BRITISH EXPECT GERMANS WILL ATTACK TODAY

WEST FRONT—Germans launch counter-attacks on newly gained British positions in the Ypres-Wytschaete sector, but the Tommies are evidently holding their own. The British success in Belgium overshadows all other activities. Along the French positions the Germans continue to send fruitless attacks. ITALIAN FRONT—British troops believed to have been withdrawn from the Russian front are concentrating on the Italian front. Some British "no surrender" is being made. Judging from the silence of headquarters officers in other theatres, they are quiet. By United Press Licensed Wire

LONDON, June 9.—The counter-attack stage was reached by the British advance in the Ypres-Wytschaete sector today. All thru the night front dispatches said the victorious Tommies were busy consolidating their new positions, digging fresh trench systems and preparing for the expected counter-thrusts. A powerful German attack directed over a front of six miles, covering ground just won in Belgium, was completely broken down by British forces, Field Marshal Haig reported today.

The German assaults of this type, which, according to the rules of the war game may be expected to follow an advance by the British, have all been noticeably weak. The demoralization caused by the unprecedentedly terrific British artillery fire and the mine operations all seemed to have had their effect on the Germans.

The Ypres salient, now wiped out in the British advance, was formerly considered so impregnable by the enemy that not near the number of men were held there that manned less strongly fortified positions elsewhere on the front. The Germans, however, had ample time in which to hurry reserves in great strength to make ready for the assault.

Will Deplete Reserve But with the Messines-Wytschaete ridge now held by the British—the impregnable position taken—it was pointed out that from now on Germany must keep an unusually strong force always opposite the Ypres sector because of the menace toward Lille. The British victory, therefore, is not alone important in the ground gained, the commanding strategic position of the ridge now held, but also because it will further deplete the reserve strength of the enemy by the necessity of the Germans massing forces around Lille.

GERMANS ATTACKING PARIS, June 9.—Germany's continued counter-offensive along the French lines were again fruitless, after severe night fighting, the war office reported today. "North of St. Quentin, during the night, artillery fire was very active," the statement said. "On Chemin des Dames, from south of Fflain to east of Cerny, the enemy renewed his attacks with the accompaniment of artillery fire in all sectors. North-east of Cerny four successive attacks were broken up in our fire. "North of Froimont, two German raids were checked with heavy losses. "Southeast of Corheny and south of Courcy, in the valley road, enemy detachments were repulsed."

AUSTRIANS CONCENTRATE ROME, June 9.—Two-thirds of the entire Austrian army has been concentrated in counter-attacks on Italian positions, but no impression is in the Gorizia area, on the Carso, is in the Gorizia area, on the Carso. Austrian armies are being switched from the Russian front to the Italian front.

"Stepped Over Top" and "Walked Along" in Vimy Ridge Fight LONDON, June 9.—Edward Fitzgerald, of Pittsburgh, got into the Canadian Seventh battalion because he was nearly "dead broke" in Seattle, with only a solitary half-dollar, the property of himself and a pal, Reed Benham, of Wenatchee, Wash. "We saw no chance of raising any coin, so we put it up to the half," said Fitzgerald. "It was 'heads,' stay in Seattle, 'tails,' go to Vancouver and enlist. I spun the half. It came tails. On Easter Monday I got mine at Vimy ridge. We just stepped over the top and walked along behind the barrage. Pretty soon a shrapnel shell busted over me and a chunk bit me in the right forearm, and here I am in Orpington hospital."

CLAY ALLEN TO JAIL SLACKERS FOR EXAMPLE

Some at least of the 17 Finnish miners now held in the county jail for failing to register for select service will be prosecuted, District Attorney Clay Allen announced Saturday. The men Saturday were willing to register. "There is no sense in using all of the power of the law to force men to register who should have done so without compulsion," says Allen. "These men admit they are guilty and that they knew the provisions of the law. We are going to send at least some of them to jail, as an example to other slackers." The men will be tried in federal court and liable to one year's imprisonment without option of fine and then military service. They were arrested Friday afternoon by deputy sheriffs and deputy U. S. marshals after Dr. George H. T. Sparling, member of the county registration board, had returned from Newcastle with the cards of 31 who at first had refused to register. He said that about the same number still refused. The officers were able to find 17 and brought them back by automobile and special train. The train, carrying Deputy Sheriff Joe Hill, Deputy Marshal Tobey and 11 prisoners, was purposely derailed by the engineer just outside of Georgetown who thus averted a head-on collision with a passenger train. The passenger train could not stop, owing to slippery rails, due to the rain. Those now held in jail are: G. Kouturi, 30; John Huoabri, 25; William Parto, 22; E. Carlson, 27; John Lang, 22; L. Ebel, 31; Antone Waka, 24; Jack Hautale, 30; Pabian Wesa, 28; John Makynen, 28; Emil Marlamaa, 30; George Blomberg, 22; Carl Carlson, 22; Antone Wilson, 24; Hugo Holms, 28, and Bruno Gronoos, 22.

