

Hanson Appeals to Voters on Election

Putting it up to the people of Seattle to elect three councilmen who will support him in enforcing the authority of the city, Mayor Ole Hanson last night, from his sick bed, dictated the following appeal:

"Seattle people will determine by their votes in the councilmanic election Tuesday whether the seat of government shall remain at the city hall.

"Three city councilmen who loyally supported me in the recent crisis, in keeping Seattle from being plunged into darkness and disorder, are opposed by three nominees pledged to vote according to the dictates of the Central Labor Council.

"When the radical element attempted to close down our public utilities, dictate to the city government and usurp the police power, I served notice upon them that the seat of government is at the city hall. The councilmen now running for re-election and the great majority of the people supported me in that stand and the seat of government did remain at the city hall; order was maintained and the normal life of the city was restored.

"A second attempt is being made to remove the seat of government from the city hall by the election of three candidates for the council in the place of Fitzgerald, Moore and Thomson, who resisted the attempt to take control of the city out of the hands of the constituted authorities.

"I trust that the people of Seattle, with recent events fresh in their minds, will vote overwhelmingly to return Fitzgerald, Moore and Thomson to the city council.

"I need their help to keep the seat of city government at the city hall."

FINISH PLANS FOR WELCOMING OF 69TH TROOPS

The war department has officially sanctioned all plans that have been made for the entertainment of the 459 men of the 69th regiment, who will arrive Thursday morning at 3 o'clock, at the Oregon-Washington depot, according to telegrams received by Frank Gates, head of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Welfare committee, from Senator Foxlander.

The Seattle men in the regiment, which is at the present time being entrained at Green River, Wyo., number 118, according to a statement of E. A. Swift, head of the Fathers' and Mothers' association, an auxiliary of the regiment.

With the announcement of the government consent, further plans for the reception of the boys were completed at a meeting held Monday noon in room 412 County-City building by the Fathers' and Mothers' association and the Soldiers' and Sailors' Welfare committee.

There will be a special reception given the boys at the O-W depot by their parents, who will be given admission tickets at the office of Frank Gates, 412 County-City building. A parade will follow soon after this informal reception, with plenty of music and noise to accompany the boys in their first march up Second ave. in more than a year. A ball will be given in their honor at the Armory in the evening.

Seattle Youth Is Honored in Italy

Honored by the Italian government as the result of his bravery while under fire for six continuous days, Leslie Craigen, member of the University of Washington ambulance unit, is to be honored in Italy.

Mrs. E. Craigen, 1908 W. Blaine st., tells of receiving the Croce di Guerra.

Sergt. Craigen is a graduate of Franklin high school and was in his freshman year at the University of Washington when he enlisted in the ambulance unit.

LAMPING BILL DEFEATED BY SINGLE VOTE

are willing to give the returned soldiers everything—but your dollars!"

The viewpoint of his opponents, Lamping declared, revealed that "the man who has wealth, and everything he desires, is unmindful of the underdog."

Other States Pay
He told how Massachusetts has been paying her soldiers a $13 monthly bonus since war was declared, and that she had three times as many soldiers as Washington. Vermont paid each man $10 a month during the civil war.

"And yet," he declared, "the state that bears the name of Washington hesitates to pay her men in recognition of their wonderful service."

"Even a felon, on leaving our penitentiary at Walla Walla is given $5 and a suit of clothes when he departs. And you say you'll not give your defenders money for a suit of clothes!"

He reviewed the efforts of the organization senators to defeat his bill—how Acting Governor Hart called together "millionaire bankers and millionaire newspaper publishers to spread propaganda against the soldiers' bill." He flayed bankers who signed a petition urging passage of the measure, and then sent letters to Senator Coman, withdrawing support.

Blowing Hot and Cold
"Bankers, it appears, blow hot and cold," said Lamping. "The Red Cross in Seattle today is begging for cast-off clothing for soldiers and yet this legislature hesitates. You save your conscience because the soldiers have not come down here in mobs and kissed your boots to give them due recognition."

Opponents of the measure urged that the bill be ignored. Lamping reports that opponents of the Lamping bill would never be returned to the legislature.

