

A SPORTING CHAT WITH LEO H. LASSEN

Greetings: Do you hold a membership card in the "I Told You So Club" this morning? Perhaps it was luck yesterday that gave Cincinnati their first game of the series by the score of 9 to 1! Perhaps the Reds were playing with the Sox and the Cincy team will go out and play ball today.

The Sox will come back today with "Lefty" Williams in the box and will even up the series and Eddie Cicotte, the ace who was harpooned yesterday, will come back with a win in Chicago.

These are the arguments of local fans after the first game of the big classic passed into history yesterday.

Like the Boston Braves win in 1914, when they rushed from the cellar to the pennant in the National league and then smothered the Athletics in four straight games, the Reds win yesterday was one of the most popular victories in the history of the big games. The work of "Dutch" Reuther, the big heaver of the Reds, who hammered out three bingles—two triples and a single and earned a walk, in four trips to the plate, and held the Sox to six hits and one run—was immensely popular with the local baseball fraternity. Reuther earned his spurs yesterday and upheld the honor of the Coast.

Today another graduate of the Coast league will be on the bill. He is Claude Williams, the White Sox' star portender. Upon him rests the hopes of the Sox to even up the series. Claude learned his first baseball with the Salt Lake Bees in the Coast circuit a couple of years ago. All season he has pitched strong baseball for the American champions and the Windy City fans are backing the southpaw to even up the count of the flying Redlegs today.

There was one bird down at Brown & Hulst's who was doping out the whole series for the boys after the game yesterday. He picked Chicago to win the game today, Cincinnati the third game, and the White Sox the rest of 'em. He simply couldn't be wrong. At least he said it so everybody in the place heard him. And the best part of it was he was backing up his assertions with coin of the realm. He never should be a poor man if he can see so far ahead. If we had such foresight we would be riding around in an up-to-date gas go-cart and we could buy a new suit and perhaps something to eat once in a while.

Young Hector, the Bremerton heavyweight, will meet the winner of the Jim Flynn-Ole Anderson mix in Aberdeen Friday, in the headline bout of the Salvation Army benefit smoker to be staged at the Arena by the Elks on October 10. Hector's last fight was with Anderson and the Tacoma man won a close decision over the local boy. Hector is anxious to get started again, in spite of reports from Bremerton that he was quitting the ring, and if he wins over either Anderson or Flynn he is in line for more work in the ring here.

For the first time this season the Seattle ball club is running into a bad streak of weather. With heavy clouds hanging over the city this morning it doesn't look very bright for a ball game here today. The first two games of the series between the local club and the Sacramento Yippers have been postponed and it looks like today's game is off. Previous to this week the local squad lost but one game because of rain during the season.

Los Angeles needs but two more wins to clinch the Coast league flag for the year. They broke even in a double bill with the Tigers last year. It is to be regretted that the local club couldn't set back the Angels when they played here last week, so as to have the teams enter the final race on even terms. As it is the Angels still have a two-and-a-half-game lead over the Tigers. Seattle owes it not only to the home town but the other teams in the league to have a team out there next year that will be able to play baseball and to give the other teams some opposition once in a while.

If this is an advertisement for Austin & Salt it can't be helped, so here goes. The winter boxing classes opened last night at Austin & Salt's gymnasium with a large class of young fellows learning the rudiments of self defense. The idea of the classes is to teach men how to protect themselves in emergencies. Some of the pupils may turn out to be ring men, but the big idea of the system is to put the men in condition and to teach them self-defense.

Chat Noff, local lightweight and champion of the Southwest, was a 10-round decision over Jake Stahl in Tucson, Ariz., the other night.

Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fireman, battles Ole Anderson, the Tacoma heavyweight, in Aberdeen Friday night.

Mick King, local middleweight, is in Butte, Mont.

Harry Gillum, Salt Lake middleweight, is in Seattle. He spent the summer in Idaho.

Harry Casey, Seattle lightweight, meets George Wagner, the Gonzaga university boy, over the six-round route at Portland, October 8.

Joe Siminich, the Butte Bear Cat, is still in town. Joe is a welterweight and a boy who likes to mix things. Austin & Salt may put Joe on with Travis Davis, the Everett welterweight, for the first headliner of their winter season.

Ed Mitchell, the Australian middleweight, is planning to come back to the ring. When he isn't building ships he puts in spare time training for the fall ring season.

FORMER COASTER WILL HURL FOR WINDY CITY

This is Claude Williams, the star portender, of the Chicago White Sox, who will be on the mound for the Windy City troops today. He is a graduate of the Coast league, playing with Salt Lake a couple of years ago.

WINDY CITY FANS PAY HUGE PRICES
CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—One hundred iron men is the price Chicago fans are willing to pay to see one game of the world's series. That is the price which scalpers are asking for box seat tickets, it was learned today. They are having no difficulty in finding purchasers at $100 each.

Scalpers are obtaining tickets from persons who are to see only one game. Each ticket entitles the holder to entrance for the first three games.

OHIO CITY BOASTS OF NEW GUN CLUB
Cleveland, Ohio, now has a gun club in a public park. It is called the Northern Ohio Gun club and its traps are located on the lake front at the foot of East 49th st., on the city pumping station grounds, which is used as a city park. H. E. Dickerman is the president of the club. Shoots will be conducted Wednesday and Saturday afternoons and will be open to everyone.

