BIG ELEVENS ARE BEING PUT THRU VERY HARD GRIND

BY H. C. HAMILTON
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—There is not a football team among the big Eastern elevens which will be called on this week for serious action, but every one of the teams is being sent over the roughest practice roads in preparation. Yale finished its hard scrimmage for the week yesterday with one of the most strenuous days since practice began. Head Coach Jones sent his men up and down the field in the toughest sort of driving play, forcing his varsity backs to plunge thru the scrub line time after time. Four times they were forced to smash their way to the scrub goal from their own five-yard line, and several times they were placed on the scrub 15-yard line and required to carry the ball across in four downs. Coach Jones became furious at constant fumbling by the first line backs, and threatened them with dismissal from the squad for any repetitions. He made this good when Bingham and Braden faltered, but was forced to relent when Van Nostrand, the only available quarterback, erred.

Yale is scheduled for its weekly game tomorrow, instead of Saturday, and will go into the contest against Virginia Poly. in a sadly crippled condition. Capt. Black will be unable to start. Physicians have pronounced his injured ankle too weak to risk hard scrimmage. Down at Princeton, Speedy Rush, acknowledging the weak points of his team's work against Tufts a week ago, is driving his men hard, in spite of the fact that one of the season's easiest contests is anticipated against La Fayette Saturday. Some of the hardest drillings of the autumn have been dished out by Rush, and his men will go into the game well trained, even if they do continue fumbling and other bad work. Bill Moore, halfback, was on the field in yesterday's practice, and his return was hailed with delight. He is not expected to start in the La Fayette game.

Hard at Work
The fierceness of practice seems to have gripped all the coaches, and Dartmouth turned up with a couple of injured backfield men. Thiel-scher, a veteran, was hurt so badly it is doubtful if he will be able to start Saturday against Georgetown. Holbrook's knee was hurt. Merrill, the veteran guard, left the field with a strained tendon, and it was announced he probably would be forced into idleness for a week. Harvard has the only team among the stronger universities which did not get the hardest practice of the fall, and the varsity men at Cambridge were sent thru some heavy stunts by Coach Haughton. Crawford Bladen, a Harvard graduate, appeared at Soldiers' field, and will help get the line in condition for the bigger games. He was a star line-man while at Harvard. Harvard, Yale and Princeton are expected to have only slight opposition when they go into action for their week's game.

JUST Between Ourselves BY THE SPORTS EDITOR

WHICH IS TRUE ENOUGH
The player flies out thru the park; The play is over for the year; And summer's glow now knows the dark Where silence rules above the cheer; And some are crowned above the set, And some we lifted up to fame, But bet you roll we won't forget The list of those who played the game. —MERELY A FAN.

We could arise each October and furnish three lusty, resounding cheers for the season's end, if it wasn't for the dire thought that within less than two months the magnates will be gathering again to launch the same old smear. When "dust returns unto dust," why not let it stay until another April shower stirs things up again?

Answer to query: Yes, Ignatz, the Boston Reds have to pay railroad fare for Sam Agnew just same as for the ball players.

Some one is suing Jim Coffey for $50,000. Jim ought to be thankful for the compliment.

Beginning with Morton and ending with Kiepler, the weakest 15 hitters in the American league hail from Cleveland. Maybe Tris insists on doing all of the hitting for the club.

CALL FOR MAY SUTTON BUNDY!
Four tennis titles within a week. That's the record achieved by Miss Molla Bjurstedt.

Next to Willie Hoppe, the only man in the world who can make solid ivory behave, the real outstanding champion of the sport realm is this same dark-skinned queen of tennis courts.

No player on the horizon this year has taken the measure of Miss Bjurstedt. She has made a clean sweep and deserves it. Here's the dope on her banner week's achievement:

Won New Jersey state doubles championship with Miss Marie Wagner.

With H. A. Throckmorton she won the New Jersey mixed doubles title.

The same day she won the New Jersey state singles title from Miss Ina Kissel.

Topped off the week by aiding her partner in winning the New York Tennis club's doubles championship.

Plug Up the Knot Holes, Gil, Old Boy

Sh! Sh! Secrets. Gil Dobbie ordered every one off University field yesterday and put his football pets thru practice with himself the only spectator. So afraid was Dobbie that some one might tip off his plays, that he ordered the newspaper men out of the lot, which has not been done successfully in the best-regulated circles for some time.
