WESTHOLME

Now Ready for the Homebuilder

Seattle and Her Wonderful Harbor as Viewed From "WESTHOLME"

Large, sightly lots, cleared and with graded streets and sidewalks to be put in right away; water, lights and gas available when you are ready for them---all this within easy walking distance of the great shipyards, steel plant, flour and lumber mills, machine shops and factories, that are distributing Millions of Dollars to the thousands of skilled artisans who toil almost at the very entrance to "WESTHOLME." You can see your home at "WESTHOLME" from any of the big plants.

OPENING SALE
Tomorrow and Sunday

"WESTHOLME," the magnificent scenic property bordering the new brick-paved Avalon Way, that broad, sightly view driveway winding its way by gentle grades to the topmost heights of West Seattle, will be opened to public purchase tomorrow.

Owned by the Puget Mill Company since the founding of Seattle, and purposely withheld from market until such time as it could be made available to residential and business use, "WESTHOLME," by reason of the wonderful industrial and ship-building activity on Harbor Island, along the Duwamish Waterway and at West Seattle, becomes one of the most desirable residence and investment properties in all Seattle.

"WESTHOLME" affords a magnificent view of the harbor, city and mountains. By night the lights of the city and of the great shipyards add charm that thrills and fascinates. No other city in America, not excepting New York, can present a night scene of such magnificent splendor as Seattle, viewed from "WESTHOLME'S" heights!

"WESTHOLME" lies within easy walking distance of Seattle's south and west waterfronts. Residents there will be able to save both delay and carfare. No need for standing in crowded cars if your work is within a reasonable distance of "WESTHOLME."

All the lots in "WESTHOLME" are now cleared, ready for the builder. Streets are to be graded, water and sidewalks are being put in. Every lot has a frontage of forty feet—amply large for lawn and home vegetable garden.

TAKE THE FAUNTLEROY CAR

and get off at Thirty-fifth Avenue and you are right at "WESTHOLME."

OR TAKE ALKI CAR

and get off at foot of Avalon Way at the Steel Works.

Office on the grounds open all day, Sundays included.

Surrounded as it is now by homes of the very best character, and within such easy walking distance for thousands upon thousands of the highest salaried mechanics, superintendents and owners of industrial plants, "WESTHOLME" is bound to become one of the most valuable residence sections of Seattle. Homes, if built there now, would find a ready sale. Apartments would be at a premium.

Contractors and builders are planning to operate in a big way at "WESTHOLME," buying lots and building bungalows to be sold on easy payments.

"WESTHOLME" lots are priced to come within easy reach of the wage earner, and may be acquired on the most favorable terms yet offered in Seattle. The quick enhancement of values in "WESTHOLME" is a foregone conclusion.

Two big car lines, the Alki and Fauntleroy, pass within a few steps of "WESTHOLME." Take either and ask the conductor to stop at "WESTHOLME."

Avalon Way, a broad, winding, smooth-paved boulevard, one of the most popular thoroughfares in Seattle, passes directly through "WESTHOLME" and connects with all the main arteries of travel in West Seattle. There are many miles of magnificent driveways over there leading to some of the most inviting residential sections of the city.

Visit Beautiful "WESTHOLME" at your earliest convenience—there's a decided advantage in making an early selection.
