

Society

WOMAN'S PAGE

Cynthia Grey

Office Phone, Main 600. By REBECCA STEVENSON Home Phone, Capitol 617.

Mr. Samuel Hill Host at Dinner to Consuls

To honor Mr. Hervey Lindley, former chairman of the Northwestern Red Cross and recently appointed honorary consul general of Russia for Washington and Oregon, Mr. Samuel Hill will be host at a dinner at his home Thursday evening. The guests will be Mr. Bernard Kelly, the English consul; M. Pierre Humilly de Chevilly, the French vice consul; Mr. Nicholas Bogtoavensky, the Russian consul, and the Belgian vice consul, Mr. Heroges. Mr. Hill is, of course, the Belgian consul.

Belle of Ballard

Under the skilled direction of Mrs. Francis Guy Frink, the members of the Sunset club will present the musical comedy, "The Belle of Ballard," Wednesday evening, October 15. The event is a benefit for the Furling fund, and the sale of tickets is limited to club members and their guests.

Engagement of Popular Girl Announced

Mrs. Gertrude F. Brawley announced the engagement of her daughter, Edith May, to Mr. Oscar Walter Helwig of San Francisco. The wedding will take place the middle of October.

Dinner for Mr. and Mrs. Morrison

To compliment Mr. and Mrs. Philip Morrison, who have returned to Seattle after living for the past two years in Tacoma, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Franson will entertain with a small dinner at the Tennis club Saturday afternoon.

On the Charleston

One of the most interesting things one can do these days is to go to luncheon, to tea, to dinner, as the case may be, on some portion of the Pacific fleet. Sunday Mr. and Mrs. James Colbert Sullivan chaperoned a group of young people at the dinner with which the officers of the Charleston entertained. The other guests were Miss Dorothy Etris, Miss Judith Gibbs, Miss Alice Ives, Mr. Arthur Jones and Mr. George Brazier.

Mrs. Ballinger Hostess

Mrs. Edward B. Ballinger entertained with a dinner at the Sunset club last night in honor of some of the active girls of Delta Gamma. Covers were placed for 20.

Christening

The five-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Waldron Hutton was christened Ruth Waldron Hutton Saturday, September 13, by Bishop Shaylor, newly elected to the diocese of Nebraska. The ceremony, which was limited to relatives, was the only official act of Bishop Shaylor's before his departure for his new home.

Bridge Luncheon by Mrs. Seely

Mrs. Claude M. Seely was hostess at an interesting bridge luncheon at her home this afternoon.

Informal Tea

Mrs. J. E. Radford will be hostess at an informal tea at the Tennis club Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Field Sponsor

Mrs. Field, wife of Commandant Harry A. Field of the navy yard, was sponsor for the ship Cristfield which went down the ways yesterday afternoon at Skinner & Eddy's third anniversary launching.

The Victory Club

The Victory club will give the last of its summer series of dances at Leschi park this evening. The winter season will begin at the Masonic temple next Wednesday with the same excellent music.

Dinner by Dr. and Mrs. WacWhinnie

To honor Mrs. Robert Coulton of Bellefontaine, Ohio, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Hickman Moore for the past month, Dr. and Mrs. A. M. MacWhinnie were hosts at an attractive dinner at their home last evening. Mrs. Coulton leaves today for San Francisco and La Jolla, where she will spend the winter.

Reception for Bride and Groom

At the home of Mr. Lambert Peterson Saturday evening a reception was given for Mr. and Mrs. David Allen (Dinah McHugh), whose marriage took place in Vancouver Sept. 13. About 50 friends of the young couple were present and many a lovely gift was presented to them.

Luncheon at Tennis Club

Mrs. R. W. Taylor entertained with an informal luncheon at the Tennis club yesterday afternoon.

Dinner Party

Mr. Stewart Agen will be host at one of the larger dinner parties at the Tennis club dance tonight. Among the guests from out of town will be Col. and Mrs. Francis Endicott and Major Taylor of Camp Lewis.

