GIVE PRES. WILSON REPEATED OVATIONS

BY ROBERT J. BENDER United Press Staff Correspondent

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 4.—(On Board President Wilson's Train).—After a day and a night of ovations and demonstrations by crowds led by bands that greeted the president's passage thru every city and hamlet en route, Louisville today presented the climax of greetings when the presidential train steamed over the bridge and entered the station here.

Shrieking calliope on the big river excursion boats wailed out "My Old Kentucky Home" and patriotic airs.

RAIL MEN TO FIGHT FOR LAW

BY CARL D. GROAT (United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—A lingering year of warfare still clung to the railroad brotherhoods today.

The Adamson bill was passed late Saturday by the senate. Brotherhood leaders then sent code messages to their district leaders, cancelling their previous order to strike at 7 a. m. today.

ELVIN ASSELIN, 40, an employe of the Cascade lumber mill at Ballard, fell into the bay Sunday morning and was drowned.

WOMEN SCORE LABOR ADVANCE

Short Hours and Better Pay Will Never Be Relinquished

OUTLOOK IS BRIGHT

BY AGNES NESTOR President National Women's Trade Union League

The outlook for the women workers of our country is bright for the coming year.

The prospects for organizing women into trade unions in great numbers never looked more promising to us.

Unorganized women have been working long hours for low wages so long that an unrest exists, certain to find expression in uprisings such as we witnessed in strikes last spring.

There are trades everywhere in this state of unrest and ready for organization.

In Illinois, we realize, we are far behind other states in the matter of legislation for protection of woman workers, because we still have the 10-hour day and 70-hour week.

We look forward in the coming session of congress to a bill to create a separate division in the department of labor, to be known as a woman's division, with a woman chief.

With prospects of federal aid to vocational education to be granted to the states, opportunities will be open to women, giving them training for trades and occupations that will fit them to enter more profitable employment.

We must not only plan for reaping the greatest harvest from this prosperity the country is enjoying, but we must be ready to meet whatever unforeseen situations may develop after the war.

ROLAND H. HARTLEY

HARTLEY To Labor:

You have built the Nation; for it we honor you today!

But— Your responsibility is as great as your achievement.

Unless you realize that responsibility you may bring down with a crash the structure you have builded.

The agitator who exploits labor for his own gain robs the toiler and victimizes the public—his tyranny thrives at the expense of the honest workman, organized or unorganized, who scorns the methods of the highwayman.

The selfish labor union that waxes over-fat while fellow laborers grow lean is a curse to all labor—a creator of class warfare—a blot to true Americanism.

Union labor agitators intimidate individual members and force them to support high-handed deeds of violence.

Labor agitators, almost at the point of a gun, hold up employers of labor and take from them money that should go to all workers.

Look at Detroit—look at Los Angeles—cities whose growth has amazed the world; cities built by "open shop" labor, where every man has equal chance to earn his own and his family's daily bread.

It is a well known fact that within those prosperous cities a higher average wage is paid to labor than in any city dominated by arrogant labor leaders.

You can do more than all other powers within city and state to make Seattle and Washington great.

Show your loyalty to Seattle and the state by casting your vote for the man who stands for industrial freedom.

Consecrate Labor Day to truth, to your fellow man, to patriotism, to the best interests of Labor.

"To thine own self be true, And it must follow as the night the day Tho' canst not then be false to any man."

JOHN E. BALLAINE'S CANDIDACY FOR CONGRESS AMONG HIS NEIGHBORS IN THE UNIVERSITY DISTRICT.

The North End News Gives Particulars for Benefit of Voters in Seattle and Kitsap County, Incidentally Showing Up Methods of Secret Opposition by Agents of the Alaska Syndicate.

John E. Ballaine for Congress and 3,000 Miles of Government Railroads in Alaska, Prosperity for Seattle and Washington.

The candidacy of John E. Ballaine for congress has been followed with more interest in the University district than that of all others together because of his long residence and wide acquaintance in this community.

We want every sufferer of epilepsy to give the Kosine Treatment a trial, for the success of the treatment during the past 15 years has proved the Kosine Treatment to be of unusual merit.

Mr. Ballaine's force of character, his ability and his clean life command for him the respect of the people of the University district in all factions and all parties to a degree that is unusual of any man in any community.

An Alaska banker who handles the Alaska business of the Morgan-Guggenheim Syndicate, and has offices in the Pacific block, has phoned several reputable residents of the University district, whose names the News has, and urged them not to vote for Ballaine because he owns property in Alaska.

Mr. Ballaine does own property in Alaska, and has owned it for many years, but in all of his statements to committees in Congress he has publicly and manfully stated what his interests in Alaska are, and successfully advocated the building of Government railroads over routes to be designated by the President, regardless of his individual interests.

Every business man and laboring man in Seattle has financial interests in Alaskan development, and it is hypocrisy to pretend that we have not. It is because we do have financial interest in Alaskan development that we want Alaska developed, rather than to have it exploited by exploitation for the further and exclusive enrichment of the New York millionaires who own the Alaska Syndicate.

Mr. Ballaine should be elected to Congress he would take rank among the ablest and most influential men in that body.
