NEWS—NOTES—GOSSIP

Jewell Carmen and Douglas Fairbanks in "Manhattan Madness," the breezy comedy at the Liberty until Wednesday night.

PROGRAMS TODAY

LIBERTY—Douglas Fairbanks in "Manhattan Madness." STRAND—Valeska Suratt in "The Straight Way." COLISEUM—Lou Tellegen in "The Victory of Conscience." OLIVE—The Danger Signal and others. CLEMMER—Audrey Munson in "Purity." CLASS A—Mrs. Olga Petrova in "The Eternal Question." MISSION—Lewis S. Stone in "According to the Code."

LIBERTY

Douglas Fairbanks will be seen at the Liberty in "Manhattan Madness" until Wednesday night only. Those who have seen him in "The Habit of Happiness," "Double Trouble," "The Half-Breed," will know what to expect in this five-part feature.

As a Westerner with a college education who "pooch pooch" New York because it is slow, "Doug" is wonderful and great. His friends, after hearing their great and more or less honorable city belittled by the speech of the Westerner, fix up a little surprise for him; all of which is told with "dressing" on the screen. "The Sunset Trail," another one of those super-scenics in motion pictures, is also on the bill. A two-part Keystone comedy entitled "Lover's Might," with Fred Mace, completes the program.

COLISEUM

Cleo Ridgley's startling dances, one of which is that of the seven veils, alone are worth the money in "The Victory of Conscience," which capacity audiences saw Sunday at the Coliseum. Lou Tellegen, a big, talented French star, makes the picture thrilling. It stays until Wednesday, with the comedy, Pictograph and orchestral numbers in addition.

CLEMMER

"Remarkable and true interpretation of the beauty of sculpture," this was the verdict of a Seattle sculptor, who Sunday attended the opening performance of "Purity," now showing at the Clemmer.

REX

The voting contest for the 1917 model Ford is going to develop into a whirlwind campaign for votes and draw many new patrons to the Rex, if Sunday's indications may be taken into account. "The Grasp of Greed," featuring Louise Lovely, is the offering on the screen, together with a comedy and some beautiful scenic of Japan.

COLONIAL

"The Danger Signal," the Kleine-Edison Feature Service, which will be shown at the Colonial a few more days, is conceded to be one of the strongest, most entertaining film dramas yet produced, and already has taken front rank. It is founded upon "Canavan, the Man Who Had His Way," Rupert Hughes' story, which, when it appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, caused considerable interest with the reading public.

STRAND

While Valeska Suratt was acting in "The Straight Way," now showing at the Strand, she kept two sewing machines and five maids busy at the studio. When she first went out, she had the machines and the maids shipped, together with an enormous amount of various kinds of cloth, trimmings, thread, needles, thimbles, and scissors. Whenever Miss Suratt works on a picture, she spends her off minutes in supervising the making of gowns. She is an adept with the needle herself, and does a great deal of the work on the new dresses.

CLASS A

Mme. Olga Petrova, in "The Eternal Question," scored new triumphs for herself with Sunday audiences at the Class A. The play itself teems with exciting incidents and with an actress of Petrova's caliber to head the cast, it gets over in fine shape.

MISSION

"According to the Code," with Lewis S. Stone in the leading role, will be seen at the Mission until Wednesday night. This is one of the most appealing pictureizations ever offered to the photoplay public. The author's vigorous, incisive style, unconventionality, and sympathetic understanding of Nature and of her children in the rough, never combined to better advantage than in "According to the Code"—but it is more than a story—it is a wonderful narration of human nature.

"Sunny" Curtis Is in No Hurry; Catches Bugs With Pincers

LE ROY, N. Y., Oct. 2.—"Sunny" Curtis, who lives with his parents out on the old State road, has adopted a novel, slow and rather tedious, albeit effective plan to annihilate the potato bug. Taking a pair of pincers, he repairs to the potato field, and, seating himself in some likely looking place, places a few potatoes on the ground before him. The potato bugs, scenting the feast, make for the potatoes, when "Sunny" grabs them with the pincers and rejoices when he sees that he can effectively rid his farm of that pest.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Don't stay gray! Nobody can tell when you darken gray, faded hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

REALTY DEALER DIES IN SOUND

"This life to me is filled with sorrow and despair. I am gone. Forget and forgive."