"There are all kinds of ways to get back," said Senator Hall, "and it doesn't make much difference whether we come back or not. The Smith of Everett said if he didn't come back, 'chances are the 38th district can send down a man ten times as good as I am to represent them.'"

Groff Makes Appeal
One of the dramatic features of the debate was Senator Groff's earnest appeal for passage of the measure. He is a returned soldier, but had been put in the limelight when he made a personal attack on Lamping in the senate a few weeks ago.

"For those unwarranted utterances I am sincerely sorry," he said. "Col. Lamping's record was above reproach. I received my punishment from the gentlemen who push the pencil."

"This bill originated from the good citizenship of the state. I hope this spirit, the spirit that has sent this nation to war for humanity's sake, will remain as long as heaven permits this government to stand."

"If men were killing each other in France, you who oppose this bill would be the loudest to vote 'Aye.' Now the danger is over."

Suffrage Blocked
Senator Jones, New Mexico, chairman of the suffrage committee, admitted today that suffrage is blocked. He cannot call it up, because of the rule requiring it to lie a day after it has formally been put on the calendar.

Senator Wadsworth Saturday night prevented it being placed there and, as the last two calendar days of the session, Monday and Tuesday, really are but one legislative day, Jones cannot get a vote except by unanimous consent.

Failure of the legislation for enforcement of the war-time prohibition law, which becomes effective July 1, will put it up to the separate states to enforce the law, Senator Sheppard, of Texas, said.

There was a possibility that the $1,000,000,000 wheat, guarantee bill may not get thru, as the senate early Sunday sent it back to conference. Vigorous efforts are being made, however, to push it thru.

The house today planned to take up conference reports on the Indian and diplomatic appropriation bills. Following this, the Lane soldiers' homestead bill is to come up, followed by the civil service retirement bill, Irish independence resolution, deportation of interned enemy aliens and investigation of cotton exchanges.

LIBERTY LEGION TO HOLD MEET ON RELIEF BILL

The largest mass meeting of soldiers and sailors ever staged in the city of Seattle will be held in the auditorium of the Soldiers' and Sailors' club tonight. The meeting is being held under the auspices of the American Legions of Liberty, to discuss the Lamping bill and other measures now pending before the state legislature.

Altho on record as favoring the Lamping bill, a lively debate is expected over a resolution favoring an increase in the veterans' welfare act by a few members of the American Legions of Liberty.

All men now in service, or discharged service men, whether members of the American Legions of Liberty or not, are urged to attend this meeting. It has been arranged that those active in the fight for either of the measures will have an opportunity to speak.

"Every man in uniform is invited to be present and to express himself on the subject," declared Executive Secretary H. T. Hanover today. "We want a full expression of opinion on both bills, in order that the position of the Seattle soldiers and sailors may be definitely known."

The meeting will be called at 8 p. m. sharp, on the third floor of the Soldiers' and Sailors' club.

Charles Van Loan Dead; Father Dies on News of Death

PHILADELPHIA, March 3.—Funeral services for Charles E. Van Loan, humorist and famous writer of sporting events, who died here yesterday, after a three weeks illness, of chronic nephritis, will be held at Wynote, near here, at noon tomorrow. The body will be cremated and the ashes sent to his former home in Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES, March 3.—Unable to bear the shock of the death of his son, Richard Van Loan, aged 71, died here yesterday, a few moments after a telegram brought him word that Charles E. Van Loan, famous writer, had died in Philadelphia.

"Our hearts suffer with yours in your great sorrow," the father wrote in a telegram to his dead son's wife. "Then he slipped from the family circle into his own room, and was heard praying softly. A few moments later members of the family went to his room and found him dead."

The funeral of Richard Van Loan will be held here Thursday, it was announced from the family home today. Altho the ashes of Chas. Van Loan will be sent to Los Angeles, there will be no double service for father and son.

Charles Van Loan lived in Los Angeles for many years, where he was a sport editor and writer. He was born in San Jose, Cal., and during his boyhood beat a drum in the Salvation Army, at San Bernardino. His father was a Salvation Army captain, and his mother an adjutant.

All transcontinental trains are reported to be running on time Monday. They were delayed Sunday from five to 12 hours, due to snow storms in Idaho.