FRANKLIN LOSES STAR CENTER MAN
Warren Iverson, star center on the Franklin high school eleven last season has left school, taking a trip to the East and will not return until November. His loss will be keenly felt by the Green and Black squad, which needs his weight in the line.

BIG SOCCER BOOST
The American Athletic Industrial Soccer league, composed of teams representing prominent plants of Cleveland, Akron and adjacent establishments, numbering 20 in all, is the biggest boost the kicking style of football has received so far. Each of the teams has its own grounds. Among cups to be played for are the Major Davis of Cleveland and the Ideal trio cup.

VESPER BOAT CLUB RECORD
The Vesper Boat club of Philadelphia organized 24 races in this season, including three national titles in five regattas. Since the club was organized in 1865 its members have won 304 victories in this country, Canada and France in all styles of rowing.

CLARENCE MITCHELL IS "GIANT KILLER"

Clarence Mitchell, the southpaw splitter of the Dodgers, has the Indian sign on the Giants. He had been hit freely in most of his starts against them, and every run scored off him this season was earned, he has managed to come out on top in three of his four starts. There is some charm that Mitchell holds over the Giants, Jim Vaughn, one of the best southpaws in the league, and a better twirler than Mitchell, has met with little success against the Giants. The one defeat that Mitchell came on a day when Clarence was in his best form. On that occasion he pitched his finest game against the Giants, but the Robins failed to give him any backing in the matter of runs. Mitchell has labored against the Giants in 40 innings, and has been scored on a dozen times. This is not as good a record as Al Mamaux has made against the Giants, but he has only won two starts, so the only conclusion to be drawn is that Mitchell is a born giant killer and possesses the charm of Jack of the beanstalk fame.

Opposition will be strong at Franklin, Roseburg having eight letter men back. They are: Caccia (Capt.), Olin, Elliott, Wright, Thornburn, Cole, Taylor and Wasson. Besides these, Ed Maxwell, a former Knights of Columbus player, will be out for a berth. Rufus Carmen an ex-marine, who earned his letter two years ago, is in school.

Coach Roseburg states that opposition in basketball would be stronger than ever before. With every high school having a bevy of veterans, the coming season shows promise.

Warren Iverson, last year's star center at Franklin left recently for the East and will not return till the latter part of November.

Coach Murphy of West Seattle, is confident that his heavy team will swamp the light Green and Black eleven.

Ivan Jones, a last year midget star of Franklin's championship eleven, is showing remarkable form and is making a likely bid for a line position.

Roseburg has issued strict training rules. He has appointed a "vigilance committee" which sees that no player breaks the rules.

CAGE STARS ARE WORKING AT FRANKLIN

Four Franklin basketball letter men are having light workouts in the school gym. John Thornburn, Al Wasson, Roland Taylor and Ham Olin have begun practice and show good form.

PRESIDENT WILSON BOOSTS FOOTBALL

President Wilson paid a high compliment to football in a recent letter written to Carlisle Indian school, which has just been made public. He wrote: "It would be difficult to overestimate the value of football experience as a part of a soldier's training. The army athletic directors and the officers in charge of special training schools in cantonments have derived excellent result from the use of elementary football and other personal contact games as an aid in developing the aggressiveness, initiative and determination of recruits and the ability to carry on in spite of bodily hurts or physical ill-comforts. These qualities, as you well know, were the outstanding characteristics of the American soldiers."

AUTHOR PAYS TRIBUTE TO WAR HEROES

Walter Camp pays the following tribute to the football players who died in the service, in the Football Guide, just published: "It seems particularly appropriate that every football man in this country should take a moment to which to do honor to our heroes of the gridiron who rushed to the colors in this time of emergency for our country and who made the supreme sacrifice in the world war. These men came from every college from Maine to California. "They fought on land and sea and in the air. When their signal came they went forward as intrepidly as they had gone to the signal of the quarterback on the line-marked field. War was but a greater game. "To all the 'Hobey Bakers' of all the colleges, to the men who gave up their lives with the same abandon with which of old they bucked the line, the football players of past present and future unite in giving the praise that goes out to brave men, to unselfish men, to men who always played the game."

Bob Harger goes here. Both boxers claim the Northwest lightweight title and the fans point out that it should be settled now. Heinle, however, wouldn't be much of a drawing card here after the performance he put up against "Pinkey" Mitchell, the Milwaukee lightweight, here.

Frank Barreau, the Vancouver middleweight, is in Seattle.

Earl Baird, local lightweight, beat Johnny Arroyave in Oakland the other night.

"Lou" Hieby, a new heavyweight boxer, is making a good showing at Austin & Salt's gymnasium. He worked out with Claude Fortner the other night.

Tom Cowler, the English heavyweight, is billed to meet Jack Thompson, the negro batter, in Oakland next week.

George Wagner, the fellow who fights Casey in Portland next week, played football with the Washington park team here a couple of years ago. Local grid fans will remember him as the center who dashed thru Bobbie's line and caught safety men in their tracks on punts down the field.

Spud Murphy and Frank Farmer meet in a six-round go in Tacoma October 9.
