Allen-McHugh

There is a story, like a story in a book, of the wedding of Miss Debrah McHugh of Ireland to Mr. David Allen of Seattle Sept. 15 in Vancouver. They met in Ireland when a world war was considered nothing but the idle raving of long-haired statesmen. Mr. Allen returned to this country and before a great length of time sent for Miss McHugh. But when everything was arranged and she was ready to leave, the storm broke and passports were non-existent. It is a long time back to the summer of 1914, when in 1919 Mr. Allen was for the first time able to seek his fiancée and was preparing to do so when he received the wire that she had landed in Canada. This was the 9th of September and they were married in Vancouver on the 15th. They will live in Seattle at Mr. Allen's home, 2575 Sixth ave. W.

CATARRH DOES HARM

Whether it is of the Nose, Throat or Other Organs, Get Rid of It.

Catarrh of the nose or throat, when it becomes chronic, weakens the delicate lung tissues, deranges the digestive organs, and may lead to consumption. It impairs the taste, smell and hearing, and affects the voice. It is a constitutional disease, and requires a constitutional remedy. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla, which purifies the blood, and removes the cause of the disease, and gives permanent relief. This alternative and tonic medicine has cured thousands of patients in three generations. If there is biliousness or constipation, take Hood's Pills, they are a thorough cathartic, a gentle laxative.

When My Baby Came

WHEN they put that warm, fragrant little bundle into my arms and told me he was perfect, I cried. I was so happy. Of course, I was going to nurse him. And so I did, for two months. But he didn't gain weight as fast as he should. Then the doctor told me not to worry, and that often mothers couldn't nurse their babies. The nearest thing to mother's milk, Nestlé's Milk Food. "Of course, he has to have milk in some form—and Nestlé's is pure milk only made easier to digest because the tough curdles are broken up. To that they add just the right amount of sugar and cereal, so you only add water to Nestlé's, boil it, and your baby has all the nourishment he needs in the safest form."

Nestlé's is pure milk in powder form that is already modified and does not require the further addition of water. Always pure and safe, always uniform, and free from the dangers of home modification, Nestlé's has stood the test of time and is the largest sale of any baby food in the world.

ALWAYS TIRED BUT COULDN'T GET TO SLEEP

Utah Resident Lost Weight and Strength Until She Tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

"I became so run down, weak and discouraged that I began to think that life wasn't worth living," says Mrs. A. A. Perry, who lives at "Medicine Center," Magna, Utah. "Medicine had failed to help me, and I was getting worse every day. "What worried me most was my inability to sleep no matter how tired I might be. My complexion became a yellowish white color and my hands had so little blood that they were almost transparent. I suffered from violent headaches that started in the back of my head and run to the top. These attacks became so severe that my memory was affected. My appetite was poor and I was very nervous, especially at night when I tried to sleep, and could only think of my illness. "A friend, observing that I was getting worse all the time, recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to me and I procured a package. My appetite improved after taking one pill to sleep, and I kept getting better as the treatment was continued. Soon my strength was restored and my nervousness left me. I am entirely free from headaches now, my color is good, and I sleep soundly. Several of my friends have tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills on my recommendation and have found the remedy an excellent blood builder. "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., on receipt of price—50 cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50. Fashions for Americans

Blouse of Georgette and Satin

The sketch shows a short over-the-skirt blouse combining two fabrics and trimmed in a novel manner, with loosely run threads of silk floss and little rosettes of the floss scattered casually over the front and lower sleeves. A heavy fabric such as satin, crepe de chine or crepe meteur may be used for the blouse proper, with bands in georgette in contrasting color. The garment fastens at the left front, and is held in at the waist by the loosely tied sash of self fabric.

The short waist length blouse has not at all been relegated to the scrap heap by its rivals of hip or knee length. Some of the designers are bringing out for the coming fall and winter an array of very dainty and smart lingerie models trimmed with fine tucks or lace and frequently with both. But to make one of these lingerie blouses the really smart affair that it easily may be, very fine material and the most painstaking attention to detail of workmanship is necessary. The long blouses do not fit the figure except where drawn in by some girde or belt arrangement. They may be attempted by the amateur dressmaker with a good deal more certainty of success than the more conservative waist length blouses.

Among the long blouses recently displayed, one model with yoke and sleeves of cream colored lace and lower part of pale lavender georgette was especially smart. The short straight blouse, cut in kimono lines, is a favorite and is easy to make. A diamond shaped section is set in underneath the arms to prevent the garment from riding up and drawing uncomfortably. For these kimono models satin and velvet are favorite fabrics.

