

DEMANDS OF JAPAN ARE DENOUNCED

Representative of New Chinese Republic Scores Program of Nippon

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The ransom demanded of China by Japan for the return of Shantung is submission to the 21 demands presented in 1915, according to Ma So, envoy of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, president of the new republic of South China, in an interview with the United Press today.

Ma So declared that Japan had notified both the Peking and southern governments of China that she is ready to "negotiate" the return of the disputed province, intimating that the subject of the 21 demands would be brought up during the negotiations.

"No government in China would entertain such an offer for one minute," declared Ma So. "This is why we refuse to treat with Japan on the return of Shantung. If China was deprived of a part of her body at the peace conference, when she was surrounded by friends, how could we expect to cope with the Japanese in direct negotiations?"

TOKYO, May 18.—The conference of Japanese Asiatic government representatives and the cabinet favors the return to China of such rights in Shantung now held by Japan as can be returned without reference to other nations, according to the newspaper Asahi.

Withdrawal of troops from the Shantung railways and abandonment of rights held in mines and salt fields were said to be included in the plan.

Japan also would agree, the paper said, to make Tsing Tao an open port.

HUSBAND SHOT BY DRY SQUAD

Portland Jury Deciding Wife's Suit

PORTLAND, May 18.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Lena A. Hedderly, suing three federal officers, who are alleged to have shot and killed her husband, was still out this morning, after having retired at noon yesterday.

Mrs. Hedderly demanded $7,500 damages from W. R. Wood, De-lanor C. Smith and James J. Biggins, members of a police detail which shot Hedderly to death when he attempted to "run the line" in a high-powered automobile.

Hedderly was a suspected boot-legger. He is alleged to have had a bad police record. His widow attempted to prove that Hedderly was "a thorn in the side" of certain officials and that a clique was organized to get him out of the way. He was killed on slight pretext, she asserted.

The three accused officers, while each denying that he fired any of the fatal shots, offered a defense a statement that Hedderly had attempted to run the police party down when they stood their ground in the center of the street and ordered him to halt.

Clerk Saves Sailor From Wearing Barrel

Fireman E. A. Hahn arrived back on board the U. S. S. Idaho at Bremerton today with a new suit of clothes. Hahn also started looking for another sailor with a new suit—labeled E. H. Hahn.

Hahn took the other sailor to his room at the Diller hotel, First ave. and University st., Tuesday night. Wednesday morning the other sailor had departed and Hahn's complete uniform was missing. Without even a barrel, Hahn was forced to borrow a civilian suit from Sam Langler, night clerk, and was enabled to return to his ship.

Vandal Ruins Glass of Pine St. Store

A plate glass vandal, apparently with a spite against Pine st. merchants, is operating on that street, permanently damaging the show windows by scratching them with some sharp instrument. Sherman, Clay & Co. reported to The Star today. Police have been asked to investigate.

For two or three months some sneak almost every night, threw some chalky substance in the doorways along the same street.

Plans for Merger Take Step Forward

With a view to the early merger of the Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants' Association, the chamber Tuesday authorized the appointment of two members to act as its representatives on a consolidation committee.

Chinese to Select Queen of Carnival

A distinctive feature of the Chinese' Go-Hing will be the selection by the Chinese people of their own carnival queen. The sale of these tickets will be conducted by the Chinese merchants according to their own methods. Also they have informed the China Famine Fund committee in charge of the carnival, that they have their own ideas of beauty, and the contest is to be in conformity therewith.

Chinese girls, who will participate in the carnival, have so far been volunteers from the high schools and university. But there are others whose names have not been made public, and it may be possible that the Orientals will produce an entire stranger to Seattle Americans as a contestant for Carnival Queen honors.

Bureau of Missing Relatives

The Star invites its readers to see this department as an aid in finding missing relatives or friends. The department is to help in reuniting those who have been separated. Those whose relatives or friends are missing are invited to send the disappearance directly to The Star. Readers who may know the whereabouts of persons mentioned in this column as missing are requested also to report to The Star. Other newspapers are invited to reproduce such news as will interest their communities.

