 This picture was made in the heart of the Ozarks and in California. Mr. Wright and his associates were engaged for months in the filming of this production. It is an intensely human story, in which tragedy, romance and comedy are skilfully blended. The characters are of the mountaineer type.

 (Paramount)
 Monica Trent..... Vivian Martin

It is none other than a mystery comedy that keeps the audience as mystified as it does the leading character until a few seconds before the final fadout. The picture is "His Official Fiancee" starring little Vivian Martin at the Strand beginning today.
 The leading character is a typist who becomes engaged to her cold-blooded employer "for business reasons only," then falls in love with him.

The matron of an orphan's home, Aunt Tina, has been delicately and gently refusing to marry Judge Jepsen for so many years they have both acquired soft wrinkles and white hair. The arrival of a bankrupt circus and the escape of the "Jinx" start the culmination of the old-time romance.

CLASS A
"DOMBEY & SONS"
 (Triangle)
 Every character in the Charles Dickens story "Dombey & Sons," to be shown on the screen at the Class A starting today will bring to mind a counterpart in those with whom you mingle day by day. Proud and haughty Paul Dombey; his gentle daughter, Florence; the equally arrogant wife, who dared to defy her husband; the confidential clerk, Carker, a wolf in sheep's clothing; all of these you will recognize at once. For Nature does not change, and people are alike wherever they be.

The story has to do with Lombardi's love affairs and his business troubles. He is so truthful that he permits some of his rich customers to swindle him out of money due for gowns designed and fashioned.
 Then his sweetheart proves false by eloping with another man. Lombardi is pretty far gone in purse and affections when a loyal girl comes to his rescue.

"AUCTION OF SOULS"
 (First National)
 When the massacres of the Armenians started, carried on by the Turks under a secret agreement with the Germans, the Mohammedans made further effort to get possession of Aurora Mardiganian, the young daughter of a prosperous banker of Harpout.
 After seeing her father, mother, two brothers and three sisters brutally slain this young girl entered upon a series of adventure which prove that life may be more exciting than the wildest dream of the fictionist.
 Miss Aurora Mardiganian, who eventually escaped from her native land and came to America for further relief, was induced to act for the films just what she personally passed thru in Armenia in 1915.
 "Auction of Souls" is the attraction at the Coliseum starting today.
 A movie expedition has gone into the Everglades to film the Seminoles.
 The Seminoles once numbered many thousands. The main tribe was transferred by the government to a reservation in the West. But a number of them fled to the deepest recesses of the Florida swamps. They are there yet, but few of them ever are seen. These remaining groups are said to aggregate 500.
 There are 9,867,465,367,456% sprocket holes in the films released by Select Pictures corporation since midnight of July 1.