Luncheon for Guest

To compliment Miss Marion Oudin of Spokane, Mrs. Joseph C. Tyler will entertain with a luncheon at her home tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Lamson Complimented

In honor of Mrs. Otis Floyd Lamson, who leaves soon for the East, Mrs. A. Rooker-Robertson will be hostess at a tea at her home Friday afternoon.

Luncheon for Mrs. Garrett

An attractive luncheon was given Monday afternoon by Mrs. Robert Brinkley at her home in honor of Mrs. Thomas Garrett, who is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. John W. Eddy.

Judge and Mrs. Bausman Entertain

Judge and Mrs. Bausman entertained with a dinner at their home last evening.

Reservations at the Tennis Club

Additional reservations for the dinner-dance at the Tennis club tonight are those by Mr. George Stratt, Mr. Roy H. Campbell, Mr. F. Hausman, Mr. M. F. Cummings and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Purcell.

Tennis Tea

As an additional feature to the regular tea at the Tennis club tomorrow afternoon some good matches are scheduled to be played as part of the tournament of the woman's branch of the club which is being held this week.

Mrs. Buckley Hostess

About 50 members of the Literary and Travel club were entertained by Mrs. Daniel Buckley at a tea at her home Monday afternoon. A most interesting address was given by Major Hodi, C. A. C. U. S. A.—his "Reminiscences in France." Mrs. Walsh at the piano was responsible for a delightful musical program.

Son

Captain and Mrs. Harry G. Smart, of 416 E. Roy st., are receiving the Bellefontaine, O., who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Stratt, 913 E. 73d ave., at 2 o'clock. Take the Green Lake car.

Red Cross Tea Room

Miss Hedga Erickson, soprano, accompanied by Miss Edna Rosa at the piano, will sing during the noon hour at the Red Cross Tea Room Thursday. Mrs. James De Vuyk and Mrs. James Wylie will be hostesses for the day.

Knights of Columbus Dance

The Knights of Columbus will hold the first informal dance of their winter series Thursday evening, September 25, in the ballroom of the Knights of Columbus building, on the corner of Harvard at Union. The Turkin Hop is the name of this dance; each one to follow will be entirely individual.

Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Penmore Owen are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a daughter September 17.

Mystic Jewel and Social Club

The Mystic Jewel and Social club will give an informal dance and card party Friday evening, September 26, at Douglas hall, Odd Fellows' temple, at 9 o'clock.

National League for Woman's Service

The last meeting of the year will be an all-day session tomorrow, beginning at 10 a. m., when all members of the National League for Woman's Service will gather in the auditorium of Frederick & Nelson. To those women, who by their loyalty and devotion to the cause have made wonderful records individually and for the league as well, will be given decorations representing the appreciation of the national organization.

Fruit and Flower Mission

The Fruit and Flower Mission and cozier, the beginning of their winter duties with a rummage sale which will be held Friday and Saturday, October 3 and 4, at the little Japanese shop on Fifth ave. and University st., next to the Metropolitan theatre. Mrs. Don Palmer is director in charge of general details, assisted by the officers and chairmen of the circles of the mission. All day Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, preceding the sale, the shop will be kept open for donations of articles, the proceeds of which are used to care for the tuberculous and destitute of Seattle, a work in which this organization has made an enviable record.

Clubs

CLUBS FOR THURSDAY

Lafona Parent-Teachers
The Parent-Teachers' association of the Lafona school will hold its first meeting in the assembly room at 245 o'clock. Mrs. W. E. Jarrell will address the meeting relative to the training of children of preschool age. A reception for teachers will follow. Refreshments will be served. A large attendance is desired.

Neighbors of Woodcraft Service

The Neighbors of Woodcraft will hold a memorial service in the Swedish club hall, Eighth ave. and Pine st.

Friends of All Club

Miss Dorothy Shank, instructor in the home economics extension service of the University of Washington, will hold a round table talk with the Friends of All club on "The Problem of the High Cost of Living as It Relates to the Younger Business Girls." Friends or visitors are welcome.

Thursday Progress Club

The Thursday Progress club will meet with Mrs. Bay Broust, 913 E. 73d ave., at 2 o'clock. Take the Green Lake car.

Sunshine Guild Meeting

The Sunshine guild will meet with Mrs. Jennie Pressnal, 1718 E. 70th st., at 11 o'clock.