BABS WAS KIDNAPED—AND BOB AGREES I HAVE THE PROPER CLUE

"The child has been stolen, Jane! Sure thing!" Bob whispered to me, tossing my wet cap and coat to a maid and drawing me away from the crowd in Daddy Lorimer's office. "Every square inch of the paths and shrubbery has been combed, the lily pond has been drained, the house has been ransacked from attic to coal bins. That wet thing couldn't have toddled outside of these grounds in so short a time. Therefore the detectives have concluded that she must have been carried away!"

"I've been trying to tell you, Bob—my dear Babs' own mother has stolen her! Come on!" Bob seized my hand to hurry me to the office to tell my story to daddy's detectives.

"Wait, Bob! Wait!" I insisted. "Remember—you and I are the only persons outside the Miller family who know of the relationship between Babs and Katherine. And Benjie asked us—in his last letters to us—not to tell."

"That's so. We can't ignore poor Benjie's wish. We'd better not give the scandal to the police—unless it becomes absolutely necessary. What can we say to them, girls?"

"Why, just the actual truth! The motive for the abduction was revenge—revenge on all of the Lorimers for the hurt to Miss Miller's pride—in the matter of the engagement announcement."

"My dear Jane! I hardly think that 'hurt pride' will satisfy the police!"

"Nevertheless, it was Katherine Miller's only motive. I'm as sure—as sure—as that she has the baby with her this very minute! She never took the child because she wanted it. She doesn't love it, but she doesn't want me to love it. And as soon as she heard that you and I were going to adopt it—"

"She realized that her revenge was easy?" Bob agreed and we went into the office to tell the authorities about our clue and theory.

By CYNTHIA GREY

Dear Miss Grey: Recently my girl friend's Aunt Frank walked home with me from their house and his conduct was anything but gentlemanly. He had no occasion to become spoony, or familiar, as I am not the flirty kind of a girl, and I have always regarded him as a friend, and certainly a gentleman. Now I do not know what to do. Shall I ignore him for the future for my own sake, or shall I speak to him for his sister's sake?

WINNIE.

Acknowledge his existence with a nod when you meet, but do not talk to him. He probably expects you to "cut his acquaintance," but by bowing to him, you will confuse him still more. Eventually he must see that the confusion which you heap upon him is an expression of your contempt.

Layette For Baby

Dear Miss Grey: Will you please tell me how to dress a baby, that is, of what its layette should consist? I am a young wife, and know nothing of babies, and one friend suggests one thing and the next has quite different ideas.

EXPERIENCED MOTHER.

A baby should wear woolen shirts, stockings and bands, even in hot weather. A layette of modest, but sufficient size, consists of three knitted shirts for day and three for night wear; three flannel shirts, three dresses and three lawn petticoats; three night gowns of flannel and three of muslin; two kimonos, three flannel squares or shawls, five dozen napkins, cloak, hood and veil, three pairs of stockings and strips of flannel to be cut into bands and used as required, unhemmed. Much may be added to this layette, but little can be taken away from it. Use soft and fine materials, and plenty of fine stitching, but very little lace.

To Restore Faded Hair

Dear Miss Grey: What is good to darken gray hair, and how do you prepare sage tea? ELIZABETH.

To prepare sage tea, pour boiling water over the sage leaves and steep the same as any other tea, strain and the tea is ready for use.

Another good remedy for gray hair is: To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of barbo compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. It will gradually darken streaked or faded gray hair and remove dandruff. It is excellent for falling hair, and will make harsh hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

Cleaning White Coat

Dear Miss Grey: What will take a grease spot from a good white coat without leaving another spot? A. D.

Make a paste of starch and cold water and apply to the coat. Hang it up and leave the starch coat until perfectly dry, and then take a clothes brush and brush the powder away.

To Remove Dandruff

Dear Miss Grey: What will take thick dandruff out of a child's head, and what will turn light hair black so it will stay that way?

ANXIOUS MOTHER.

Kerosene is one of the best things I know of to remove persistent dandruff. Place a steaming Turkish towel over the hair, thus opening the pores of the scalp, then massage the kerosene into the scalp with the tips of the fingers. Let it remain about 20 minutes, then shampoo with tar soap and rinse thoroughly. Repeat this treatment every two weeks until the dandruff has disappeared.

I know of nothing that will turn light hair black permanently.

Admiral Kolchak Resigns Command

LONDON, Sept. 23.—Admiral Kolchak, leader of the anti-Russian government at Omsk, has informed the allies that he resigns in favor of Gen. Denikin, the anti-Bolshevik leader in Eastern Russia, wireless dispatches from the soviet government at Moscow said today.

IF YOUR EARS RING WITH HEAD NOISES

If you have roaring, buzzing noises in your ears, are getting tired of hearing and fear Catarrh Deafness, go to the druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmin (double strength), and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should be opened, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to breathe, the taste little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrh trouble of the ears, is hard of hearing or has head noises should give this prescription a trial.