ARRESTS FAIL TO STOP JITS While the donation busses roll merrily along Seattle's streets, accepting "donations for our land to fight the traction company," in Olympia the supreme court has taken under advisement the point of law which is the basis of most of the litigation by which the traction company hopes to abolish the 5-cent auto. The case was argued Friday. If the court decides that the word "may" in the law means "must," Insurance Commissioner Fishback will have to issue a certificate to the Mutual Union Insurance Co., allowing it to write the 2,500 surety bonds required of jitneys by the state law. If it decides that it is optional with the commissioner whether he issues the certificate, then jitneys will have to be "donation busses" until some private company is willing to write them bonds. Nineteen of the donation men have been arrested on complaint of the traction company detectives, and are operating their busses pending trial.

New and Wonderful Hair Removing Secret How to Get Rid of Beards and All The secret is out! Any woman bothered with superfluous hair can now rid herself of this trouble absolutely—not only the surface hairs, but the roots as well—by what is known as the "hair-removing process." The new method does away with numerous and expensive visits to the electrolysis operator. Does away with depilatories or shaving at frequent intervals. Nothing like it ever known before. Get a stick of Phalacine, follow the easy instructions, and if not entirely satisfied the druggist will refund your money. Do the work in a few seconds, in your own home, without the least injury. The hair-roots come out before your eyes, leaving the skin soft, smooth, hairless. Phalacine is odorless, non-irritating and so harmless you could eat it!—Advertisement.

CITY DELIVERS ULTIMATUM TO TRACTION CO.

An ultimatum, demanding either the payment of a rental of $1,000 a month or a lump sum of $60,917 as its share of the cost of building the Fremont bridge was delivered to the traction company by the city council Friday. At a special session the council passed an ordinance offering the use of the bridge to the company for $1,000 a month, and 1 cent per kilowatt hour for current used by cars in crossing. The ordinance was passed as an emergency measure and was at once signed by Mayor Gill. If the company refuses both offers, the city will start suit to force payment of the lump sum, according to Mayor Gill and Corporation Counsel Caldwell. The city's engineers estimated the minimum rental charge at $750. The company has repeatedly refused to pay its share of the building of the bridge. In order that the basis for a suit may be firmly laid, at the suggestion of Caldwell, it is probable that Monday the council will pass an ordinance setting the increased cost of the bridge because of the provisions for car traffic at $60,917. The mayor says he will sign it.

TITUS TO HANDLE CAMPAIGN HERE FOR RED CROSS FUNDS

Dr. Henry Suzzallo, president of the University of Washington, has accepted the city chairmanship of the Red Cross drive for $200,000. At a dinner at the Rainier club last night, he outlined his plans before 34 members of the committee. Hazen J. Titus, superintendent of the dining car service of the Northern Pacific and the man who made "The Great Big Baked Potato" famous, has been named by the Northern Pacific to handle the Seattle Red Cross campaign. Titus has few rivals in the publicity game. Next Thursday evening the first public campaign meeting will be held. No subscriptions will be taken. The public will be made familiar with the Red Cross and the details of the work.

VICTORY SURE, KING TELLS GEN. PERSHING

Continued From Page 1 while we are hammering, the United States is preparing with enthusiasm and ardor to hammer, too." Plan Public Welcome "The cheers that greeted Pershing had in them a spirit of national welcome," declared the Daily Mail. "There is not a man in these islands in whose heart they do not find a ready echo." The Times asks for an opportunity for a public welcome for Pershing's men, declaring them "standard-bearers of the republic in the crusade for the moral foundations on which she rests." Talker to King Half-Hour Gen. Pershing talked privately with the king for half an hour, and then presented his staff, each one being introduced. In a brief greeting, the king expressed his gratification at meeting the Americans, and proof thus afforded "that the English-speaking peoples were united in a war for civilization." "If we stick together, victory is the only result possible," his majesty concluded.

NATION-WIDE HUNT FOR SLACKERS ON

WASHINGTON, June 9.—In nine states a determined hunt for slackers is on today. As returns are compiled in the provost marshal's office here, it is found nine states are more than 150,000 short of estimates made by the census bureau. Some officials figured that this ratio would mean a shortage of nearly 500,000 for the whole country. Only four out of 14 states that have so far made complete returns have shown a registration exceeding census bureau estimates.