Pythian Sisters' Altruistic Club

The Pythian Sisters' Altruistic club will meet with Mrs. E. S. Young, 1715 50th ave. N., at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Seattle Chapter No. 95

Seattle Chapter, No. 95, Order of Eastern Star, will meet in Corinthian hall at 8 o'clock.

Woodcraft Totem Club

The Woodcraft Totem club will meet in the club rooms in the Ballroom Exchange building. Mrs. Zolma Cauffman has charge of the civic program. The speaker will be Mayor C. B. Fitzgerald. A fine program has been arranged by Mrs. Harriet Sanderson. Refreshments will be served.

Social Service Department

The social service department of the Women's Century club will meet with Mrs. Katherine Baker, the chairman of the department. The discussion is "What is Seattle Doing for the Juvenile Delinquent?"

Kansas Woman's Club

The Kansas Woman's club will celebrate the 93d birthday of Mrs. Putter at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Taggart, 4023 Sunnyside ave., at 2 o'clock.

Seattle Review of Maccabees

Seattle Review, No. 8, of Maccabees, will meet this evening at 8 o'clock in the W. O. Hall.

Forsen-Thygeran Auxiliary

Forsen-Thygeran auxiliary will hold its regular meeting Thursday, September 25, at 2 o'clock in the Armory. All members are asked to be present.

Junior Practice Club

The Junior Practice club held its first meeting of the season with Miss Margaret Ames Monday afternoon.

First of a Series of Dances

Saturday evening, September 27, the first of a series of informal dances will be given by the students and graduates of Hall's Business College at Redding's hall at 9 o'clock.

On the Seattle

The wardrobe officers of the U. S. S. Seattle entertained a group of young girls, chaperoned by Judge and Mrs. G. A. C. Rochester, at luncheon Sunday afternoon on board the ship. Sunday evening the same officers entertained with a dinner which was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Luke.

Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Langdon Henry returned Monday from their country home at the Highlands, and are again in their town house.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Frederick left last week for the East, to be gone three weeks.

Mrs. Bruce Elmore, with her children and their nurse, who has been in Southern California for the past three months, returned to Seattle Monday night on the President.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Morrison who have returned to Seattle to live, have taken the Pierre P. Ferry home for the winter.

Returning on the President Monday night were Mrs. Leroy Danby Lewis and small son.

Mrs. Boswell and her daughter, Miss Virginia Cook, leave for the East Saturday to be gone until after Thanksgiving.

Mr. Charles H. Hebb left Monday for Missoula, Mont., to be gone a week. While there he will be the guest of Capt. O. W. Potter.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Agnew came down from Everett to attend the Stinson dance Monday evening. Mrs. Agnew's guests were Mrs. Agnew's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Smith, for a few days.

Commander G. C. Westervelt, U. S. N., will be the guest of Mr. William Boeing for another week.

Miss Mary Lee Flisken will attend the University of Washington this semester.

Mrs. Trafton, of Anacortes, wife of Mr. William Trafton, Jr., who is in Russia with the American Railway service corps, with her small son has taken a house at 541 30th ave. S., for the winter.

Mr. Robert Burnside returned Sunday from Portland where he has been spending the summer and will enter the University of Washington this fall.

Mr. Justin Haynes returned Sunday from Alaska where he has been spending the summer. He will enter the University of Washington.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Henderson spent the weekend in Tacoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hartzell, who have been in Europe for the past four months, will return Monday evening.

Mrs. Lovell Smith, who has been in Seattle for several weeks, has returned to her home in San Francisco. During her stay she was the guest of Mrs. A. L. Hawley, Mrs. Charles R. Collins and Mrs. H. F. Ostrander.

Dr. and Mrs. Winthrop Hageman of New York city, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Hawley.

Judge Frederick Brown and Mrs. Brown will leave Wednesday for a trip to St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Perry will leave Wednesday for Victoria to attend the ball given in honor of the Prince of Wales.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. McCrabbe and Miss Farris Norton, who have been spending the summer at "Par Niente," their country place near Bothell, expect to come into town the early part of October.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent H. Gowen arrived this morning from China, where they have been for the past year, and are the guests of Mr. Gowen's parents, Rev. and Mrs. H. H. Gowen.