This message, written by Samuel W. Wade, real estate man, was discovered on the dock at the foot of Harrison st. Sunday morning, and was the clue that led to the discovery of his body in the Sound by the police at 5:30 p. m.

He had committed suicide by drowning earlier in the day. Mrs. M. Rimer, 19 W. Thomas st., found the notebook with the farewell note written in it, along with his hat, keys and pocketbook. She notified the police, who labored several hours with grappling hooks before they located the body.

Wade's offices were in the Leary building, and he leaves a widow at 113 Pontius ave., in the Brewster apartments. She said he was depressed, and had been gone since Saturday.

THE CONFESSIONS OF A WIFE

PAULA FEELS THE PANGS OF LONELINESS HER FIRST DAYS IN NEW YORK

"Right here, Margie," continued Paula, "I want to tell you loneliness is a greater temptation to a girl struggling to make her living in a big city than the small wage we hear so much about. "Margie, I have found out a woman can starve her stomach if she only has food for her soul. It is being lonesome that turns your heart to water and your outlook on life to despair. To be lonely is to realize you are alone; that no one would know or care if, when you lie down at night, you might never wake up; to feel every one about you had some one with whom to exchange smiles and words of friendship and love, and that only you in all the great city were alone. "While in time you come to know there are thousands of men and women in the same boat of loneliness, most of the time it seems you, of all God's human creatures, are the loneliest. "And when you add to this foreign feeling the necessity of saying every cent that you may exist, I tell you, Margie, I who have gone thru it all, have all sympathy for the girl who 'goes wrong.' "Why, do you know, Margie, I have let strange men speak to me on the street because I felt I must speak to some one or go mad. When I got to the boarding house I found Emma's friend had gone back West where she had a better job. Consequently, there was no one in the house who had any interest in me. "When I went out in search of a job, I realized I had forgotten to get that letter of introduction my newspaper friend had promised me. So I had to roam from office to office, only to come home each night full of hopes and fears. "None of these sheltered women must ask me to condemn the girl alone in a big city who 'goes wrong.' For I am satisfied, if these women could live under the same conditions, perhaps a larger percentage of them would succumb to the terrible temptation of loneliness. "I don't know how many wage-earning girls who have learned from early childhood to take care of themselves. "To keep myself from growing mad, I used to throw myself on my bed and close my eyes and try to imagine I was away from all civilization in a great wood or on an uninhabited island. The thought of people about me all going their separate ways, not one of whom knew I was alive, was at times utterly intolerable. I found out then, Margie, that happiness must be shared; no one can be happy alone." (To be continued)

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should be given as the first treatment given. If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look. Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste and that a cross, irritable, feverish stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without gripping, and you have a well, playful child again. Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs"; then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS IN MANHATTAN MADNESS

One of Fairbanks' greatest successes—a sort of mental cocktail with a pronounced kick. If you were not able to get through the crowds Sunday, take our word for it, Douglas Fairbanks is well worth seeing.

A two-reel Mack Sennett Keystone comedy, "The Lover's Might," is long on laughs. A super-scenic, "The Sunset Trail," completes the picture program.

would think me disgraced if I failed to find a husband. This leaves me in a box, for I have no means of getting acquainted with nice men. What can a poor girl do? I am 18 years old.

M. M. M.

A.—Refreshments after a card party are almost invariably served on the small card tables to what ever groups happen to surround them. It would not be possible to improve on this custom. If there is not a maid to help, the host and hostess usually do the serving, assisted, if necessary, by one or more friends.

Spread the lunch cloths first, then pass the silver and napkins; then set the bonbons, salted nuts, olives, sugar and creamer on the table; then pass the salad on plates, then the sandwiches and coffee; or ice cream in its glass set on a plate, followed by the cake and coffee in cups without saucers. Collect plates before removing small dishes from table.

Q.—Just how far may a young girl carry her coquetry in angling for a husband? I have been reproved by some of my relatives who think flirting is perfectly awful. Nevertheless, they are all determined I shall get married. They
