

WICKERSHAM WILL STAY IN CONGRESS

JUNEAU, March 2.—Unless the courts enjoin the canvassing board of the territorial district of Alaska from issuing a certificate of election, James Wickersham will be officially named as the re-elected delegate to congress Friday.

Attorneys for Charles A. Sulzer intimated Thursday they would appeal to the court for aid, following the board's decision to count all ballots irrespective of the manner in which they were cast. This resulted in a Wickersham majority of 16 votes.

A number of the votes, it was shown, had been cast in a manner contrary to territorial law. If these were thrown out, Sulzer would have been elected.

GERMANY FAILS TO SATISFY CHINESE

COPENHAGEN, March 2.—Germany's answer to China's protest against the submarine decree, as stated in Berlin dispatches today, asserts that the blockade measures necessarily affect neutral shipping, but, as far as possible, the lives of Chinese passengers will be spared.

SENATOR ACCUSES SPEAKER OF PROTECTING LOAN-FEE GRAFT

OLYMPIA, March 2.—The senate has passed the buck up to Speaker Guy Kelly on the law to safeguard investors in loan bank associations. The speaker of the house is attorney and director of the Pacific Building & Loan association of Tacoma.

Charges that Kelly had compeled the teeth to be drawn from the building and loan association bill, were made on the floor of the senate by Senator Johnson of Spokane. He is accused of eliminating the provision that "membership fees" must not be more than $1 a share, and not more than $10 in all.

"It is up to the senate to pass the original bill just as it stands," said Senator Nichols, "and to give Speaker Kelly a chance to prove whether or not these charges are true or false."

The senate agreed that it should be put squarely up to the speaker by voting down the substitute compromise measure, 22 to 6.

The original bill, introduced by Chase of Spokane, was then passed unanimously.

Wray of King county, speaking in favor of the original bill, showed evidence of how unsuspecting workers and widows had been robbed of their savings, and how recently organized associations in the state have put hundreds of thousands of dollars of the hard-earned savings of swindled investors into their pockets.

Wray openly charged a certain Tacoma man, who recently organized several of these associations, with being "the biggest crook in the state of Washington."

Senator Landon characterized the membership and withdrawal fees as "legalized robbery."

Madam hid her letter in a secret drawer and her hubby sells the cabinet. The cabinet is found in The Star Monday.

Wray said nothing about port development, and attracting shipping with lower charges.

Byron Phelps declared himself the "big winner" candidate, "if you are for the bond issue I don't want you to vote for me," he said.

Thompson and Thompson speak R. H. Thompson and Will H. Thompson also spoke.

"If you love your city" said R. H. Thompson "vote against the bond issue. Every citizen who has at heart the interests of municipal ownership in Seattle will be against them. You are endangering the life of the water and light plants if you endorse these issues."

Will H. Thompson declared that in these times of war the city should not vote for any issues that will increase taxes.

SNICKERS GREET DALE'S ORATORY AGAINST BONDS

The American flag was waved to stir up enthusiasm at an otherwise dull meeting staged by Dale, Calhoun and Phelps, councilman candidates at the Strand theatre Thursday noon. About 200 people dropped in to hear them.

"War flames are at our door," orated Allen Dale. "Tomorrow they may be inside. The men will have to go marching off to war. You can do your duty by your country next Tuesday by marching to the polls and voting for Mr. Calhoun, Mr. Phelps and myself."

Allen said he was for the $450,000 arterial highway bond issue, but had decided to stop supporting it and run on an anti-bond platform. He introduced the plan in the council to improve the arterial highways with a bond issue.

Draws Big Laugh

He said he would "conserve the business interests" of the city if elected, and assailed the public market scheme.

"I used to buy produce for my cafeteria," said Allen, "so have gained expert knowledge on such matters. I always tried to buy direct from the producer and get my things from Seattle. Sometimes the bills were as high as $800 a week. I know what the city will be up against and the market plan won't work until we have a more concentrated government. We've tried to make various schemes pay. We tried to get a good site for a public comfort station down by the market but never found one where it would pay to put it in!"

The crowd snickered.

Allen raised his eyebrows, wondering what he had said. Reginald Thomson, on the platform behind him, was shaking like a thrashing machine, and covered his face with his hand.

Dale Roasts His Bridge

He stopped laughing, however, when Dale pointed to the collapse of the Dearborn at bridge.

"You see," Dale said, "there's a case where the public is paying for the negligence of the council!"

Thomson was the man who planned and built the broken bridge.

W. M. Calhoun followed Dale.

"There seems to be some doubt as to how we candidates stand," he said. "There's no doubt as to where I stand. I'm against all the bond issues."