The transmission bureau of the joint distribution committee of the American funds for Jewish war sufferers is endeavoring to locate Sam Belinsky, whose last known address was 706 Seventh ave., Seattle. The missing man's relative, Aisik Belinsky, is in dire need in Riga. Information should be phoned to Beacon 2744, or address Mrs. J. J. Friedman, 430 25th ave. S.

Addressed to Mrs. C. M. (or W.) Churchill, 4022 Seventh ave., a letter from Tulare, Calif., has been delivered to Mrs. C. M. Churchill, of 210 86th ave. S. The letter is from a daughter who signs herself "Birdie" to her mother, but the Mrs. Churchill who received it is not the one for whom the letter is intended. As the message states that the mother is ill and contains an offer of aid from the daughter, Mrs. Churchill is anxious that the addressee be found. She will deliver the letter personally if she can locate the right address. Phone Beacon 804.

Mrs. Isackson Lee, Ballard 2048, would like very much to get in communication with Mary Thomas, who formerly resided on Union ave., North Portland, Ore. That was three years ago, and Mrs. Thomas has since changed her name. Any one who can give Mrs. Lee any information can reach her any time, day or evening, at the above phone number.

In 1905 or 1906, Jesse Williams of Tule, Mo., came to Snohomish, Wash. He later moved to Everett. His old friend, John Daily, who was his neighbor in Missouri, has recently come to Washington and is living at 406 West Holly st., Bel-lingham. Any one knowing the whereabouts of Williams please communicate with Daily at the above address.

"Fighting Lady" Recounts Marital Woes to His Honor

Martha J. Benton, heavily built and cool, hobbled to the witness stand on a crutch. She wanted a divorce from J. Henry Benton, to whom she was married in April, 1912, at The Dalles, Ore.

"I don't know what wuz de maffah wid dat man," she said. "After takin' me fer a wife he started right in to beat me up."

"Did he kick you?"
"Yassir, right after I had dat clerical operation."

"Did you have an operation behind the ear?"
"Yassir, he raised a tumor there wid a stick of wood."

J. Henry took the stand, armed with affidavits to show that his wife was a "fighting lady." He convinced the court he had sent her $50 for train fare and she had failed to come to him.

The divorce was granted to him on

Beg Pardon!

The Star never intentionally prints an untrue statement or makes an unjust charge. But our reporters are human, and they don't see everything they write about. Whenever an error creeps into The Star, we will be very glad to correct it, and we will thank the friends who call it to our attention.

The Star on May 16 published a news story regarding the discharge of ex-service men by the Northern Pacific railroad, and their replacement by Japanese at lower wages. The article permitted the inference that the discharged men were trainmen. They were not; they were track laborers. The railway company's statement that Japs have not been employed as "trainmen or yardmen" is perfectly correct; the railroad has not denied that Japs have replaced white men as trackmen, in large numbers.

Druggist Cleared of Booze Charges

Arthur Y. Boyce, Rainier valley druggist, was acquitted of booze charges by a federal jury Tuesday. Boyce was arrested, when, according to a prohibition inspector who was checking alcohol permits, he dashed a bottle of moonshine on the floor. The agent grabbed a sponge and mopped up enough of the evidence to bring the trial.

Woman in Wreck Dies From Injuries

Mrs. Louisa M. Hoopman, wife of Dr. Albus A. Hoopman, 609 W. Howell st., died in Seattle General hospital Wednesday from injuries received when the Hoopman automobile was struck by a Meridian ave. car at Third ave. and Wall st., Sunday night. The auto was carried three-quarters of a block on the front end of the street car. Dr. Hoopman and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Wilson in the auto were also injured. Mrs. Wilson is at the Seattle General hospital. Coroner W. H. Corson is investigating the accident and an inquest will likely be held.

200,000 Passengers a Day on Carlines

More than 200,000 passengers were carried daily on the municipal railway lines in April, according to the monthly report of the street car department.
