WINKLER'S ETCHINGS TO BE SEEN AT THE FINE ARTS

BY DOROTHY FAY GOULD

The Arts and Crafts exhibition at the Seattle Fine Arts galleries, 1213 Fourth ave., will be open to the public on Tuesday, March 8, from 12 to 5, and thereafter from 12 to 5. In addition to the craft work there will be a collection of Winkler's etchings shown. He is a San Francisco artist, a friend of Paul Gustin, and some information about him will be published in the bulletin of the Fine Arts Society that Mr. Gustin edits monthly for the members.

Now that the membership (and everyone interested is welcome to join) is climbing up to the 500 mark, the opening of new exhibitions is a large and friendly occasion. This Sunday Mrs. Jason D. Butler is in charge of the opening and is arranging a musical program.

Flower Exhibit at Mrs. Perkins' Home

Mrs. John Carroll Perkins, wife of the Unitarian minister in the University district, is opening her home for an exhibition of spring flowers for the benefit of the social welfare league. The exhibition will be open to the public Friday and Saturday afternoons, March 11 and 12, from 3 until 6, at Mrs. Perkins' home, 1418 E. 63rd st., on the Cowen Park carline.

Those who already know Mrs. Perkins' charming garden will not need second invitation to see the unusual display offered. Only a real flower lover could grow the beautiful blossoms Mrs. Perkins has annually.

In her little conservatory each year great bowls filled with pebbles grow dozens of bulbs, unusual in form, mass and color. Also her house is a block full of similar houses and garages, she has transformed the ordinary 40-foot square "backyard" into a lovely garden, sheltered by a high lattice where a border of flowers keep up a year-round succession of color.

Those who have already seen the design for the new Montlake bridge remark that Seattle has a city designing department of unusual excellence. Seattle's bridges, especially the present University bridge, are unusually attractive. Mr. Dimock and the engineering department collaborate with Mr. Huntington, of the architectural department.

Glenn Hughes' "Cain" to Be Given in Japanese

Glenn Hughes, instructor in dramatic art at the University, has had his play, "Cain," translated into Japanese. Mr. Y. T. Iwasaki, playwright and producer, will give it March 17, 18 and 19, at the Japanese theatre.

It is not generally known that the local Japanese theatre frequently gives plays. Needless to say, they are for the benefit of the members of the local Japanese colony and not at all for curiosity seekers.

They vary from benefit vaudeville performances given by local dramatic clubs, such as was given last week (a dance of masked men acting as the theme), to most modern plays, Ibsen, Tolstol and Strindberg are given, and modern Japanese social dramas, also mostly European plays are popular.

The classical drama or "nob." like our old opera, with a highly conventional chorus, is heard on the occasional visits of traveling professionals. University students of the drama have occasionally, on invitation, attended these performances. All the actors are men, a woman actress being most rare, even in Japan.

"Hidden Genius of the East" "The Hidden Genius of the East," is the title of a critical and estimate of the Japanese theatre of Japan to

Patterson's Block Prints of Kilauea

Ambrose Patterson recently sold the fourth of his block prints of Kilauea Halemaumau, "home of everlasting fire," done on the island of Hawaii, in 1917. It is a brilliant color study of the volcanic crater that has been exhibited, and won a prize in Phoenix, Ariz., at the first international exhibition of the Society of Etchers and Engravers, in Los Angeles and at the Chicago Society of Etchers.

The many blocks carved out can be printed in a great variety of color effects, varying from dull to gorgeous, but the one where fiery blue and ugly red combine is a favorite with connoisseurs.

Mr. Patterson frames this print in a tan mat with a fine gold edge, instead of the usual white and black. Holmgren, the Danish maker of hand-colored frames in San Francisco, who is called the "favorite of the artists," designed this particular frame for this particular print.

Attractive Design for Montlake Bridge

Those who have already seen the design for the new Montlake bridge remark that Seattle has a city designing department of unusual excellence. Seattle's bridges, especially the present University bridge, are unusually attractive. Mr. Dimock and the engineering department collaborate with Mr. Huntington, of the architectural department.

