

Do Your Neighbor a Good Turn

If you have been to see Charlie Chaplin in "The Kid" at the Liberty Theatre, don't keep that good time to yourself—tell your neighbor.

Tell him it's the finest Chaplin picture you ever saw, full of both laughs and tears.

Tell him about that wonderful little actor, Jackie Coogan, in the title role.

Tell him about that clever dog comedy and the beautiful scenic of wild birds. Tell him what a real treat the whole show is.

It may be snowing outside, but it's all sunshine inside of The Liberty this week.

TODAY'S PROGRAMS
LIBERTY—Charlie Chaplin in "The Kid."
CLEMMER—Corinne Griffith in "The Whisper Market."
COLISEUM—Mildred Harris in "The Woman in His House."
STRAND—"The Truth About Husbands."
COLONIAL—Kathlyn Williams in "Just a Wife."
REX—James Oliver Curwood's "Nomads of the North."

THE big stage success, "Just a Wife," that added considerable laurels to Charlotte Walker, the well-known actress, when she appeared in it on the speaking stage, is the photoplay attraction which opened today at the Colonial.

It was written by Eugene Walters, whose numerous virile plays of American domestic and business life have attracted attention.

The story concerns Richard Emerson, a business man who determines to succeed at no matter what cost. He marries a fiery Southern girl who does not quite meet his requirements, and as the years pass, leans more and more on Eleanor Lathrop, his secretary. There the eternal triangle is created. To neither woman does he give his love, altho both love him in their own way.

When it looks as tho the inevitable crash was bound to occur, the wife has her eyes opened, and puts up a fight for her husband. Emerson turns to his wife, when put to the test.

CLEMMER—Piqued by her husband's displeasure with her for making money as a silent partner in a modest establishment, Ermeline North, wife of the American vice consul at Rio de Janeiro, refused to heed his warning that Juliet Saltmarsh, George Saltmarsh, her husband, and Burke were not fit associates for her. The story is told in "The Whisper Market," the photodrama at the Clemmer this week with pretty little Corinne Griffith, last seen here in "A Broadway Bubble," featured.

LIBERTY—Charlie Chaplin has dared to install a formidable rival to the star in the cast of "The Kid," said rival being Master Jackie Coogan, a small boy, aged five, who gives the picture its title. Jackie is a handsome little chap with an abundance of pep, personality and acting ability. His scenes with Chaplin are great. "The Kid" is being shown at the Liberty this week.

COLISEUM—Mildred Harris is appearing in an emotional role at the Coliseum this week in "The Woman in the House," one of the best pictures this charming young star has yet appeared in. She plays the role of a neglected wife.

Besides the dramatic interest to the picture the audience is treated to a panorama of beautiful scenery.

REX—The comical antics of a tiny black cub and its playmate, a dog, furnish some amusing scenes in "Nomads of the North," the film attraction at the Strand this week.

"Nomads of the North" is a James Oliver Curwood story and pictures life in the North woods of Canada. There is a big forest fire in which the hero narrowly escapes with his life.

Lon Chaney, Betty Blythe and Lew Stone are the featured players.

WHAT IS KHITMUTGAR? Studied Kipling stumped the scenario editor with the word "khitmutgar." Here is Kipling's definition: A khitmutgar at a club is a waiter. Your own khitmutgar is a personal servant, goes to dinner with you and sees to all your personal wants. Have you a khitmutgar in your home?

HOBBIERS: Bert Lytell, swimming; May Allison, bobbed hair; William Desmond, growing lemons; Elaine Hammerstein, horseshoe in dressing room.

Charles Ray's next one is "The Midnight Bella."

Screen Version of Pinero's Stage Play Is Attraction Now at Strand

Scene from "The Truth About Husbands," a screen version of Sir Arthur Pinero's famous play, which is being shown at the Strand this week.

The plot, which is cleverly worked out, has to do with the matrimonial adventure of a wealthy young bachelor. This role is portrayed by H. E. Herbert, who is the good-looking gentleman on the right in the above picture.

ANITA STEWART IN "THE TORNADO"

To secure some realistic scenes of wild boars romping in their native haunts, Edwin Carewe, director, dispatched his assistant, Wallace Fox, and two cameramen, to Santa Rosa Island, a deserted wilderness lying off the coast of Southern California that is said to be literally overrun by the ferocious animals. The scenes will be used as flashes in Anita Stewart's latest Louis B. Mayer Associated First National attraction, the real bear hunt to be seen in the picture having already been filmed on the Lasky ranch. The working title of this picture is "The Tornado," but it will probably be changed.

Animals have the leading parts in "A Monkey Fireman," two-reel comedy. Joe Martin, the ape with the human brain, is the star.

WOMEN CONTINUALLY OVERDO
This applies to all women, regardless of caste or color. The ambitious girl striving for school honors, the overworked housewife, the shop girl, girls in offices and stores, and the society woman, all climb too high, overtax their strength, and what follows? Nervous prostration, sleeplessness, backache, headaches, and the inevitable weakness and ailments peculiar to their sex soon develop, which unless checked bring on more serious conditions, and which often lead to operations. An efficient restorative for such ailments is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is now recognized from coast to coast as a standard remedy for woman's ills.—Advertisement.
