

U. S. DEVELOPS PUBLIC CAMP NEAR ROCKDALE

Development of a public camping ground has just been started by the forest service on the Sunset highway, near Rockdale. A crew of men is now at work clearing up individual camp sites, repairing a portion of the old Snoqualmie Pass road, which will run thru the camping ground, and preparing to take care of a large number of visitors during the coming summer.

The camp is located 56 miles from Seattle so that it will undoubtedly be popular for week end and Sunday tours. It will also be a great convenience to tourists making cross-state trips.

A similar camp site was in operation at Eagle Creek, on the Columbia Highway, 45 miles out of Portland, during the last year. It proved to be immensely popular with the public as some 15,000 people registered.

Another development is also contemplated near scenic, on the Cascade-Scenic highway, as soon as it is opened for travel.

OPEN ORPHEUM AGAIN Metropolitan and Moore Are Both Lighted

1. Dorothy McGraw in "The Boomerang," at the Metropolitan. 2. Mina Gleason in "Her Unborn Child," at the Moore. 3. Blondell, at the Pantages. 4. Patricola and Meyers, at the Palace Hip. 5. Miss Moore, at the Orpheum. 6. Al Jolson, coming to the Metropolitan.

MOORE
"Her Unborn Child," a drama dealing with the question of the hour, birth control, will be the attraction at the Moore theatre for eight days, commencing tomorrow.

The play, the work of an English author, has done more to advance the theatre as an educational institution than any other drama ever produced.

With the newspapers full of the discussion of birth control, plays like "Her Unborn Child" are timely. No one under 18 years of age will be admitted to the performance of "Her Unborn Child."

Another novelty in the exploitation of this play is the fact that the daily line performances will be reserved exclusively for the ladies. But the gentlemen will be admitted to tomorrow's matinee and to all evening performances.

ORPHEUM
Sunday, with a continuous performance from 1 to 11 p. m., will bring about the reopening of the Orpheum theatre at Third ave. and Madison st., where Manager Eugene Levy, Seattle's pioneer vaudeville and picture magnate, will present his new vaudeville road show, coming direct to the Coast from Chicago.

Its five acts will be the Gene De Bell Trio, two dandies and a coon, in comedy singing and talking; De Voy and Dayton, comedians and eccentric dancers; Ball and Sinclair, banjoists and singers; Wilbur and Lyke, in a novelty trampolines act, and Lester and Moore, dancers, talkers and comedy warblers. The feature photograph will be O. Henry's "The Mystery of the Russian Sables."

COMING TO THE MET. SOON
Al Jolson, at the head of "Robinson Crusoe, Jr.," the big musical extravaganza sent out by the New York Winter Garden, after playing through the spring and summer at Broadway's temple of frothy fun and frolic, will be the attraction at the Metropolitan theatre for four nights, commencing Sunday, June 24.

PANTAGES
Headlining the new bill at the Pantages next week, opening with the matinee performance Monday, will be "Hello, Japan," a musical comedy with a bunch of girls, a galaxy of comedians and a score that is said to contain a number of song hits. For the special added feature Manager Pantages has arranged for the appearance of Ed Blomberg, the popular comedian, and his players, including Katherine Cain, in "The Boy From Home." Other numbers on the program will include Miller and Lyles, the international blackface comedians; the Four Gillespie Girls, harmony queens; Harry Worley, in songs and dances, and Gerard's monk and eyes. Ruth Roland, in the third installment of "The Neglected Wife," will be seen on the screen.

Palace Hip
The headline attraction at the Palace Hip Sunday is "Cloaks and Suits," being a comedy sketch covering vulnerable points in modern business methods.

Tom Patricola and Myers, as "The Girl and the Dancing Fool," has a line of talk and dancing. Walters and Walters are reported to have a most original act. Leon and Adeline Sisters will offer a pantomimic novelty, which combines juggling and hilarious comedy.

Van Perre and Van Perre have an offering which consists of singing, music and dancing. The Rambler Sisters, two dainty maids, billed as "The Essence of Grace and Charm," will have a variety of dances and songs.

METROPOLITAN
"The Boomerang," the latest Winchell Smith and Victor Mapes comedy, comes to the Metropolitan theatre for one week, starting Monday night.

"The Boomerang" is in three acts, and deals with the foolish jealousy of a lovesick youth in a manner that is said to be irresistible. For the first time, in a play at least, a physician is called in to effect a cure for love-sickness. As simple things are usually considered the most difficult, and as the physician is inexperienced, the exceedingly efficient, he goes to work without delay.

In every detail, it is promised, the comedy has been staged after the usual Belasco manner, while the cast performs with rare skill. The leading roles are in the hands of such well-known players as Arthur Byron, Martha Hedman, Wallace Eddinger and Ruth Shepley, while others in the company are Gilbert Douglas, Kathryn Keys, Marguerite Chaffee, Dorothy McGraw, John N. Wheeler, Richard Malchen and many others.

The Women's Roosevelt club will meet in a body at Red Cross headquarters in the Cobb building Tuesday at 2 p. m. to work for the Red Cross.

Cynthia Grey's LETTERS

PEOPLE TALKING

Q—I was married very young, and now at 25, I have been separated from my husband for five years. Our divorce is pending in the courts now. Some time ago I met a man whom I admire very much, and I asked him to marry me. I told him I would do so if he would wait two years. He agreed, and we have been keeping steady company for about a year. Now, people who do not know are telling all sorts of stories about me. For a while my fiancé did not listen to them, but now I fear he is beginning to doubt me. There is absolutely no foundation for these stories. What can I do?

