MARSHALL GILL WINS COLUMN COMPETITION

BY DOROTHY FAY GOULD
Marshall Gill, son of former Mayor Gill, last year won a competition for designing a fitting permanent place for the famous four columns on the campus that were originally on the entrance portico of the old territorial university situated where the Metropolitan theatre now stands.

The 60-year-old columns were moved last week to their final location, where they will be surrounded by the music pavilion of the A.-Y.-P., now laid out with shrubs as a most attractive sylvan spot. About 1,000 people can be seated in this outdoor theatre. The symbol of the columns is "Life," and their design was included in the new seal designed for the university in 1915.

The public library is rejoicing over a very useful gift of Mr. Charles E. Shepard, once a member of its board. Every department and all the branches have received framed mottoes specially printed at the Riverside Press, Boston. They vary in sentiment, but all reflect the booklover.

At the library entrance are two glass cases, one of which is filled with books on vegetable and flower gardening, and the other on bird lore. The latter contains nests, stuffed birds, even three tiny humming birds in a box, colored plates and suggested books.

The Seattle zoning commission has invited the public to attend its meeting Wednesday at 8 p. m. at the Broadway hotel. Mr. Charles E. Shepard, city engineer, will give some advice, illustrated by lantern slides, on Seattle zoning problems recently authorized by city ordinance.

Frederick & Nelson's children's book department has on the walls now a set of Arthur Rackham's "Peter Pan" pictures that all children love.

hair is by far the most conspicuous thing about us and is probably the most easily damaged by bad or careless treatment. If we are very careful in hair washing, we will have virtually no hair troubles. An especially fine shampoo for this weather, one that brings out all the natural beauty of the hair; that dissolves and entirely removes all dandruff, excess oil and dirt; can easily be used at trifling expense by simply dissolving a teaspoonful of antrax (which you can get at any drugist's) in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid—enough so it is easy to apply to all the hair, instead of just to the top of the head. This chemically dissolves all impurities and creates a soothing, cooling lather. It rinses leaves the scalp spotlessly clean, soft and lustrous, while the hair takes on the glossy richness of natural color, also a stiffness which makes it seem much heavier than it is. After a canthrox shampoo, arranging the hair is a pleasure.—Advertisement.

The next night the secret was out. They had become real chummy in the meantime and she told him the whole story—of how, "Why it's not at all mysterious. ### San Carlo Opera Company

Last evening at the Metropolitan theatre the San Carlo Grand Opera company opened their local engagement. They will give eight of the most popular operas with a complete change of principals for every performance. For their first night they gave "Lucia Di Lammermoor."

Considered one of the largest traveling grand opera companies in America, Fortune Gallo, founder and director, has gathered together the best artists obtainable to make up this organization. Many of the company are known abroad as well as in this country. Alice Gentle and Anna Fitzg, guest artists, who have won remarkable success in opera in the East will appear here, each one in two performances. Many of the favorites who were with the company when they appeared here last year are again with them this season.

The principal roles last evening were taken by Queena Mario, soprano, "Lucia Di Lammermoor," Vincente Ballo, baritone, "Henry Ashton," and Amedeo Baldi, tenor, "Lord Arthur," and Pietro De Biasi, basso, "Raymond." The artists which were the most enthusiastically received included, Lucia, who by Lucia and Edgar, "Forgive, Lucia, that I in This Hour," aria by Lucia, "Oh! Heaven, They Persuade Me." Then the well known sextette, aria by Lucia, after she has gone insane, "Sweet Tones, I Hear His Voice," and in the last scene aria by Edgar.

The entire cast have very pleasing voices, that blend well together. The different scenic effects were quite above the ordinary, and gave the singers artistic background. The orchestra is under the able leadership of Gaetano Merola, who will conduct for the entire week.

The opera to be given tonight will be "Madam Butterfly," with Anna Fitzg as Cho Cho San.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL
Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquid calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take any more calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place. Headaches, "dizziness" and that lary feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 35c.
