

Not Wisely, But Too Much, Does Otto Love! He Lands in Prison

NEW YORK, June 6.—Having given the last pat to his white satin the Otto Wiedenbaum, 29, threw back from the mirror yesterday to let his wife admire his high silk hat.

He smiled at her as she nursed their seventh child, three days old. "I should look my best," he said. "It is only proper, I go to the wedding of a man I know very well."

Which was no lie, for the man was himself.

He had obtained a license to marry Miss Amelia Gnipewich. The wedding bells are ringing. The wedding party gathered in St. George's Greek church.

The minister was nearing the ceremony's end when down the aisle marched Mrs. Bessie Rock, aunt of Wiedenbaum's wife, and her three daughters.

Wiedenbaum's 11-year-old son, "Stop the wedding!" cried Mrs. Rock. "This man has a wife and children—a bushel of them. Only three days ago came another boy."

"Wretch!" shouted the three Misses Rock at the would-be bridegroom.

"Papa," shrieked Isador. "What you trying to do?"

Wiedenbaum made no denial. The bride did not faint. She merely drew away among her relatives and said:

"If it's like that, I'm sure I don't want him."

"Well, I'm Caught!"

Somebody snatched the bride's bouquet and jammed it into Wiedenbaum's face.

Another smashed his hat down on his ears.

Many kicked and punched him.

"Well, I was caught, that's all," said Wiedenbaum to Lieut. Finn.

There was a roar from the crowd.

"I guess I'd better be locked up right away," said Wiedenbaum. Somebody threw something. It was his battered silk hat.

SEATTLE BUSINESS NEWSPAPER STARTS

The first number of the Business Chronicle, a financial newspaper, published weekly by Edwin Selvin, has been issued.

Selvin, who is one of the best posted men in the Northwest on business and financial affairs, edits the Business Chronicle from offices in the Alaska building.

He says, in an announcement in the first issue: "This city has reached that stage in its development as a financial, commercial, manufacturing and foreign trade center, where it should have an authoritative publication to adequately and accurately chronicle, from week to week, the news of its business."

"Business men, to intelligently direct their affairs, also need trustworthy information of conditions throughout the Pacific Northwest, and of Eastern conditions which, directly or indirectly, have a bearing on the business of Seattle."

"Business Chronicle has seriously set about to give these things."

Articles in the first issue of the Business Chronicle discuss maritime and industrial matters of interest to the Northwest and the Pacific coast, as well as financial conditions throughout the East and in foreign lands.

DAINTY STAR AT REX

Marguerite Clark Plays in Snow Film

Marguerite Clark, in "Out of the Drifts," at the Rex.

COLISEUM—"The Spell of the Yukon," with Edmund Bross as the star.

ALHAMBRA—"The Courtisan," with Eugenie Forde, and "The Limousine Mystery," with Mary Fuller.

STRAND—"Hypocrisy," a William Fox feature with Virginia Pearson; "Mutt and Jeff" animated cartoon.

CLASS A—"The Primal Instinct," Broadway star production; "One Chance in a Hundred," with Helen Gibson, and a Sis Hopkins comedy entitled "A Baby Grand."

LIBERTY—"The Bugle Call," with Willie Collier, Jr., and a scenic picture.

CLEMMER—Pavlova and her Ballet Russe in "The Dumb Girl of Portici."

COLONIAL—"Nancy's Birthright," with Edythe Sterling.

MISSION—"The Silent Man of Timber Gulch," with Ella Hall, and "The Passing of Hell's Crown," with Harry D. Carey.

REX—"Out of the Drifts," with Marguerite Clark, a comedy called "Sweet Charity," and colored scenic pictures.

WAS FUNNY GIRL ONCE

When Edythe Sterling first went on the stage, she played comedy parts and toured the country with Mabel Hite.

After she went into the movies she discovered she could play serious roles, and bring out heart interest better than she could produce laughs.

Edythe has the leading role in "Nancy's Birthright," at the Colonial.

WEARS FINE DUDS

Seattle women are flocking to the Strand to see Virginia Pearson in "Hypocrisy." One of the reasons is that Virginia has been declared a perfect American type, who knows where to buy and how to wear stylish duds.

"Hypocrisy" is a Fox film production, which exposes many shams of society. Miss Pearson wears a lot of good looking clothes in the picture. She was the star with Robert Hilliard in the stage production of "A Pool There Was."

