On the Issue of Americanism There Can Be No Compromise

The Seattle Star

7TH LATE EDITION

VOLUME 23 SEATTLE, WASH., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 20, 1921. TWO CENTS IN SEATTLE

Our Pet Peeves:

It's Cleanup Week. Clean Up the Lake. A Look at Madrona. Bathroom a Disgrace.

This is the thirty-second of a series of articles in which members of The Star staff tell what displeases them most, and why.

BY CHRIS SCHWABE
WHERE'S your peeve?

This was my morning greeting from the Managing Editor:

I left my home along Lake Washington early, while the sun was slowly creeping over the Cascades and Mt. Rainier showed plainly in the distance—a wonderful sight.

I was satisfied with life, but the demand of the M. E. reminded me that I had a few peeves and that he and his editorial staff are my daily peeve, but as we are all in the same boat I can't afford to rock the boat.

However, my real peeve is the City of Seattle, its officials, or perhaps it's the people themselves who are to blame.

Anyway someone is to blame for the unsightly condition of the water front along Lake Washington from Madrona Park to Leach.

I have driven strangers to our city over our lake boulevard and have heard them exclaim with delight about the beauties and natural grandeur of this wonderful drive. But the unsightly link in our boulevard can't be explained.

Madrona park is a natural park and with very little expense could be made a beauty spot.

The bath house on the beach is a disgrace to the community and the bathing public. A modern building built along graceful lines to conform to the surroundings, with conveniences for the summer bathers and the traveling public should be built this year.

The beach from Madrona to Leach could be made into a beautiful park. It has all the natural advantages—Lake Washington lapping the shore, the drive on the beach, and with a panorama of the Cascades and Mt. Rainier always in view.

What other city has such a natural spot to beautify?

This is cleanup week, Mr. Mayor. Visit our backyard and set the machinery in motion to make this beach an asset to our city.

Police Are Hunting for Assailant!

Rejected Man Enters Home and Opens Fire on Couple; Both in Hospitals

PORTLAND, April 20.—Mrs. Thomas Baker, 19, is fighting for her life at Sellwood hospital here today, while her husband lies dangerously wounded at Good Samaritan hospital.

The Bakers were shot by Jess Boydson, of Vancouver, Wash., a disappointed suitor for the girl's hand, according to the story told by Baker as he lay on his cot in the west side hospital. The shooting occurred last night, when Boydson stalked into the Baker home, revolver drawn, and opened fire on Baker and his young wife, the wounded man said.

Police are searching for Boydson, who has disappeared.

Work Day and Night to Make More Dollars

DENVER, April 20.—The first American silver dollars ever manufactured in Denver will be coined at the local mint beginning next Tuesday, it was announced today following receipt of more than 1,000,000 ounces of silver from western mining camps. Coins of this denomination were made last by the Philadelphia mint in 1904 until their resumption at that place last month, officials said.

The manufacture of silver dollars here will continue several months, day and night shifts being used, it was stated. The new coins will replace those withdrawn from circulation during the war and melted for shipment to India.

Congress Anti-Japs Form Club

Western Solons Organize and Name Senator Hiram Johnson as Chairman

WASHINGTON, April 20.—An association of western congressmen to fight in congress for Japanese exclusion laws was formed here today.

Senator Hiram Johnson was elected chairman and will name an executive committee which will frame a program of anti-Japanese immigration legislation. Plans are to force such a program thru this session of congress.

The executive committee will be composed of two representatives from the following states: California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Utah, Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, Oklahoma, Nevada and Texas.

Grounds in Good Shape for Opener

Clearing Weather Promises Record Attendance; May Smash League Mark

Seattle's Coast league baseball warriors were to trot out before the Seattle fans for the first time this season this afternoon at the Rainier Valley park, with the Sacramento Solons furnishing the opposition for the Kiwashes. Play is called at 1 p. m.

The park has been dolled up for the opener and the field is in good shape in spite of the rains of the last few days. The new stands will accommodate about 14,000 people.

Preceding the game the usual baseball parade thru the downtown streets was staged. At the ball park the usual preliminary festivities were to be confined to Mayor Caldwell pitching the first ball and Chief of Police Searing trying to catch it.

Movie Mermaids Splash! "Perfect Figure" Picked

Little Miss Louise Lough, 207 N. 60th st., has won the unfeigned admiration of the noted sculptor, Alonzo Victor Lewis, who declares her figure to be 100 per cent perfect. IDENTIFY ONE MAN LOST FOR SIX WEEKS

Body Floating Off Pier 14; Other Ashore in East Waterway; Boat Found

Two dead bodies were recovered from the waters of Elliott Bay, Wednesday. One of them has been identified as Al Joch, day watchman at Pier 14, who disappeared February 8. The other has not yet been identified.

Joch was last seen aboard a scow owned by the Border Line Transportation Company and anchored alongside the pier. He is believed to have fallen overboard, while suffering from a fit.

The body was first discovered by Albert Meyers, 215 Thomas st., who notified the police and was immediately notified the police and coroner's office, who recovered the body. Joch was identified by W. H. Day, foreman on the pier.

Joch lived at 1818 Sixth ave. W. His sister was notified.

Police were unable to recover the body of a man washed up on the flats below Spokane Falls, and Wyoming, on Wednesday. The body was caught in a deep hole below a bulkhead. It is expected that the afternoon high tide will wash the body free.

Police were investigating Wednesday the mystery surrounding an open boat that drifted up on the beach at Alki Point. The boat was reported by Clarence Allen, 7185 Alki ave. S.W. It was painted green, with a red star on each side. The oars and seats were missing.

Girl Takes Deadly Poison by Mistake

Mistaking bichloride of mercury tablets for aspirin, Irene Pendleton, 18, a chambermaid, is near death today. She swallowed three four-grain tablets of the poison.

That the girl's fate will not be known for several days was the statement of Dr. F. J. Clancy, attending physician. Bichloride of mercury is one of the slowest and deadliest of poisons. The girl is not in pain.

Irene Pendleton, who is a maid in a lodging house at 1314 1/2 Seventh ave., returned home from a shopping trip Tuesday afternoon, complaining of a headache. In the belief she was taking aspirin, she poured three innocent-looking tablets from a vial.

Dr. Clancy was called and administered first aid. The girl's mouth was slightly burned. She refused to be taken to the city hospital, in spite of the advice of her physician.

MOROSCO HELD IN BOOZE CASE

Theatrical Man Is Arrested in Brooklyn

NEW YORK, April 20.—Oliver Morosco, theatrical man, was arraigned today in a Brooklyn court on a charge of violating the Volstead act by possession of 92 bottles of liquor bottled after the act became effective. He was held under $1,000 bail for the May term of court.

Revenue agents charged that Morosco packed the bottled liquor for transportation to Los Angeles, after securing a permit to take 42 barrels of liquor there. The shipment of barrels was held up also.

Charles R. O'Connor, prohibition director for New York, granted Morosco the permits to remove his stocks of wines and liquor from Great Neck, N. Y., to Los Angeles.

Meyer Kaplan, revenue agent, made the complaint against the producer, after inspecting the barreled goods. He said the 92 bottles in excess of the barrels bore labels indicating that they were purchased after the Volstead law became effective.

Leon C. Winstock, state superintendent of prisons and Morosco's personal friend, put up the bond.

Morosco waived examination when taken before United States Commissioner McGoldrick.