Archeology Society Arranges Lecture

The Seattle branch of the Archeology society will give a public lecture Tuesday, March 10, at the University of Washington, in Philosophy hall, room 223, at 8:15. The first of these lectures was that of Professor Peabody, last week. Dr. Joseph Charles Hoppin will give this, a stereopticon talk on "Egypt." Dr. Hoppin is also a Harvard man, and for many years professor of classical archeology at Bryn Mawr.

Thomas K. Sibley, of the University of Washington, is local secretary of the society. About 200 attended Professor Peabody's lecture.

Adolph Bolm Will Teach at Cornish School

Of all the people who have the old-time "Seattle spirit," Miss Cornish certainly takes the lead. Not content with dashing across the continent and literally grabbing the Maurice Brown back into the Western fold, she now announces that Adolph Bolm, the famous ballet master of the Metropolitan opera house, of New York, will teach dancing this summer at the Cornish school.

E. Robert Schmitz, the French pianist, and Sergi Kilbanaki, the voice teacher, will both join the faculty. Altogether the prospects of the cultural season are most bright. Seattle will be the first American city, except New York, in which he ever has taught.

Charm of Motherhood

THERE are many homes once childless that now are blessed with healthy, happy children, because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored the mother to a healthy, normal physical condition.

The following letters give the experience of two young women and prove the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in such cases.

Chicago, Ill.—"I was always tired, my head always ached, and my back ached until I could hardly stand the pain. I doctored for years, and the doctor said nothing but an operation would help me, and that I could not have children. A friend asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took six bottles of it and it helped me wonderfully, and I now have a fine baby boy, thanks to what your medicine did for me in restoring my health. I can highly recommend the Compound to all women who suffer from female ills."—Mrs. Wm. Reiss, 304 Willow St., Chicago, Ill.

Marinette, Wis.—"I was in a very nervous condition, was irregular, and could not have any children. I took doctor's medicine without success, and he advised an operation. My husband brought me one of your booklets and asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I soon felt benefited by its use, became regular, and now we have a fine baby girl after having been married nine years. I am always glad to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to my friends who suffer from such troubles."—Mrs. H. B. Held, 330 Jefferson St., Marinette, Wis.

MAY ROBSON IN "NOBODY'S FOOL"

May Robson, one of America's most beloved stage folk, renewed acquaintance with Seattle Monday night and won an open-hearted welcome from a capacity house at the Metropolitan, where she presented her latest success, "Nobody's Fool."

If Miss Robson could be better than ever, she was that Monday night. She is the same rollicking, lovable, fun-loving May Robson as in the days of "Tish" and of the "Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary."

BOYS WILL BE BOYS

"Really, Mrs. James, I don't know how I would have gotten along without them. Tommy had been telling me that all the other little boys in school had been there and he wanted to go, too, but you know how youngsters are, and I kept putting it off. He doesn't make any effort to keep himself neat, anyway, and you know what a task it is to keep boys well dressed. And besides that, there were so many expenses; until finally Tommy's suit began going to pieces and then I decided to go to Cherry's. Well, I've never seen such real bargains on such lovely clothes. I got him a suit with two pairs of knee pants for only $18.00 and I got myself the dearest coat for $29.50 and a sweater for $2.95 and that isn't all—just a little down and a little each month pays for it. There's absolutely no sense saving up while you can wear new things while paying for the last. Their store is at 207 Riata Bldg., on Second Ave., between Madison and Spring, over the Pig's Whistle."—Advertisement.

the girl (and her bad grammar and "fitted" hair), and praises his painting—at the same time subtly straining the bad points of both girl and painting. As a result the boy marries the refined girl whom his mother loves and abandons his artistic ambitions.

Similarly she "manages" her too-headed husband, the town policeman and others. And in the end she plays burglar and gets away with it in capital fashion.