Florence Kubey, girl violinist, sings, dances and plays at the Strand.

One of the Most Beautiful Women in the World Is at the STRAND Today

In fact she is claimed by many who are competent to know to be the MOST PERFECT type of American beauty. And she is one of the very classiest dressers, too.

It is VIRGINIA PEARSON —IN— "HYPOCRISY"

In this picture she wears some of her handsomest gowns. If you enjoy seeing a clean, wholesome picture, produced with everything that money and brains can use to make a fine picture, you will most certainly want to see "Hypocrisy."

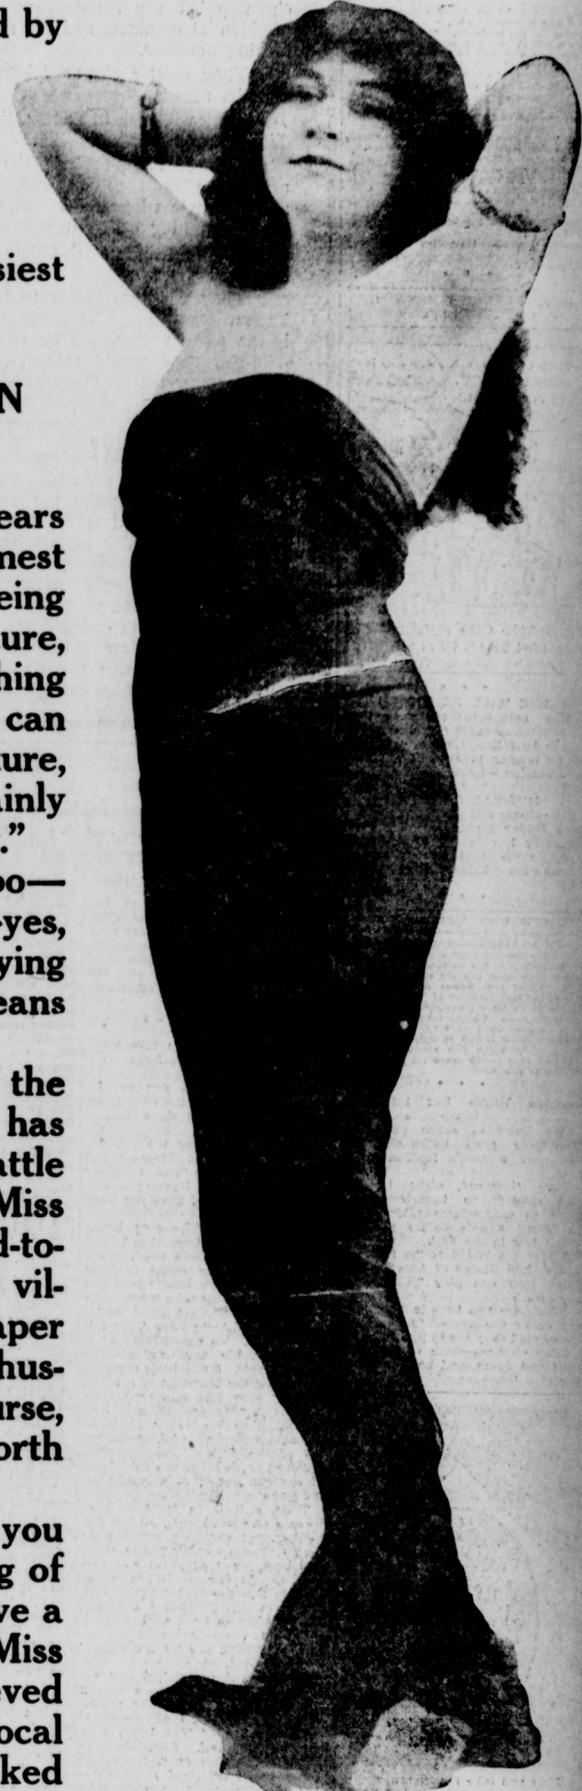

It has its lessons, too—it shows the danger—yes, the absolute folly, of trying to live beyond one's means just to make a show.

The last act is one of the most thrilling bits that has been seen on a Seattle screen in a long time. Miss Pearson engages in hand-to-hand struggle with the villain to regain the paper which will save her husband. She does it, of course, but that fight is well worth seeing, believe us.