Admits Lower Switching Rate

He said the belt line plan would reduce switching charges.

"But," he added, "why reduce switching charges and hand the money to the Russians, who are doing most of the shipping?"

He said nothing about port development, and attracting shipping with lower charges.

Byron Phelps declared himself the "big winner" candidate, "if you are for the bond issue I don't want you to vote for me," he said.

Thompson and Thompson speak R. H. Thompson and Will H. Thompson also spoke.

"If you love your city" said R. H. Thompson "vote against the bond issue. Every citizen who has at heart the interests of municipal ownership in Seattle will be against them. You are endangering the life of the water and light plants if you endorse these issues."

Will H. Thompson declared that in these times of war the city should not vote for any issues that will increase taxes.

U.S. SURE TO ENTER WAR, THINKS ENGLAND

BY ED L. KEENE
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON, March 2.—Relevations of Germany's intrigue against America created as much of a sensation here as it must have aroused in America. England believes the conspiracy seeking to align Japan and Mexico against the United States is "the last straw." America's entrance into the war is now regarded as certain.

In a general chorus of editorial denunciation of the plot, it was noticeable that all the Northcliffe papers were silent.

"Direct Act of War"

"A direct act of war," was the unanimous judgment of the other papers. While expressing their amazement at the plot, the editorials nevertheless asserted the scheme was "just what might be expected from Germany."

Confidence is expressed both by the public and the newspapers that Japan is not in the least interested in the plot, and would spurn any such schemes.

"This disclosure," the Daily Chronicle declares, "clears the air. Shows Hollweg a Hypocrite"

"It reveals the chancellor's recent speech in the Reichstag as a first-class piece of hypocrisy, and should show every congressman in whose mind the interests of the United States are in real peril, and that the situation is much too serious to be trifled with."

"We are glad the revelations were made at this juncture, because they will convey to the other neutrals further proof of the importance to be attached to Germany's asseverations of friendship," said the Daily Telegraph.

"She is exhibited as shameless in her accumulating dishonesty, plotting first against one state and then another in the desperate hope that she may somehow be saved from the fate which is overtaking her. Civilization must remain in peril until this hideous caricature of its own image is expunged from human records."

2 AMERICANS DIE AS DIVER VICTIMS

LONDON, March 2.—Two Americans appeared today to have been lost as a result of the German submarine ruthlessness. They were Wm. Jackson of New York and David Walker of Baltimore, seamen on the British sailing ship Galgorm Castle, sunk without warning by a German U-boat Tuesday, and missing since that time, with ten others of the crew.

One lifeboat, with 12 survivors, reached an Irish port. The other, with a similar number, was not heard of since.

The survivors had been afloat 13 hours, suffering terribly from exposure and lack of food and water. There were two Americans saved—Harry Merritt of Beaver Falls, Pa., and Harry Richardson of Boston.

Bell Boy Returns Lost Money Pack

The man who discovered that "honesty is the best policy," said a mouthful, according to Harry J. Kawabara, Japanese porter at the Oakland hotel.

"I found $3,500 in a guest's soiled linen," says Kawabara, "and now he's offered me a job at his mine in Idaho and given me $25 reward."

handling of pending business, and desired further dismantling of German ships in American harbors in covered also the matter of instructions to be left by consuls with special agents when the consuls left the country.

Pretend Peace, Plot Hostility

The scope of the orders to the consuls is said to be broad and in many respects startling. All go to show, it is officially declared, that while at peace with this government, Germany was constantly plotting hostile acts in hundreds of forms against the United States.

The United States is ready to make other equally startling disclosures "in proper time."

It is known that evidence of established German propaganda had been found in the revolutions both in Cuba and Costa Rica.

Within the last few weeks President Gonzales of Costa Rica has conferred with Secretary Lansing and President Wilson regarding the situation in his country now ruled by a de facto head with Gonzales temporarily in exile.

Shortly after Gonzales' meeting with officials here it was pointed out the state department announced the de facto government of Costa Rica would not be recognized by the United States.

Immediately afterward the de facto head of Costa Rica announced boldly that he did not need or care for the support of the United States.

Officials intimate strongly the head of that republic is probably otherwise cared for.

Evidence of Teutonic propaganda work in other Latin-American countries is also being investigated. In this connection some concern is felt over restlessness that has sprung up in Colombia because of the indefinite postponement of the Colombian-American treaty. This is believed to have moved President Wilson in recently urging action on the treaty. Senator Stone, chairman of the foreign relations committee, will rush action on the treaty during the extra senate session after March 4.
