraid, either, he says. And Jim Lemon let him ride away on the wagon that night—and fed him, and cussed him, and liked him, during the 12 years that followed.

A Good Animal Tender Gus turned out to be a good animal tender. He maintains he could doctor a monkey, tell what was the matter with a lion, or prescribe for an aged tiger better than any trainer in the outfit.

What was more important, his reputation as a professional animal man won him the respect of rival circus men.

It was that reputation that landed him the job with the Barnum shows.

Meanwhile, the farm at Alexander fared well without Gus. The brothers and the sisters all married and settled near the home place.

Only wandering Gus, the animal man, was absent from the family board at Thanksgiving time and at Christmas.

POLITICIANS UNITE

With Senator E. B. Palmer as chairman, a political club to be known as the Organized Republicans was organized Wednesday night at the Lyon club. Its purpose is to defeat nonpartisanship. There will be no dues for members, and meetings will not be held often, except by the executive committee, which will meet once a week.