Mr. Russell Gibson will leave Friday for California where he will attend Stanford.

Mrs. M. A. Matthews and Mrs. William S. Kelton left Friday by motor for Vancouver to take part in the entertainment for the Prince of Wales.

Miss Agnes O'Neill, Miss Mary Brady and Miss Irene Burns, of Spokane, have returned to the University of Washington.

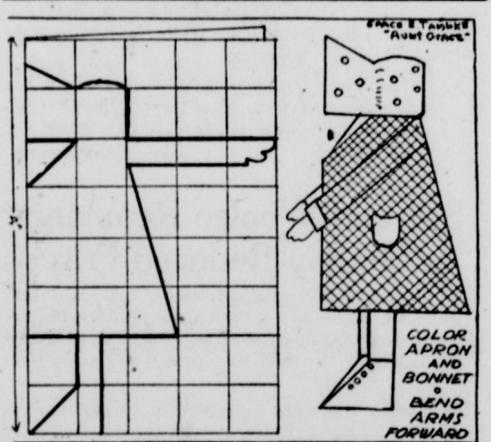

Dr. John W. Hallowell, assistant secretary of the Interior, and Mrs. Hallowell, who arrived in Seattle Sunday evening, left yesterday for their home in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. W. B. Nettleton will leave for the East the first of October.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Bush and daughter, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Smith, left Monday for their home in St. Louis. Mrs. H. W. Salmon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Smith, with her two little girls, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Bush to St. Louis, which is her home also.

Miss Helen Wiest, of Virginia, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Wills, has gone to Los Angeles where she will attend school this winter.

MAKE THIS SUNBONNET BABY DOLL

Now you can make a real sunbonnet baby that stands alone! Here is the way to do it. Use a piece of rather stiff white paper ten inches long and four inches wide and fold it in the center. Mark off one side into half-inch squares. Begin to draw in the center of the first square and follow the diagram closely. The squares will show you just how to draw. Cut out the baby on the heavy lines, erase the pencil marks, and paint or color her dress and bonnet with water colors or crayons.

BY AUNT GRACE

Confessions of a Bride

Copyrighted, 1919, by the Newspaper Enterprise Association

BOB TRIES A PLAN THAT MAKES ME HEARTSICK WITH JEALOUSY

To my surprise, the detectives and policemen assembled in Daddy Lorimer's office didn't receive my theory about Babe's abduction with any enthusiasm at all! The motive I gave wasn't sufficient, they said. Their own theory was that Babe had stolen for the sake of ransom, and that a demand for money would probably come to Mr. Lorimer in the morning mail. Anyway, they couldn't consider my "clue" until they had talked with the child's nurse.

"But we want to get the baby back tonight," Mother Lorimer insisted. "I echoed Mother Lorimer. 'She will cry so hard—she will not eat—she will not sleep unless she is put to bed in her own little crib. Why, know how a sensitive little thing like Babe will suffer—away from home—among strangers! Why don't you move—why don't you do something—this very minute!'"

But the big men only smiled on me, all together, very politely, very steadily, like an operatic chorus. I could see that they expected a woman to go into hysterics under any trying condition, and that they had practiced to combine indifference with politeness for many, many years.

And so I resolved to show them that some women could control themselves, and I became quite calm—and was disgusted to find that calmness didn't move them, either. They were not human, I decided, and I appealed to Bob. My husband, at least, would understand.

And Bob did. He came over and stood looking down at me thoughtfully, silently, for a long time. Finally he took a folded paper from his pocket and held it toward me. It was Katherine Miller's letter to him, anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not so late for me to call. It's up to you, my dear!"

I looked to the right—to the left—anywhere except into my husband's eyes. I scarcely heard his next argument: "If the child is in the Miller house I'll get her!"

"How?" I inquired briefly, holding back the bitter thought which was words: "You see, Jane, what this is!"

I merely nodded—I wouldn't touch the thing.

"Do you mind—if I go over to call on Miss Miller? It is not yet 9 o'clock—not