A—There are certain fixed conventions that no one may violate without incurring adverse criticism. You defied one of these when you accepted attentions from one man while still the wife of another. Your proper course is to begin right now. Tell the man to whom you are engaged that you feel you have made a mistake in accepting his attentions until free, and ask him to discontinue them until you are free. Then pay no attention to the gossip, but conduct yourself so circumspectly that it will naturally die from want of evidence.

SUGGESTIONS WILL REACT
Q—I am 17 years old. I have been in a hospital several months recovering from an accident. Now that I am at home, several gossips have spread the rumor that I am not telling the truth—that no accident had occurred. The story has gone all among my friends. How can I prove my truthfulness?

A—Pay no attention to these unkind remarks or to the busybodies who spread them. It is a sad thing that there are so many persons willing to cause so much unhappiness. But do not take it to heart. Make no attempt to prove any thing. The truth needs no proving. In time these suggestions will react on the persons who have set them floating.

GYPSY COSTUME
Q—Please suggest a costume suitable for a girl of 14 to wear at a fancy dress party, with directions for making it. I prefer a fortune teller's costume. DENA D.

A—A gypsy costume would be very pretty. Make the skirt of yellow or red cotton goods, straight and full. Make a tight bodice of black, using velvet, satin or sateen. This is worn over a blouse with sleeves, which is like the skirt, or may be made of a thinner material in harmonizing shade. The top of the blouse, about the neck, should be laid in folds, like a handkerchief. Sometimes a bandana handkerchief is used. Wear strings of beads, necklaces and many rings and bracelets. Carry a gay-colored bag.

NEITHER LEGAL
Q—After a woman is married and finds her husband hasn't a divorce from his first wife, and she leaves him and marries again later on, isn't she lawfully married the second time, as she wasn't the first time? KITTY.

A—While the first marriage was not legal it must be canceled from the records. Neither marriage is legal as I understand the marriage and divorce laws of this state. If you would be well, however, to obtain the advice of a first-class attorney about a case so complicated.

PROPER FORM
Q—In serving a dinner, should the maid place the filled dinner plate to the right of the person served? How much water should be put in the finger bowls, and is it customary to have a slice of lemon in the water? HATTIE.

A—The maid serves the filled plates from the right side of each person and serves them with her right hand. The bowls should be about one-third full of lukewarm water. The lemon may be used, or not, as one chooses. At elaborate dinners, hostesses use a flower or leaf like those used for the decorations.

DATE OF DEATH
Q—To settle an argument, will you kindly state thru your columns when and where John Bunny, film comedian, died? UNO.

A—John Bunny died in Brooklyn, N. Y., April 26, 1915.

PUGET MILL CO. LAND DEPARTMENT
Walker Building, Seattle, Wash.

Gentlemen:—I am earnestly interested in "The New Life of the Land," and would appreciate literature descriptive of ALDERWOOD MANOR.

Come Out Sunday

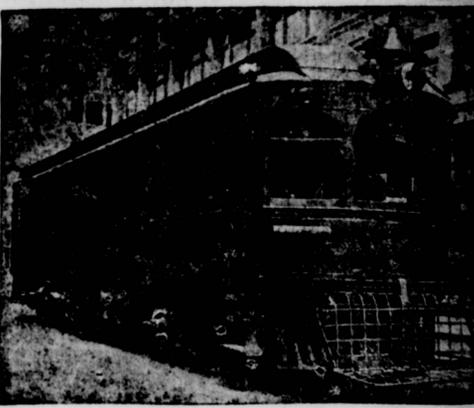

and see with your own eyes the place we have prepared for you

Come out to ALDERWOOD MANOR Sunday or any other day that best suits your convenience. See with your own eyes the wonderfully attractive demonstration farm, with its model poultry houses, the young filbert nut orchard just sending forth its first young shoots and green leaves and buds, the handsome and inviting Social Hall and Educational Building, the beautifully planned lawns and gardens!

Here is set before you the initial unit—the first step, as it were—in what is destined to become one of the greatest industries in the United States, Filbert Culture. Mr. A. A. Quarnberg will be here to explain in a most practical and interesting manner his experience in filbert nut growing, covering a period of twenty-five years in Western Washington. Mr. Quarnberg is permanently in the service of the Puget Mill Company, here to teach you and others how to grow filbert nuts profitably on the rich and ideally adapted soil at ALDERWOOD MANOR.

If you are more interested in poultry, Mr. Wigmore will take you through the model poultry houses, said to be the most practically complete in existence. Four thousand little chicks and some five hundred blooded Leghorns under his charge are there to demonstrate the success of poultry raising at ALDERWOOD MANOR. A few minutes' talk with a man who knows his subject thoroughly will convince any doubting mind that the day of the TWO-DOLLAR HEN has arrived—two dollars net profit per hen per year.

No one will urge you to buy land at ALDERWOOD MANOR. While we want settlers on the rich acres set apart for the new community, you must express a sincere desire to live the "New Life of the Land" along lines set forth in the plan outlined in the printed literature. We want successes only here; failure is out of the question, however, if you do your part willingly and fairly. The company stands ready always to help and encourage those who want to acquire a life of comparative ease and independence, yet do not know just how to begin.

SEATTLE-EVERETT electric cars leave the Everett Interurban depot at Fifth and Pine (Seattle) every hour on the half hour beginning at 6:30 a. m., last car leaving at midnight. Running time to ALDERWOOD MANOR 45 minutes. If you go by automobile go out Westlake and follow the North Trunk Boulevard (Briar Highway) and the Everett road direct to Alderwood Manor. The Alderwood Manor Demonstration Farm is located right at the Interurban depot.