Then we want to tell you that in the violin playing of Florence Kubey we have a rare treat for you. Miss Kubey has already achieved a much more than local reputation and is looked upon as one of the bright prospects of this community to make a career for herself. She plays with rare sympathy and sweetness, and the applause that she receives after each appearance attests the fact that she is pleasing the audiences.

You don't need to be told that Mutt and Jeff are funny—they are always funny—but this week, in "In the Hospital" they are funnier than ever. If you want to have a good, hearty laugh don't miss them. And we have been told that laughing is mighty fine for the digestion.

Altogether we don't think it is going a bit too far to say that we have the best all-round program in Seattle, and the price afternoon or evening is just 10c. And the children are only 5c. Loge seats, big, comfortable, roomy seats they are, are 25c.

TANGLE FOR COURTS

All residents north and south of the city limits who have been served with Cedar river water for several years, are affected Tuesday by a legal opinion handed down by Corporation Counsel Caldwell that the city cannot rightfully sell water outside the corporate limits. The case will probably be taken to court before water is turned off. Caldwell gave his opinion at the city council meeting Monday night.

CALL 19 DRUGGISTS

Nineteen drug store and warehouse proprietors are subpoenaed to appear before Police Judge Gordon June 8 and show cause why large shipments of liquor seized by the police should not be destroyed. Among those to appear is Walter Eyles, of the Eyles Storage & Transfer Co.

Even a King can't dictate what you should like or not like

If it happened that Fatimas were originally "Made and blended for the King of Whatis"—would that fact prove that you were going to like Fatimas best? It would not.

A man's taste is his own. A cigarette that might delight some old potentate's palate would not necessarily please you.

That's why we leave Fatimas up to your taste.

But there is something more than good taste that is mighty important to you.

No matter how good-tasting a cigarette may be—it can only be the SENSIBLE cigarette for you if it is comfortable, too.

Its pure tobacco must be cool and comfortable to your throat at all times. And it must leave you feeling fine and fit at the end of a hard-smoking day.

Will it do all that?

Then, it is the sensible cigarette for YOU.

There are thousands and thousands of men who believe that Fatima is the most sensible cigarette there is.

Try them yourself. You may discover—as these thousands of other men have—that Fatimas have just the cool, mellow taste that you've been longing for in a cigarette.

You may find that Fatimas have the kind of mildness which allows you to smoke more of them than you might of other cigarettes.

You may find that Fatimas offer you a little more satisfaction in every puff than you ever before found in any other cigarette.

Buy your trial package of Fatimas and test them today.

THEY LIKE WILLIE, JR.

Willie Collier, Jr., aged 14, son of the famous Broadway fun maker, Wm. Collier, has the leading role in "The Bugle Call," a drama of frontier life by C. Gardner Sullivan, which is at the Liberty until Wednesday night.

He takes the part of Little Willie, 10-year-old son of Capt. William Andrews, commandant at the military frontier post of Fort McPherson.

SIX STARS AT WORK

Ella Hall, Bob Leonard, Harry D. Carey, Oliver Fuller Golden, Goot Gibson, and Bill Nye are all stars this week at the Mission. "The Silent Man of Timber Gulch" is the title of the picture that heads the program, and has for its star Ella Hall.

Harry D. Carey and Oliver Fuller Golden are the stars in "The Passing of Hell's Crown," the second feature on the bill.

"Jack," the third feature, is a heart interest drama.

JUDGE IS DRUGGED

Federal Judge Neterer, who was drugged by a burglar who prowled thru his home, 905 15th ave., Sunday night, has completely recovered from the nauseating effects of the stuff Tuesday. What was taken, with the exception of some loose change, a watch and stickpin, the judge said he would be unable to tell until Mrs. Neterer returns.

PARKER SENTENCED

Jay J. Parker, sentenced by Federal Judge Neterer for counterfeiting, Monday, has already paid his fine and served his term in prison. He was assessed $1 and sentenced to 20 minutes in jail. The coins he manufactured, it was shown, were intended only as souvenirs of a mining company he represented, and were not for circulation.

PUT BOOZE IN BAY

Choice whiskeys and beer valued at $1,000 are mingling with Elliott bay waters Tuesday, following the seizure and destruction by the police late Monday of a shipment consigned to the Market pharmacy, 1525 First ave. The stuff was taken from the O-W. R. & N. freight depot. The pharmacy has passed out of existence.
