Rheumatism's Pains Will Soon Begin

But You Can Do Much to Head Them Off

So many people dread to see the fading of summer, for to those afflicted with Rheumatism it means that the comfort they have enjoyed during the warm season is soon to give way to the pains and pangs of this disease of torture.

Warm weather seems to render the germs of Rheumatism inactive and harmless—but soon they will arouse and renew their furious attacks with all of their old-time vigor.

Are you quite sure that you have ever treated your Rheumatism in an intelligent manner? Doubtless you have tried remedies by the score because the pains are always increasing in severity and are a source of constant suffering. But just here is where you make your mistake, as others have done by the thousands.

Just because your Rheumatism causes so much pain and discomfort you feel that the proper way to treat the disease is to endeavor to get rid of its pains. So you rush for the liniment bottle and begin to rub and rub in a frantic effort to relieve your suffering. And at times, possibly, you get some slight relief.

But did you ever know of anyone ever ridding themselves of this painful disease by the use of liniments or other local treatment? A disease that can cause so much suffering is not confined to the surface of the skin, and cannot be successfully treated by local remedies. You have but to look around you at the numerous helpless victims of Rheumatism to confirm this statement. Ask any of them and they will tell you that no matter how much liniment they use, each season again finds them in the grip of the disease.

Do you want to have the same experience? Or are you willing to take advantage of a treatment that has been successfully used by many victims?

Many cases of Rheumatism are due to a tiny germ in the blood, which multiplies by the million and carries its pains to different parts of the body. Such cases must be treated through the blood, and the disease germs eradicated before the disease can be conquered.

This is why S.S.S., the fine old blood remedy has given such satisfactory results in the treatment of Rheumatism. It is such a thorough blood cleanser that it removes all foreign substance from the circulation thus clearing it of the germs that cause the disease.

You must first remove from your blood the germs that cause your Rheumatism before you can be free of its pains.

Begin taking S.S.S. today—you can get it at any drug store. And if you wish any special instructions about your own case, our trained physician will take pleasure in giving you any desired information. Write fully to Chief Medical Adviser, 281 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Georgia.

'Red Fire Sways Men' 'Women Less Emotional'

ESTHER S. OGDEN "Men are the emotional sex," says Miss Esther S. Ogden, vice chairman of the executive committee of the women's bureau of the democratic national committee in New York. Women want the facts in politics, while men can easily be moved by an emotional appeal, she declares.

BY MABEL ABBOTT NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Smash! Another theory scrapped by the first presidential campaign that has had to get down to hard facts about feminine political psychology. "We are finding out by experience that men, not women, are the emotional sex," says Miss Esther S. Ogden, resident vice-chairman of the women's bureau of the national democratic committee.

Among Jail Arrivals: Guests Travel Light; And They Like Light Reading; Police Gazette Art Appreciated

Some men upon breaking into Seattle jails do it elaborately—that is, they carry a complete toilet equipment—while others seem to pay little attention to the little trinkets and novelties of life and go to the hose gown clean.

Of course, conditions sometimes play important minor motifs in the great winter pastime of jail-breaking. A pickpocket often is caught in the act of dipping his digits and the cop, if he be rough, will often times refuse to allow the prisoner time to pack.

A high class man, such as an efficient yegg or a big-town stick up, always travels light. He figures the less he has in his possession when he smacks into a bull, the less chance there is of identifying him.

NOTHING BUT THEIR SWEET DISPOSITIONS So the big guys haven't anything but their usual sweet dispositions when they say "present" to the desk sergeant. Their pockets are as empty as the inside of zero.

The common senses and the countless other birds, who take advantage of the free rooms in the local jail, have weird and wild layouts in their jeans. Everything from bottled Jamaica ginger and worn out snuff to shoe strings and antiquated checkbooks are thrown over the desk when Frank DuCett casts his wicked eye over the bundle and slaps down his weight on the big, red blotter.

Not infrequently bank rolls, ranging from a street car token to a roll of green, topping a four figure altitude, are discovered in the shake-down. Hop, too, peculiarly is often found on the stranger. This is always hidden in secret pockets and necessitates clever searching to unearth it.

During this time the local station, Mutual Life building, set a new record of 88 men—an average of eight per day; the greater majority choosing the infantry. The engineers, particularly "Washington's Own," the Eighth regiment, mounted, at Fort Bliss, Texas, is running a close second.

TOURISTS BEAT NEW R. R. RATES

In Montana Old Fares Still in Force!

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 13.—Because of the action of the Montana State Railroad commission in refusing to increase passenger fares within the state to the level set by the interstate commerce commission, thru travelers are finding a way to "beat" the railroads.

Thrifty passengers are buying their tickets to the first town within Montana's borders. There they hop off and quickly purchase another ticket to the last town in Montana on their route, and there they rebuy to their destination. The railroads have appealed to the interstate commerce commission. But while the controversy between the railroads and the state commission waxes hot, the travelers are reaping full benefit of the difference in rates.

Portland Chief Obliging, But Had a Hard Job

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 13.—Chief of Police Jenkins now wonders what they'll ask of him. Jenkins' latest task was a stunner. A prospective bridegroom, a farmer, couldn't leave his work to come to Portland to meet his mail-order fiancée, so he asked the chief of police to do the honors.

"I wouldn't have been so bad, but this is the only description the would-be groom sent to Jenkins: "She is heavy set and wears a black dress and black hat."

The farmer informed the chief he had advertised for a wife, started a courtship by mail, won the consent of a lonesome miss in another state, and she was due to arrive in Portland. He had promised to meet her. But a fellow couldn't desert his crops at a crucial moment, so wouldn't Chief Jenkins please greet the bride-to-be, and direct her to the farmer's ranch?

Jenkins instructed his union-station cove to do the best they could. They intercepted all the women they saw coming from the trains wearing black hats and dresses, if they were at all inclined to be heavy set.

There were so many who answered to the "description" that they were compelled to report they missed the right one.
